SMALL BUSINESS SATURDAY

The National Federation of Independent Business today urged holiday shoppers to support neighborhood merchants this year by participating in "Small Business Saturday."

"Small business is the backbone of the economy and the largest provider of new jobs in Indiana," said Barbara Quandt, NFIB state Director. "People who want to do something positive for their communities and the economy this year should consider shopping for the holidays at local small businesses."

The weekend after Thanksgiving is regarded as the unofficial start of the holiday shopping season, a make-or-break time especially for small retailers. Small Business Saturday is a national promotion aimed at boosting local businesses.

"Retailers will make most of their revenue for the year during the period between Thanksgiving and Christmas," said Quandt. "Small Business Saturday is a great way to kick off the holiday season and help the local merchants that create jobs and opportunities in our communities."

Quandt noted that many small businesses will be offering specials for shoppers who participate in the promotion.

"It's a great time to rediscover the Main Street charm that makes our communities special, and it's a great time to find truly special holiday gifts and a wonderful value," said Quandt.

THANK YOU STUDENTS & STAFF OF SALAMONIE SCHOOL

As we planned for Thanksgiving Dinners at the Warren Food Pantry in October, we were concerned if we could fill all the holiday dinner requests and also maintain an adequate supply of food on the Pantry shelves.

On Tuesday, November 16 the student leaders of Salamonie School filled a truck with bags and boxes full of non-perishable food items.

Thank you to all the families and friends of the students and staff at Salamonie School for your generous donation to the Bread of Life Food Pantry. The shelves are full of a wide variety of canned goods.

Happy Thanksgiving

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

At our house we are slowly getting winterized and ready for the cold months ahead. In the greenhouse I have some really nice impatient blooming and ready for cutting back and rooting the cuttings. Also have coleus rooted and ready to put into soil. Geraniums are blooming and the Christmas cactus or maybe it is Thanksgiving cactus this year is in full bloom. What was supposed to be red is a beautiful white with touch of pink and the stamen is deep pink. Last Christmas Kendra gave me a very pretty red one and it is blooming true to color and has really grown from the time I received it. So in the sunroom it seems almost like spring and I need to do a bit of gardening. Also this week I used the last of the tomatoes we saved from the garden.

Absent: Mark Davis, Jerry Boyer

Guests: Jimmy Asher, Myrna Neff, Luellyn Pond, Mandy Reber.

Shelly opened the meeting asking the guests to state their reasons for coming.

Jimmy Asher reported on the work being done to the ball diamond. They have the wall up and have ditched the diamond. They would like to go ahead and put up new lights as a lot of the ones now do not work and they cannot be replaced. With Luellyns help we are going to apply for a grant from REMC and see if we can get the old lights updated. They have taken samples of the dirt to find out what mixture of fill dirt is needed for the field. A hand rail will be added to the wall to help prevent anyone from falling. A motion to apply for the grant and get the new fill dirt was made by Bob and seconded by Ron B. Motion carried. We would like to thank all of these men for taking their time and for the donation of the materials for the project. The board deeply appreciates all they have done. This is a community center and it is nice to see the community coming together in caring for the grounds. This is a notice to the community, If you see anyone letting their dogs run on the diamond please call one of the above board members. This is NOT a dog run area.

Mandy Reber from the Boys and Girls Club came stating that in January they would like to come 5 days a week. They are averaging about 40 to 45 kids per day. There is also a possibility that they would like to come year around. They now use the gym and another room for their home room. They have received a grant which is helping with this project in Warren. Shelly thanked Mandy for coming and we will discuss this and get back with her. This was opened for discussion. These are things that need to be in a new contract. Clean their room, bathrooms, and gym. Right now there is some conflicts with the Food Pantry and the basketball games that will be starting soon. Everything is going on in that end of the building at the same times. Shelly asked for volunteers to serve on this, the committee is Janice, Ned and Shelly.

Minutes were read and approved. A motion to approve the minutes was made by Bob and seconded by Ron B.

Financial report was reviewed. A motion was made by Bonnie and seconded by Ned to pay these bills. A motion by Sharon and seconded by Bonnie that Rosemary separate the Food Pantry and the centers financial reports.

PESTICIDE PROGRAM

Residents of Huntington County and surrounding areas who are licensed private pesticide applicators in Indiana are encouraged to attend a recertification training session on Thursday December 16. This session will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in Heritage Hall at Hier's Park in Huntington. Program registration will begin at 6:00 p.m.

A $10 fee is required for those who wish to obtain recertification credit for attending the program. Attendees who wish to obtain credit are reminded to bring their Indiana Private Pesticide Applicator license number with them. Please pre-register for the program by calling the Huntington County Extension Office by December 13.

Fred Whitford, coordinator of Purdue Pesticide Programs, will be presenting on the topic of "rules of the road" concerning Indiana Department of Transportation (DOT) and other state laws. Whitford has co-authored Purdue Extension publications relating to safely transporting farm equipment and products (including pesticides).

Whitford will be discussing farm tractors, implements of agriculture (ie. wagons and sprayers), and trailers/semi-trailers. One example of a question that might be asked by a farmer is if he needs brakes on his farm trailer. The quick answer to this question is, "It depends." There are some exceptions to the general statement that Indiana state law requires equipment on the highway to have brakes. If the trailer is considered to be an implement of agriculture, then the answer might be "No."

One publication co-authored by Whitford is called "Transporting Farm Equipment: What Growers Need to Know" (PPP-83). It is a guide to the laws governing agricultural implements and general utility trailers on the road. The book is available online at https://mdc.itap.purdue.edu/item.asp?item\_number=PPP-83 or by contacting the Huntington County Extension office.

"Growers in the state of Indiana operate under a different set of rules than the commercial industries and the public," Whitford said. "It's important for Indiana growers to know those differences, including what constitutes an implement of agriculture and

GROW COMMUNITIES

Indiana farmers in 83 counties including Wells and surrounding counties have an opportunity to provide a boost to their rural community with a $2,500 award available to their favorite nonprofit civic group or unit of government.

The program provides a great opportunity for farmers to nominate their favorite local non-profit. In 2009, the first year of the program, the funds provided nearly 500 farmers in 10 states with $2,500 awards to the non-profit organization of their choice. The program in 2010 has now expanded to more than 1,200 counties across 38 states.

Some of the more popular non-profits receiving the awards from the farmers include: FFA, 4-H, and fire departments. Those groups selected have included: Boys & Girls Club, SWCD, Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts, and Park Boards.

Farmers can apply online at www.growcommunities.com or call 1-877-267-3332. Farmers 21 and over, who are actively

STAY SAFE

The holidays are a time of cheer, but they can also be a time for battling traffic and bad weather all the way to Grandma's house. Staying safe should be a top priority for all travelers so the Better Business Bureau recommends taking a few precautions when hitting the road this holiday.

Every year, holiday travelers take to the skies and hit the rails, but most spill onto the highways. Last year, AAA estimated that 87.7 million Americans traveled more than 50 miles over the holidays—85 percent of which drove.

"Because of weather conditions and increased traffic, staying safe on the roads over the holidays takes a few additional precautions," said Alison Southwick, BBB spokesperson. "Before loading up the family, make sure the car is in good shape and you're prepared for bad weather. While you're driving, put down your cell phone or GPS and focus on the road ahead."

The BBB recommends taking the following steps for safe driving this holiday season:

Create a car safety kit—Holiday driving often includes the threat of dangerous winter weather. Snow and ice lead to accidents, car troubles, long delays and road closures. You can prepare for bad weather by creating your own safety kit. Basics for the kit include a blanket, flashlight with extra batteries, radio, first aid kit, jumper cables, non-perishable foods like granola bars and nuts, bottled water, an ice scraper and warm gloves.

Take the car in for a checkup—Breaking down on the side of the road can definitely put a damper on the holiday spirit. If your car is due for a checkup, take it in before making that long haul. At the very least, check the car's fluid levels, wipers and tire pressure. Check the condition of your tires and, if you plan on driving through serious winter weather, consider getting snow tires.

Take the Better Business Bureau with you—When you're away from home or in the midst of an emergency, it's hard to know which businesses—such as tow trucks and locksmiths—you can trust. The good news is you can now rely on BBB's mobile optimized website for finding businesses you can trust when you're away from your computer.

Start early and slow down—The best way to fight holiday traffic is to give yourself some extra time to make the trip, and don't speed. Speeding leads to accidents which increase traffic even more. Also, if you're caught speeding by law enforcement, that adds travel time and puts a dent in your holiday spending.

Drop the distractions—According to the National Safety Council, 28 percent of accidents happen when people are talking on their cell phone or sending text messages. When you're behind the wheel, don't text and drive, use a hands free headset when talking on the phone and get someone else to fumble with the GPS.

CYBER MONDAY TIPS

Cyber Monday—the Monday after Thanksgiving—has officially replaced Black Friday—the day after Thanksgiving—as the most popular day to shop for the holidays. Shopping online means avoiding the crowds, but it also opens the buyer up to attacks from scammers and hackers. In order to fight these online grinsches, the Better Business Bureau recommends 10 tips for staying safe when holiday shopping online.

Every year, more people head online—rather than to the mall—to get their holiday shopping done. Last year, 96.5 million Americans shopped online during Cyber Monday while 79 million Americans shopped at brick-and-mortar retailers on Black Friday, according to the National Retail Federation.

"The convenience and ease of shopping online has replaced the hassle of going to the store for many people—but online shopping has its own set of risks," said Alison Southwick, BBB spokesperson. "Taking steps to avoid the fraud online will result in a much happier holiday for everyone—except, of course, for scammers and hackers."

Following are the "Top 10 Online Shopping Tips" for holiday shoppers to help fight unscrupulous online retailers, scammers and hackers:

1. Protect your computer—A computer should always have the most recent updates installed for spam filters, anti-virus and anti-spyware software and a secure firewall.

2. Shop on trustworthy websites—Shoppers should start with BBB to check on the seller's reputation and record for customer satisfaction. Always look for the BBB seal and other widely-recognized "trustmarks" on retailer websites and click on the seals to confirm that they are valid.

3. Protect your personal information—BBB recommends taking the time to read the site's privacy policy and understand what personal information is being requested and how it will be used. If there isn't one posted, it should be taken as a red flag that personal information may be sold to others without permission.

4. Beware of deals that sound too good to be true—Offers on websites and in unsolicited e-mails can often sound too good to be true, especially extremely low prices on hard-to-get items. Consumers should always go with their instincts and not be afraid to pass up a "deal" that might cost them dearly in the end.

5. Beware of phishing—Legitimate businesses do not send e-mails claiming problems with an order or an account to lure the "buyer" into revealing financial information. If a consumer receives such an e-mail, BBB recommends picking up the phone and calling the contact number on the website where the purchase was made to confirm that there really is a problem with the transaction.

6. Confirm your online purchase is secure—Shoppers should always look in the address box for the "s" in https:// and in the lower-right corner for the "lock" symbol before paying. If there are any doubts about a site, BBB recommends right-clicking anywhere on the page and select "Properties." This will let you see the real URL (website address) and the dialog box will reveal if the site is not encrypted.

7. Pay with a credit card—It's best to use a credit card, because under federal law, the shopper can dispute the charges if he or she doesn't receive the item. Shoppers also have dispute rights if there are unauthorized charges on their credit card, and many card issuers have "zero liability" policies under which the card holder pays nothing if someone steals the credit card number and uses it. If you are going to shop on classifieds web sites like Craigslist, never wire money and only buy locally.

8. Keep documentation of your order—After completing the online order process, there may be a final confirmation page or the shopper might receive confirmation by e-mail—BBB recommends saving a copy of

9. Check your credit card statements often—Don't wait for paper statements; BBB recommends consumers check their credit card statements for suspicious activity by either calling credit card companies or by checking statements online regularly.

10. Know your rights—Federal law requires that orders made by mail, phone or online be shipped by the date promised or, if no delivery time was stated, within 30 days. If the goods aren't shipped on time, the shopper can cancel and demand a refund. There is no general three-day cancellation right, but consumers do have the right to reject merchandise if it's defective or was misrepresented. Otherwise, it's the company's policies that determine if the shopper can cancel the purchase and receive a refund or credit.

PREPAID COLLEGE TUITION

— THE 'IT' GIFT THIS

HOLIDAY SEASON

(NewsUSA) - This holiday season, contributing to a child's college education can be the gift that lasts a lifetime. Parents and grandparents alike want to give their children and grandchildren the tools to succeed in life, and a college education can do just that.

However, post-secondary education is becoming increasingly less affordable.

According to the College Board, today's newborn is expected to pay $180,000 to attend a four-year, public university. Coupled with the difficult economy, college is slipping beyond reach of many families. However, by giving a College Illinois! Prepaid Tuition Program contract to a child or grandchild, you lock in a price for their future education today, staying a step ahead of tuition inflation.

"The price of college for one child is steep, and we have five to worry about," said Cindy Wisniewski of Naperville, Ill., a College Illinois! Prepaid Tuition Program contract holder.

"College Illinois! lets us save for college for our kids over time in a way that makes sense financially for us."

Wisniewski said the flexible benefits and array of payment options attracted her to the program.

"Each of our children can choose to attend just about any school they want," she said. "We love being able to give them this unique opportunity to build their future."

A college education is a gift that will never go out of style, and the holiday season lets purchasers take advantage of tax benefits before year-end.

To give a prepaid tuition contract to a child, Andrew Davis, executive director of the Illinois Student Assistance Commission, the agency that administers the College Illinois! Prepaid Tuition Program, suggests combining it with another gift such as a piggy bank to help a child gain a better understanding of money.

"A children's book such as 'The Penny Pot' would be an appropriate gift for young readers," said Davis, a contract holder himself. "For older children, 'Money Sense for Kids' might be a good choice."

MORE UPTOWN

As Thanksgiving approaches many of us are busy preparing for the big holiday meal. Thank goodness for me I have a couple very good cooks I can rely on. My brother and sister in law will be here from Texas which makes the holiday special for all our family.

I am sure our meal will be a bit different from what it was growing up. Mom always made sure to have a very nice plump hen picked out for dinner, also we dressed out several other nice plump hens for those who ordered one for their feast. It wasn't really much fun standing out in the cold pulling feathers off chickens, but we always got it done.

Our meal was roast chicken with dressing and if we were lucky for extra money there was oysters in the dressing, noodles of course, mashed potatoes was a staple with gravy, green beans and corn which all came from our supply in the cellar. There was always warm homemade bread rolls. Dessert was usually raspberry pie, which the berries were canned up from our berry picking in the summer, and pumpkin pie and her special white cake and a dessert she called heavenly hash that had rice, pineapple, marshmallows and lots of whipped cream. It was always prepared with care and delicious. Our family always felt blessed to own a small parcel of land which provided us with food a plenty. Mom always shared our dinner with a couple of neighbors who were alone. It was the chore of us kids to take the baskets of food to them and wish them a nice holiday.

Dad and our uncles who were always there for the holiday would go hunting with our Queenie dog in the morning and most often brought in a few rabbits. She loved scaring up rabbits for them which graced our table later. She also knew she would be well rewarded for her part in the hunt.

Dad really looked forward to that day of hunting with family members.

Our Thanksgiving will not have the luxuries of food from the cellar but it will be a big frozen turkey and ham from the supermarket, the green beans will be from the garden, and who knows about the mashed potatoes and gravy, and the hot rolls will be from the bakery, but our dinner will be prepared with loving care just as much as all our mothers did years ago.

A Happy and Blessed Thanksgiving to each of you.

Here is a nice muffin recipe that you might want to try sometime it is very moist.

1 cup sugar, 1 cup mashed pumpkin or canned pumpkin, 1/3 cup oil, 1/2 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1 2/3 cup flour, 1 tsp soda, 2 tsp pumpkin spice, 1/2 cup chopped nuts and 3/4 cup dried cranberries.

Beat eggs add sugar, pumpkin, oil and milk. Add in the dry ingredients and beat on medium speed for about 1 minute. Add the nuts and cranberries and blend in. Pour into muffin cups and bake about 1/2 hour. Makes about 18.
