USED EYEGLASSES

If you decided not to brave the weather last Friday for the Scarecrow Festival you can still donate your used eyeglasses. The bucket is at Town Hall and will be available until November 14. For those of you at the Home you may drop your glasses off in Fellowship Hall – there is a mailbox on the table labeled Warren Weekly. At that time the eyeglasses collected will be turned in and be on their way to help someone in need.

Thank you for sharing and caring.

HOG ROAST

A Hog Roast Fundraiser (Sponsored by The Boxell's & Bradford's) will be held Saturday, November 4th, 2006 from 5:00 - 8:00 p.m. at the Warren Hillcrest Church of the Nazarene, 406 E. 1 St. Street, Warren. Tickets are Adults - $6.50, Children - $3.50 and Kids 5 & Under – Free.

All Proceeds Going To Buy A New Sign.

TASTE OF THE HOLIDAYS

The Warren United Church of Christ will be hosting a bazaar and luncheon on Saturday, November 4 from 9am to 1pm at the corner of 2nd and Main Streets in Warren.

Come shop for "down home" baked goods, deli items, home-made noodles and crafts and enjoy a home cooked lunch served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

FALL FESTIVAL

Fall Festival is back! November 4th from 9 to 3 at Van Buren United Methodist Church.

Come shop at our Sweet Shop, General Store, and Popcorn Bowl. Have lunch at the Snack Shop. There will also be Scrapbook, Deb's Ceramics, Be Designed Hats and Tastefully Simple booths. Children's Activities too!

SUNDAY BUFFET

A buffet luncheon will be held this Sunday, November 5, at the Knight Bergman Civic Center. The menu will include baked steak, ham, chicken and noodles, plus an assortment of salads, vegetables and desserts. The buffet is being sponsored by the St Peter & Paul Youth Ministry Program.

HNHS PARENT/TEACHER CONFERENCES

Parent/teacher conferences will be held at Huntington North High School on Thursday, November 9, 2006 from 3:30 – 7:30 p.m. Students will receive their 9-week Progress Reports on Wednesday, November 1. This is an excellent opportunity to visit with your student's teachers, counselors, and administrators. Our endeavor is to maintain high expectations while providing your student with a quality education. We regard your input as a valuable part of this process. We are very pleased with the response for conferences. We feel this is a valuable tool in your student's education and strongly encourage you to make appointments to see the teachers again or for the first time.

Please call the Main Office at the high school from anytime after receipt of the progress report until 11:00 a.m. the day of the conferences to set up appointments with each of your student's teachers by calling 356-6104 ext. 0. You are also welcome to visit that evening without an appointment, on a first-come, first-serve basis and teacher availability. To assure seeing the teachers, we strongly encourage appointments.

We again look forward to the opportunity to meet with you.

CHILI COOK-OFF WINNERS

2006 had a record six entries in the annual Scarecrow Festival Chili cook-off. All six went all out in the competition for best chili and the best booth decor and presentation.

Sabrina Nuss and family entered the tasty "Mina's Chili" for the second year in a row. Also in the contest for the second time was the "Three Sisters Chili" entered by Donna Bolinger and Sisters. (Though rumor has it there were only 2 sisters to be found at Fridays event?)

The 4 year veterans of the "Lunch Bunch" returned to defend their 2005 championship with "Nacho Mamma's Chili".

First year entrants included the National City Bank crew with "Red Slipper Stew", Gerald Moreland with "Grandpa's Best Chili" and a gang from MarkleBank with "Million Dollar Chili".

This years entrants went above and beyond the call to win the prizes for booth decor including National City Bank with their Wizard of Oz theme of Red Slipper Stew that included the Yellow Brick Road, Dorothy, the Cowardly Lion and the Wicked Witch of the West. Word is that the Tin man, Scarecrow and the good Witch of the East were all busy entertaining the kids with games in the gymnasium. Grandpa Gerald Moreland had a colorful booth that included testimonials from his most faithful supporters, his grandkids! The Nuss family with their red-hot jalapeno theme and the Three (?) sisters with their Mexican theme also added to the festivities. Servers at the MarkleBank table looked like a million serving their million dollar chili surrounded by all the big bills and cash. And last but not least the lunch bunch was defending their win in 2005 booth decor with their colorful and well lit Mexican theme.

Many THANKS go out to all six

SIGN OF THE SEASON

Rosalee Glasgow (right), of Warren, holds still for her annual flu shot, administered by Parkview Home Health & Hospice nurse Terri Edmiston at the Huntington 7 Theatre Oct. 26. ### HCCF THANK YOU

The Huntington County chapter of the American Red Cross would like to thank the Huntington County Community Foundation for their generous grant of $1800.00. With the use of this grant, the American Red Cross was able to purchase an 800 MHz two-way radio, which allows Red Cross disaster volunteers to communicate with Emergency Management, Police and Fire departments. In the event of a major disaster in Huntington County the ability to communicate with other agencies is vital to coordination of relief efforts. It is also important that the Red Cross be able to communicate with fire dispatchers when called to assist immediate needs of victims of house fires. In the past, cell phones were relied upon as the main source of communication. The disadvantage to cell phones is that they do not always work in all parts of Huntington County. However with the recent addition of the two-way radio, Red Cross volunteers can now communicate directly with the dispatchers and on-scene incident commanders.

The American Red Cross has helped people mobilize to help their neighbors for 125 years. Last year, victims of a record 72,883 disasters, most of them fires, turned to the nearly 1 million volunteers and 35,000 employees of the Red Cross for help and hope. Through

AREA NEWS

Taxpayer and Treasurer's Copies for both installments. If you cannot find your pink tax bill, please come into our office and we will be glad to print out another for you.

If you are paying by check, please verify that the written line of your check is correct. We have had increasing problems with this and while we try to look at them when people pay in person in our office, the problem arises when they are mailed and we need to have a correction made.

We will be closed for payment of property taxes November 14, 2006 until we have all on time payments processed and the books balanced. A flat 10% penalty applies when payment has not been made by the deadline, or postmarked by the deadline. The penalty does not accrue daily. We will re-open around Thanksgiving and be glad to process your delinquent payments at that time.

PAY TAXES ONLINE

FreedomPay, a new software from Certified IT, a Bloomington-based information technology company, will launch in Huntington County on October 30th. FreedomPay will allow taxpayers to pay their property taxes, as well as any other county taxes online. Taxpayers will be able to view a detailed listing of their taxes, broken down into tax type, annual fees, balance due and any delinquent fees. FreedomPay offers more detailed information than any other system currently available.

Taxpayers can pay by American Express, MasterCard, Visa, Discover or debit. FreedomPay software is free to the county however, there is a 2.75% processing fee for the taxpayer to pay their taxes online. A portion of the processing fee may go into a technology fund established by the county used for upgrades for computers, software and other technology related products and services. Taxpayers can rest assured that their transactions are secure as FreedomPay uses Authorize.net, one of the top payment gateways used on the Internet. Allen County was the first county in Indiana to introduce FreedomPay to its residents over one year ago. Whitley and Elkhart Counties also implemented FreedomPay and have reported much success with the product. Six other counties will go live with FreedomPay in October including Kosciusko, Noble, Marshall and Adams.

Huntington County residents will access FreedomPay by going to www.huntingtontax.net or by calling 1.800.809.5849. Any operational questions regarding FreedomPay can be directed to the Huntington County treasurer Cindy Yeiter.

Huntington County believes the system to be a great service to the taxpayer. It will give them access their property tax information 24/7. They will not have to wait for normal business hours to visit or call the Treasurer's office to obtain their property tax information.

Certified IT is a leading regional provider of managed computer networks, offering high caliber software and network management services. Their certified consulting staff of Senior Network Engineers have a comprehensive knowledge of the field in order to accurately assess the computer needs of businesses and government in the Midwest. For more information, please contact Christy Mehrlich, director of marketing and sales, at 866-323-8173.

SONGFEST PLANNED

The First Baptist Church of Warren would like to extend a special invitation to anyone who is interested in sharing in an Old-Fashioned Song Fest. The first one is to be held Nov. 12th at 6:00 p.m. at the church.

All instruments are welcome. All songs are welcome. Bring your stringed instruments, wind instruments, poetry, readings, or just come and fellowship with us. We prefer gospel or patriotic music be used. There is a P. A. available. Bring your sound tracks or tapes or, if needed, there will be accompaniment provided.

Come one, come all and share in some good old-fashioned music gospel and fellowship. The church is located at 727 N. Main, Warren, In.. For directions call 260-375-2811 or 260-375-3353. If no answer, leave message and we'll return your call.

WORLD COMMUNITY DAY

Church Women United of Huntington County will meet on Friday, November 3 at 9:00 a.m. for World Community Day. The meeting will be held at Faith Community Church, Norwood Rd. at U.S. 24, Huntington, Indiana. The theme is "Signs of Healing" and the leaders are the Women of Faith Community Church.

HOURS OF OPERATION

The Interpretive Center at Salamonie offers a warm and friendly atmosphere and a host of activities. Upcoming events include Holiday Craft Day - November 4, Hunter Weekend - November 17-19, Christmas Open House - December 17, and Winter Day Camp - December 27-29.

The Salamonie Interpretive Center hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday - Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday from October through April. The building will be closed November 23 to allow staff to spend the holidays with their families. Come out before or after the 23rd to start your gift shopping.

The Interpretive Center will be open December 24 and 25 for those last minute gifts and a nice outing for those with families visiting from afar, Marvin McNew, Director of the Upper Wabash Interpretive Services, said "Each year I enjoy talking with families who've brought their friends and relatives out for a visit as part of their holiday celebration. Some come out after a big lunch and stroll on the short Turkey Cove Nature Trail and others enjoy the exhibits and birdwatching area in the warm interpretive center."

Featuring exhibits, floor to ceiling windows in the wildlife viewing area and staff to answer your questions, the center is located in Lost Bridge West Recreation Area on Highway 103 in western H.untington County.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Bluffton Regional Medical Center is sponsoring a memorial service at 7 p.m. on Monday, November 13, at the Wells County 4-H Park in the Community Center. This service is for area families who have lost a loved one during the past year.

"The memorial service provides a period of reflection and fellowship for the families in our community who have lost a loved one," said Connie Dawson, bereavement counselor at Bluffton Regional.

Reverend Cindy Osgood will offer an invocation and benediction. The featured speaker will be Mayor Ted Ellis, and music will be provided by Susie Wood, soloist, and Dr. John Wilson, pianist. During the service, family members will receive a remembrance in honor of their loved one. Light refreshments will be served following the service, and babysitting will be provided.

Bluffton Regional will also be providing grief counseling during the service.

Those interested in attending the event or who would like to have a deceased family member's name added to the memorial list should contact Connie Dawson at (260) 824-3210, ext. 5584 and leave a message.

SHOP FAIR TRADE

On Saturday, November 11th, the Victory Noll Ministry Center, 1900 W. Park Drive in Huntington, will offer a workshop for the public from 9:30am to 12:30pm entitled Shop Fair Trade: Making a World of Difference with guest speaker Joanna Shenk. Day-of registration and light continental breakfast begin at 9:00am. Come and learn about fair trade and how we each can make a difference in our world by supporting fair trade artisans—especially during the upcoming holidays. Become a more conscious consumer.

Joanna, who is employed part-time at One World Handcrafts in North Manchester, Indiana, will share her personal experience and knowledge about fair trade. She is a 2005 graduate of Huntington University, where she majored in Communication Studies. As a child she gained a broader world perspective while living in southern Russia for 2 years with her family. Most recently, she traveled to the Dominican Republic where she saw firsthand how free trade realities are affecting rural farmers. Handcrafted items from the store will be available for purchase.

One World Handcrafts, Inc., founded in 1992, is a non-profit fair trade retailer located in North Manchester. For 14 years it has provided an alternative to the free trade market through its sale of handmade items from around the world. These items come from over 30 different countries, including the United States, where they are made by artisans who are otherwise unemployed or under-employed. Fair Trade is a partnership based on dialogue, mutual understanding, and respect between these artisans and fair trade organizations. Traditional art forms are kept alive as artisans create exotic gifts and home décor using centuries-old techniques. Staffed almost entirely by volunteers, One World Handcrafts seeks to build bridges between its customers and artisans living around the world. As these artisans benefit through our purchases of their work, we also benefit in many ways, such as 1) access to high-quality crafts and agricultural products; 2) a venue for sharing one's values with friends and relatives through conscious gift giving; 3) an easy way to learn how people of other cultures live and work; 4) an opportunity to befriend and empower unseen individuals who would otherwise be overlooked.

For more information about the workshop or to register, please call Jan Parker at 260-356-0628 ext. 128 or email at ministryctr@olvvm.org

REAL LIFE "RAIN MAN"

Pathfinder Services, Inc. and the Huntington City-Township Public Library will welcome Kim Peek, the real life "Rain Man", and his father Fran, for an author visit and book signing from Noon until 1:00 PM on Saturday November 4th. The main branch of the library is located at 200 West Market Street in Huntington.

The book, The Real Rain Man, by Fran Peek will be for sale for $11.95, and Kim and Fran will be happy to sign any book purchased at the event. The book tells about the life of Kim Peek, written from his father's perspective. Drink refreshments will be available to all who attend, and there is no cost for this event. Anyone is welcome to attend. All books purchased at the book signing must be paid for in cash, no checks or credit cards will be accepted.

Kim Peek, who inspired Dustin Hoffman's character Raymond Babbitt in the 1988 Academy Award-winning film "Rain Man", travels around the country with his father Fran speaking at a variety of different functions on how he has overcome disabilities in his life. Kim is diagnosed as an autistic savant; however is not behaviorally autistic. He has a warm and loving personality. Kim's knowledge library includes: reading and recalling 7600 books, knowing nearly every road in the United States, being able to calculate what day of the week and year a person will turn 65 just by knowing their birthday, and has knowledge in 14 subject areas.

For more information on the book signing, please call the Huntington City Township Public Library at (260) 356-0824. Pathfinder Services Inc. is a not for profit human services organization with offices in Huntington, Wabash and Plymouth, and has been serving people with and without disabilities in Huntington since 1966.

FREE BONE-DENSITY SCANS

Parkview Huntington Hospital will hold a Bone Density Health Fair on Tuesday, Nov. 7, from 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., in the main-entrance area of the hospital.

The free bone-density scans, which will be provided by Fort Wayne Radiology, determine a person's bone-mineral density and help a physician decide if a person is at increased risk for osteoporosis-related fracture.

Bone-density scans are recommended for women after menopause, when declining estrogen levels no longer protect bone density, and for people with a history of osteoporosis or fractures in their family.

For more information, call (260) 355-3311.

TREASURE PLANET

Works created by Michael Spooner as part of the visual development for Walt Disney's "Treasure Planet" will be featured in Huntington University's Robert E. Wilson Gallery.

Spooner describes "Treasure Planet" as the most rewarding project he worked on for the Walt Disney Company.

"The scope of the project and its overall design needs were challenging to say the least, and I realize it demanded of me to reach beyond my best," he said.

The exhibit will run from Nov. 8 to Dec. 10, and an artist reception will be held from 6-7:30 p.m. on Nov. 8 in the gallery, located in Huntington's Merillat Centre for the Arts.

Spooner owns Spoonerville Animation Design, an independent visual development studio in Naperville, Ill., providing both traditional and CGI design concept for clients such as Ah Ha! Studios, Reel FX Creative Studios and Walt Disney Animation Studios.

Prior to running his own business, Spooner served as visual development artist and production designer for Walt Disney Television Animation, head of the production layout team for Disney's "A Goofy Movie," art director for Warner Brothers' "Quest for Camelot" and vice president of visual development and artist education for Big Idea Productions, home to "VeggieTales." In addition, he worked as an independent consultant on Disney's "Dinosaurs," "Treasure Planet," "Lilo & Stitch" and "The Emperor's New Groove" as well as Dreamworks' "Shrek."

"Yes, I'm a nurse, but I'm a mom first."

Brenda Benter, mom, RN

My daughter was recently hospitalized at Bluffton Regional. Courtney has stayed at several other hospitals, but the experience at Bluffton Regional surpassed any of the others. The staff always made us feel like we were the only family in the unit. Their positive attitude and compassion made such a difference.

While I am greatly pleased at the level of care given to my daughter, I am not surprised by it. You see, I am a nurse at Bluffton Regional. And every day I strive to make sure that I treat patients and their families the same way my family was treated. My philosophy as a caregiver is to provide quality, compassionate care to every patient I encounter. And as a mom, that's exactly how I want my family to be treated.

rcoffman@huntington.edu.

The visual development process as described by Michael Spooner:

Definition: So what is visual development, anyway? On any given feature-length animated film, it is during the visual development phase that preproduction exploration is made in order to conceptually and visually discover the world in which the story sets and the characters who occupy it. Though challenging, it is also incredibly fun and creative. And it is often the visual development team, though by far not the only creative players on a film, who are envied for their part to play.

Step One: The art created in visual development breaks ground at the beginning of a production. It explores all the possibilities in what is called "blue-skying," where the sky is the limit, and imagination runs wild. Here is where art and story often will influence one another. The directors and the story team work ideas back and forth with visual development, influencing one another while shaping the story.

Step Two: However, this important exploration does not last forever, and as the story is tightened up, soon the directors and art directors begin the need to focus on workable design solutions that better fit the story. Wonderful creative idea sketches are now filtered through, thrown out, combined or redeveloped in order to fit the director's vision.

Step Three: The final step in visual development is to bring all character, location and animation prop designs into a clearer production design solution. It is at this stage, led by the art directors, where lead animators and background artists participate with selected visual development artists in bringing the designs into a final production style.

MYSTERY GUEST

Twenty-Six children were surprised to see who our Mystery guest was at the Van Buren Public Library After School Story Time on Friday October 20th. Our Mystery guest was Van Buren Town Marshall Pat Collins. He brought along Deputy Kevin Wetherington and Jerry Gephart.

Town Marshall Collins shared with the children some information on what his job is and how he along with his officers protects the town and its residents. The children were able to ask question and everyone knew that 911 was the number to call to get help if needed.

Officers Wetherington and Gephart had the children line up. They were going to do fingerprinting. Fingerprinting is one way people can be identified for various reasons. We were told no two fingerprints are alike. The children took their turn at the ink pad and each received a coloring book on "Your Friend the Police Officer".

Refreshments were served.

The library staff wants to thank Town Marshall Pat Collins and the other officers for coming to the library and sharing with the children.

Those attending were Aurora Follis, Tyler Follis, Jacob Clupper, Autumn Smith, Ashley Kerr, Amy Kerr, Kaylee Morgan, Emilee Henning, Autumn Harmon, Chelsea Cason, Colleen Mealer, Hannah Hutchinson, Zach Handshoe, Ali Gray, Jarren Griffith, Zariah Percy, Zehra Percy, Jill Nevil, Rose Nevil, Nixon Smith, Jade Stuber, Olivia Wetherington, Aidan Stuber, Kayla Handshoe, Cathryne Anderson and Amanda Keifer.

Next After School Story time will be November 3rd. We are going to have some Spider Fun with Jody Heaston. Hope to see you 2:30-3:30.

FORESTER LITERACY PROGRAM

Huntington University's baseball team will begin the second year of its literacy program in area elementary and middle schools today.

In 2005, former player Lance Chrisman, now a vice president for Verizon, contacted head coach Mike Frame about the team participating in the Verizon Reads program. Since its inception in 1999, the program has raised millions of dollars toward literacy programs across the nation.

Frame believes that Verizon Reads not only helps the children but also impacts his 29 players.

"They see the reaction they get when they arrive at the schools, and they know they are helping to make a difference," Frame said.

The program gives the players an opportunity to reach out to the community and show that they are more than just students who stay in their college "bubble."

"It allows the community to view the baseball team not just as players who want to play ball," said junior Jeremy Rodibaugh, a pitcher and infielder for the Foresters, "but rather as real people who value assisting others."

Each of the players involved in 2005-2006 donated an hour a week to helping students in grades first through eighth improve their reading skills.

"This year I'm going to a different elementary school, so I would like to establish some of the relationships I had last year with new kids," said junior pitcher Michael Dalton. "I also would like to establish with them how important reading is."

In 2006-2007, the team hopes to continue to reach out to the students and be positive role models. For many of the students, just having someone older spend time with them brightened their day.

"Children will associate a certain status with athletes next to non-athletes, and naturally, they will look to the athletes as role models," said junior centerfielder Keith Benbow. "When that athlete comes into their classroom to help them read, it puts the college athlete and the young student on the same level. That will make a young person feel good and hopefully give them a little more incentive to learn."

The main goal for the program is to motivate the children to improve their reading skills. Frame insists that while the players are helping the students to improve, he gives the teachers the bulk of the credit.

"The teachers in the schools are the real heroes," Frame said. "They are the ones that are teaching the skills on a daily basis. We want to help by motivating and helping in whatever way we can."

LOANS FOR SMALL BUSINESS

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) will conduct a business loan clinic on Tuesday, November 14, 2006 from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the Huntington County Chamber of Commerce, 305 Warren Street, Huntington.

The business loan clinic will provide guidance to prepare small business owners for meeting with a lender. Attendees will learn how SBA is involved in the loan process, what documents to take to the lender, and how to make a good first impression with the lender. An SBA Business Development Specialist will also review SBA programs and services that can help an entrepreneur start or grow a business. Attendees will learn how to:

- Improve business cash flow;
- Increase potential for success with lower monthly loan payments;
- Refinance existing debt; and
- Eliminate balloon payments.

Reservations are required as seating is limited. There is no cost for attending this SBA loan clinic on Tuesday, November 14, 2006 from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the Huntington County Chamber of Commerce.

For more information or to reserve your space, contact Vernice Mathis at 317-226-6412.

MY TOWN and Yours BY DENNIS STROUD

The first moving pictures, in Warren, were shown in the Roeme building on First Street, where Eckman's garage was, during the first few months of 1907. Large crowds were pleased with the shows. Admission was five cents. George Gilbert was the first owner and it was called the Star Theater. In August 1907, Mr. Gilbert sold the theater to a Mr. Bock and a Mr. Oliver.

In November 1907, Milton Bock bought out the interest of his partner and decided to move the theater to the Huffman building on Wayne Street. The floor was elevated and new opera chairs were purchased in Indianapolis. The new Star Theater opened, again, in December 1907.

In September 1909, Mr. Bock sold the Star Theater to Charles Foust. Mr. Foust dropped the floor at one end and by doing this it doubled the seating capacity. He added new seats and installed a new screen made of aluminum that made the picture more plain and bright. The name was changed to the Foust Summer Garden but later was changed back to the Star Theater. The projector had carbon arc lights and was cranked by hand. Sometimes the younger fellows would help out and occasionally, for fun, they would turn the crank to fast. Mr. Foust had a home made racing car they called "Old Buck". They would hang theater signs on the side of the vehicle and Charlie's wife would drive through town announcing upcoming attractions at the Star.

In June 1915, Mr. Foust sold the Star to Ora Garrison, who one year later sold to Burton Walters. Mr. Walters changed the name to the Mystic Theater. In September 1918 the theater was sold to Claude Darrow. One year later Mr. Darrow sold the theater to Ed Elliott who turned around right away and sold to Albert Border.

Mr. Border would use billboards out front and other props to advertise the movies. Sometimes he would have a covered wagon with large posters to advertise special shows for the weekends. Mr. Border was one owner who owned the theater the longest from 1919 to 1930. Not only did he show movies he ran educational films for the schools and businesses.

Some of the piano players were: Minnie Foust, Martha Bergman, Mary Wilhelm, Pauline Rauch and Buena Laymon. They had to work their own music for the shows. Films were brought into Warren on the interurban. One box of comedy and one box of feature film lasted two nights. When they had a special show a matinee was shown. Next article will about Warren's new theater.

HOLIDAY PERFECTIONISM SINKS THE SHIP

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley
Before we know it the holiday season will be upon us. In a few weeks it will be Halloween then Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. We love to decorate but most of the time we wear ourselves out doing it. Did you know that you don't have to decorate your home in one single day? It seems that none of us have that kind of time anyway, so why don't we enjoy the process and do a little every day.

One member put up a naked tree for Thanksgiving Day with just the lights on it and as each guest arrived they were given their choice of ornaments to place on its branches. Then each night after that she made a big deal out of putting on a few more decorations; they would light a candle and carefully pick out the ornament to put on the tree. Then they would turn on the lights and admire it as it blossomed before their eyes.

Now isn't that much more fun than trying to do it all at once and letting your perfectionism take over and ruin it for everyone! Our mother made Christmas torture for us because of her perfectionism. Every icicle had to be hung just so so and this crazy tree she wanted us to help construct had no room for us in the house. We felt like it was this big monster in the living room that was about to devour us. It is probably because when we were making the tree it was her perfectionism that was the hateful part. I know you are trying to figure out what kind of tree this was; it is really hard to explain, but I will try.

Imagine a plain tree without any leaves; not an evergreen tree either: Just branches and no leaves. Then she would cut one inch stripe of cotton quilt batting for us to wrap around each and every single branch; there could be no bark showing at all. This tree took over our living room. You had to turn side ways to go to the bedrooms. Then she would buy only one color of glass ball ornaments. We had to put them on the tree spaced perfectly. Then there were the icicles. This just sends me into spasms to think of this. Each one had to hang evenly over the branch and they had to be spaced one inch apart all over this tree. Do you hear the perfectionism? This was just the inside of the house and I'm not even going to talk about all the lights on the outside of the house.

So don't allow your perfectionism to ruin the holidays for everyone in the family including you! It is not fun to feel guilty for yelling at your babies. Let of your perfectionism and find yourself FLYing to a different tune this holiday season.

A lot of our bad mouths and fussy attitudes come from feeling pressured by too much to do and not thinking that there is enough time. This is why we have developed a fun way to get ready for the holidays. We pretend that we are going on a three week cruise that sets sail on December 1st. We have to be ready for the holidays by December 1st. This gives us the freedom to enjoy the whole month of December without the procrastination we have suffered with all these years. Can you imagine not being rushed to wrap presents as you are driving to a party?

You too can Cruise through the holidays with your Holiday Control Journal. A little planning and doing will make your holidays enjoyable again! All I want you to do is spend 15 minutes a day with your Holiday Control Journal. Download your free ticket to cruise through the holidays. <http://flylady.net/pages/HolidayCruising1.asp>

Are you ready to Cruise through the Holidays? We started our Holiday Cruising Missions October 16th, but it's never too late to just jump in.

No SPINACH? How ABOUT SOME GREENS?

by The Dinner Diva, Leanne Ely
While we all are mourning the loss of our beloved spinach and anticipate the day when it becomes available again, there are other greens out there that are just as healthy, just as delicious and deserve a turn in the spotlight.

Take greens for example. Kale, Swiss chard and collard greens, to name a few, are some of the healthiest foods you can eat. Throw some broccoli into the equation and you some serious cancer fighting power. All of these veggies contain liberal amounts of phytonutrients called lutein and zeaxanthin, known for their cancer fighting prowess.

Broccoli is easy to identify, fix and love. It's the greens that get you-they look like piles of weeds sitting in the produce department! Let's remedy that and get cooking with greens.

First up, there are many to choose from- chards, collards, a variety of kales, mustard greens, turnip greens and even dandelion greens. Here are five tips for choosing greens:

1. -Go Green. Make sure you pick greens that are definitely green and not yellow, with nice healthy leaves.

2. -Stem Search. Some greens, like kale, collards and chard have thicker stems that should be removed before cooking. Make sure however, when you're purchasing the thicker stemmed variety, that the stems are in good shape, not dried out, split and tough.

3. -Sweet Smell. If the greens you are considering smell rather "strong", you might want to avoid them. They've probably been hanging around the produce department too long and need to be pitched.

4. -Cold Storage. Greens are hearty and can take refrigeration for up to 5 days if they're left in their plastic bags and stored in the crisper.

5. -Quick Prep. Get rid of big stems by tearing the leaves off one side and then off the other using your hands- a lot easier and faster than using a knife.

Now that you know how to pick, store and prep them, let's cook with them! Here's a favorite soup recipe that gets its nutritional kick from kale-enjoy!

Crock Bean Soup with Kale
Serves 6
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 medium onions, chopped
1 medium carrot, chopped
3 cloves garlic, pressed
1 bunch kale, trimmed and sliced
1 pound cannellini beans, soaked overnight
4 cups low sodium chicken broth
1/4 cup tomato sauce
1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes

Salt and pepper, to taste
In a skillet, heat olive oil over medium-high heat. Add onions, carrot and garlic. Cook until onions are translucent. Add kale and cook till wilted, about 3 minutes.

In a crock pot, place soaked, drained beans; add crushed red pepper flakes and the contents of the skillet; cover with broth.

Cook on high for 8 hours, or until beans are tender. Once beans are tender, add the tomato sauce and salt and pepper to taste.

SERVING SUGGESTIONS:
Some whole grain rolls and a big salad.

more than 800 locally supported chapters, more than 15 million people each year gain the skills they need to prepare for and respond to emergencies in their homes, communities and world. Almost 4 million people give blood—the gift of life—through the Red Cross, making it the largest supplier of blood and blood products in the United States. The Red Cross helps thousands of U.S. service members separated from their families by military duty stay connected. As part of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, a global network of more than 180 national societies, the Red Cross helps restore hope and dignity to the world's most vulnerable people. An average of 91 cents of every dollar the Red Cross spends is invested in humanitarian services and programs. The Red Cross is not a government agency; it relies on donations of time, money, and blood to do its work.

THANK YOU

It was so nice to hear from so many friends on our anniversary! The cards were beautiful and we appreciated the calls. Some we hadn't heard from in a long time. It all helped to make our day. Thanks to everyone.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that adults age 65 and older, who are considered at risk for serious influenza or its complications, get an annual flu shot. It is also recommended that adults age 65 and older get the pneumonia vaccine because this group is at greater risk for the disease. Typically a one-time dose of the pneumonia vaccine is all that is needed. Parkview Home Health & Hospice, with support from Parkview Hospital's Community Health Improvement program, will host a series of adult pneumonia and flu vaccination clinics throughout northeast Indiana this fall.
