JOT IT DOWN

by V Neil Wyrick

I have a little notebook in which I jot down ways to improve my life. The ideas and suggestions come from many sources and about many things, and I write them down because I want to remember them and refer back to them. It has nothing to do with my being 84 because just like when I was 30, I sometimes do forget things. It has everything to do with living better and enjoying life more.

Therefore, I was intrigued to recently read that if I reduce something to a word having less syllables or put it down three times such as Bob, Bob, Bob it will help me to remember that the my new friend's name is Bob, Bob, Bob Claughton, Claughton, Claughton. Maybe it's an echo effect. So I decided to apply it and see if it works. Smile, smile, smile as a way of reminding me I'll like myself better if I increase my smile quotient. Or exercise, exercise, exercise. Or diet, diet, diet. Or listen, listen, listen. It works. Try it.

Some of my jottings are so simple I would wonder why I have to write them down. The answer is simple, I need to nudge myself in this busy world.

Be nice. One day, when I had simply done something nice for someone, I realized one more time that being nice gave me a warm and fuzzy feeling that lasted long after the deed. Being nice is a double edged gift; good for the recipient and good for the doer.

Be patient. My wife says I am a patient impatient man which, of course, means that I am prone to impatience so I just work harder at overcoming this tendency. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to know that impatience is a cloud and sends out more shadows than shining.

Don't expect perfection. When I was young I collected rocks, but never found a perfect one. Have you ever seen a perfect flower? Have seen anything perfectly perfect? When I look in the mirror each morning I do not see perfection. This does not mean I should not try to improve. It does mean I must not drive myself crazy trying to be perfect.

Don't do it to yourself or those around you? If you want to be happy you have to learn how to try to love and understand people, warts and all...including yourself. If there is a secret to having more shining moments, this is the place to begin and come back to again and again.

Be a volunteer. There are many good causes that would love your help. If getting out is difficult, offer to make phone calls. Serve on a committee if you are blessed with mobility.. In short, give some of your time to others and you will be rewarded a thousand. I love the way the philosopher Epicetus put it, "God has entrusted me with myself."

BAZAAR PLANNING

The Mt. Etna United Methodist Women are planning their 2013 Fall Food and Craft Bazaar to be held on Sat. Oct. 26th from 9AM to 2PM. Last year's event was such a success from jewelry to solar lights that they are currently reserving booth spaces for anyone who would like to show off and sell their handicrafts. Some of last year's vendors have already reserved their spaces.

Booth spaces are $25.00 for an 8x8 booth one table & 2 chairs. Some booth spaces do have electricity. Booth spaces, tables and electricity are all on a first come first serve basis upon receipt of your registration form and booth payment. All vendors (Pamper Chef, Tupperware, Discovery Toys, etc.) are welcome along with home made items.

Items not allowed to sell are pies, prepared soups & noodles. Previous vendors who have not yet returned their registration form should do so immediately as it is now open to anyone and your space may be taken.

If interested in a booth space please send your name, address, phone number, number of spaces you are requiring and the type of crafts you will be selling along with a check made payable Mt. Etna UM Women and mail to Andrea' White 7127W 100S Andrews, IN 46702 or call her at 260-786-1336 for additional information and registration forms. All NSF checks will be charged a $15.00 return fee.

The Mt. Etna UM Church is located at the corner of St. Rd. 124 and St. Rd. 9 in Mt. Etna, IN. This is an advertised event in the surround counties.

2ND HOLE-IN-ONE

HARVEST CRAFT SHOW

Miami Tool and Die is sponsoring the Harvest Craft Show and Bake Sale to benefit Huntington County Special Olympics and the YMCA's Champions League. The event will take place at Hier's Park in the Family Living Building.

Local vendors will be displaying and selling items ranging from knitted items, glass jewelry, baskets, and scarves to leather items, American Girl Doll clothes, bird houses and much more. Lunch will be available.

To complement the Harvest Craft Show, there will be a "Chair-ity Affair" chair decorating contest and auction. Over 15 businesses, organizations, clubs, and government agencies have entered "designer" chairs that each group has designed and decorated to represent the entrant's business, group or agency.

Chairs will be judged by attendees at the Harvest Craft Show. At 2:00 pm chairs will be awarded first, second and third place plaques. Following the award presentations, all chairs will be auctioned off at the outdoor stage in Hier's Park. All auction proceeds will benefit Huntington County Special Olympics and the YMCA's Champions League.

For additional information please contact Ardella Moriarity at ardellamoriarity@yahoo.com or 260-355-8047 or to Nancy Hartley at nan4hartley@comcast.net or 260-672-8316.

4-H LICENSE PLATES

Beginning August 30, 2013, residents of Indiana will once again be able to purchase Indiana 4-H Foundation specialty license plates. A ruling was made on July 30 reinstating the 4-H Foundation in the Specialty

License Plate program.

"We are so pleased that people can once again show their support for Indiana 4-H by purchasing 4-H Foundation plates," stated Indiana 4-H Foundation Board President Tom McKinney. "I encourage everyone who supports 4-H to purchase the Foundation plate. The plate fee supports programs for young people statewide, and a portion of the money from each plate that is sold goes right back to 4-H in the county where the plate was purchased."

The funding Indiana 4-H receives from specialty plates supports programs all across the state like Teens Teaching Youth AgriScience and Biotechnology and the 4-H National Youth Science Day Eco-Bot Challenge. Both of these programs give many Indiana students an experience with science skills that are in demand in today's job market.

4-H is the largest youth development organization in Indiana with more than 200,000 youth participants, 15,000 adult volunteers and 5,000 youth volunteers. The Indiana 4-H

Youth Development mission is to provide real-life educational opportunities that develop young people who positively impact their communities and the world.

About the Indiana 4-H Foundation

For more than fifty years, the Indiana 4-H Foundation has supported Indiana 4-H, the largest youth development program in the state, by building partnerships to secure financial support, advocacy and promotion of Indiana 4-H Youth Development now and for generations to come. The 4-H Youth Development Program is the single largest youth development program in Indiana and is managed by the Cooperative Extension Services program at Purdue University. The Indiana 4-H Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public charity. For more information about the Indiana 4-H Foundation and how you can become involved, visit www.in4h.org or contact the Executive Director, Liz Ellis, at liz-ellis@purdue.edu or at 317-701-6837.

RIDER RENDEVOUS

Saddle up your horses and head to the eighth annual Salamonie Riders Rendezvous, Sept. 20, 21 and 22.

All activities will be in Lost Bridge West State Recreation Area, Horseman's Campground, Loop A.

Friday evening kicks off at 7:30 p.m. with Dutch oven cobbler and cowboy coffee.

Saturday morning begins with a 10 a.m. leather working class. At 11 a.m. visitors can meet Marry Morrow and Eunice Rush, authors of "Know You, Know Your Horse." The afternoon will include a plants-and-trees scavenger hunt on horseback or free riding time. A cowboy dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. Bring table service and a drink. Advance registration is required for the meal. At 7 p.m., visitors can learn the many uses of common wild plants.

Cowboy Church will be Sunday, 8:30 to 9:15 a.m. Worshipers are encouraged to bring a camp chair for the non-denominational service. The Tack Flea Market, sponsored by the Friends of Upper Wabash Interpretive Services group, will be at 10 a.m. Table space is available for $5. Proceeds from table rental will go to the Friends group.

To register for the Saturday meal, call (260) 468-2127. Camping reservations may be made online at Camp.IN.gov or at 866-622-6746.

The standard entrance fee of $5 per in-state vehicle or $7 per out-of-state vehicle will be in effect.

50 YEARS TOGETHER

Verl and Lois (McBride) Slusher of 8343 S 1000 W-90 Montpelier IN, are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

They were married at the Convoy Methodist Church in Convoy Ohio by Reverend Covert on August 10, 1963.

They are both retired from teaching in Blackford County after 40 years of teaching each, the majority of those years spent in the Montpelier School district.

They have been blessed with 3 children: Travis (Debbie) Slusher of Adel, IA; Candis (Chris) Daughtery of Fort Myers, FL; and Cheris (Nick) Miller of Liberty Center, IN, 8 grandchildren, and 1 great-grandchild.

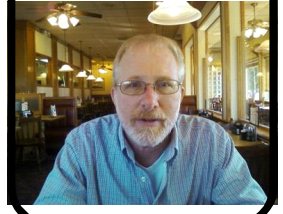

The family invites you to join the happy couple for a celebration Open House on this Saturday, August 10, 2013. The Open House will be held at McNatt United Methodist Church from 2-5pm. No gifts are necessary.

SLUSHER FAMILY REUNION

The descendants of Josiah and Naomi (Morgan) Slusher will celebrate their 54th annual family reunion on Sunday, August 25, 2013 at noon, with a carry-in meal. The location will once again be the Dillman Church in Jackson Township, Wells County.

The children of Josiah and Naomi were: Emma Slusher Williams, William Slusher, Charles Slusher, Mary Slusher Cruse, James Slusher, Goldie Slusher Jones, and 3 others who died in childhood. While these Slushers have been gone many years, there are grandchildren and at least three subsequent generations. It would be great to see many of them gather for this reunion. Family members are asked to share this information with other family members who might not see this notice.

VERA BRADLEY EXPANSION

Vera Bradley, Inc. (NASDAQ: VRA), a designer of handbags, gifts, travel bags and accessories, announced plans today to expand its operations here, creating up to 128 new jobs by 2017.

"As I travel across this great Hoosier state, I witness daily the endless possibilities that can result from a terrific idea," said Governor Mike Pence. "A great idea by two entrepreneurs led to the global success story of Vera Bradley. I'm proud that because of Indiana's low tax, pro-growth business climate, the company has been able to grow at an incredible rate right here at home, further proving that Indiana is a state that works for business."

The homegrown-Indiana company will invest approximately $26.6 million to expand and equip its current 40,000 square-foot design center by 149,000 square feet and expand its distribution center by 10,000 square feet. Both facilities are located on Stonebridge Road off the Lafayette Center Road exit on Interstate 69 and are expected to be operational next year.

"We are proud to invest in our home-state," said Barbara Bradley Baekgaard, chief creative officer and co-founder. "Our design center expansion will bring nearly all of our northeast Indiana employees together on one campus."

This is Vera Bradley's second major expansion in northeast Indiana in less than two years. In 2011, the company announced plans to invest $22.5 million to expand its Roanoke distribution center to 420,000 square feet, adding 124 new jobs.

Headquartered in Fort Wayne, the company was founded 31 years ago by Barbara Bradley Baekgaard and Patricia R. Miller who were inspired to start the company when they noticed a lack of feminine-looking luggage while waiting at an airport terminal. Today, Vera Bradley is available at 79 Vera Bradley retail stores and 14 outlet stores across the country.

"The county takes great pride in being home to such a great leader in the gift and fashion industry," said Allen County Commissioner Nelson Peters. "We are pleased to watch Vera Bradley's continued success unfold with this expansion."

The Indiana Economic Development Corporation offered Vera Bradley, Inc. up to $1,750,000 in conditional tax credits based on the company's job creation plans. These tax credits are performance-based, meaning until Hoosiers are hired, the company is not eligible to claim incentives. Allen County will consider additional property tax abatement at the request of Fort Wayne-Allen County Economic Development Alliance.

DEER HUNTING BASICS

Registration is open for a free DNR program in three cities that will teach participants how to hunt whitetail deer in Indiana.

Hunt, Fish, Eat starts Aug. 8 in Terre Haute, Aug. 20 in Indianapolis and Sept. 5 in Fort Wayne. The program is a four-session series, with an optional fifth session. Sessions are once a week and offer hands-on learning in a safe environment. Hunt, Fish, Eat is an opportunity for new hunters ages 18 and older to improve their self-reliance skills and to learn to harvest a delicious source of fresh, local meat.

Curriculum will focus on laws and regulations, firearms and safety, locating a hunting spot, tracking and field dressing your harvest, and handling and preparing your venison for the table.

Each session will include an opportunity to sample venison recipes from instructors, as well as examine a variety of hunting gear and resources.

Participants should attend all sessions. All equipment will be provided.

For more information and to register, go to dnr.IN.gov/fishwild/7548.htm

POP TAB DROP

On Friday, Aug. 9, the Ronald McDonald House of Indiana is expecting at least 10 million pop tabs to be dropped on Monument Circle in downtown Indianapolis at its 9th annual Pop Tab Drop. The event, which runs from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. will include music by Pop & the Twisters band and a special appearance by Ronald McDonald. The world's largest pop tab will also be available for photos, and kids will have a chance to win prizes playing the pop tab toss.

Donors can bring their pop tabs to the circle and drop them into the collection containers, or they may simply go through the drive-thru lanes and volunteers will help unload their pop tabs. Last year, the House received close to $50,000 from its pop tab donation program. With 58 bedrooms and a full House almost every night, the proceeds from the recycled tabs help bridge the gap between the $75 it costs to provide nightly lodging to each family and the $15 donation they are asked to contribute.

2013 marks the 18th year of the Ronald McDonald House of Indiana pop tab program – the most successful pop tab recycling program in the nation. Thanks to the efforts of Hoosier pop tab collectors and friends around the world, the House has recycled over 1 billion tabs since the program began in 1995.

The Ronald McDonald House of Indiana provides a supportive home-away-from-home for families of seriously ill or injured children receiving medical care at Riley Hospital for Children and other Indianapolis-area hospitals. In 2012, 1,402 families temporarily called the House "home," including 1,305 from 88 Indiana counties, 93 families from other states, and 4 international families.

MOVIE DAY

Sheets Wildlife Museum and Learning Center will be having a movie day on Saturday, August 10th. The movie will be free and if you would like a tour of the museum, the price would be $1.00. Movie will start at 10:30 AM and will last approximately 55 minutes.

The movie we will be showing is Shark Quest. This movie will follow underwater photographers, Rob Torelli and Mark Priest, as they free dive with Great White sharks from South Africa to New Guinea. This extraordinary experience brings them face to face with feeding sharks, manta rays and even a Bryde's Whale, one of the few whales that prefer warmer water and are near extinction. This is no ordinary shark film, but a chance to meet some of the most beautiful and impressive marine creatures in the sea.

There will be an easy quiz with the top three youth receiving a gift certificate to be used in the museum gift shop.

Seating is limited so it is suggested that you call 356-9453 to reserve a seat.

NEPAC FIELD DAY

The Northeast Purdue Agricultural Center (NEPAC) in Columbia City will host a field day to share practical knowledge with farmers on Aug. 15. Workshop sessions will be held throughout the morning.

Specialists from Purdue will speak on various topics at the field day including the following:

Fred Whitford, Coordinator of Purdue Pesticide Programs, will be conducting a demonstration on water quality and pesticide performance.

Travis Legleiter, Purdue Extension weed specialist, will provide updates for farmers on controlling troublesome weeds such as Palmer amaranth and marehail.

Shaun Casteel, Purdue Extension agronomist, will offer advice on managing for high yield soybean production.

Ed Farris and David Addison, Purdue Extension Educators, will discuss fertilizer application regulations for growers in Indiana, which were updated in February 2013.

Lyndon Kelley, Irrigation Educator – Michigan State University Extension/Purdue Extension, will speak on the topic of irrigation design and economics.

Registration for the field day begins at 8 a.m., and the program starts at 8:30 a.m. The session

NAVIGATING THE ADA

This summer marks the 23rd anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The law was designed to ensure equal opportunity, participation, living and economic self-sufficiency to people with disabilities, and has changed the way Americans live.

In addition to the long, sloping, handicap-accessible ramps that have popped up in public areas, public transportation and technology are easier to access, and communities have become more inclusive. The ADA has brought people with disabilities increased public awareness and respect. It has figuratively—and literally—"opened the door" for the 54 million Americans with disabilities.

If you or someone you care about is living with a disability, these resources from USA.gov can help you get the government benefits and services you may be entitled to:

- Search Disability.gov by topic or level of government to find the benefits from Social Security and other sources that you may be missing. You'll also find helpful guides, such as "Working While Disabled—A Guide to Plans for Achieving Self Support," that can answer your questions.

- Create a personal account on Disability.gov to vote or comment on resources on the site, ask questions on group pages, save your searches, or receive updates.

- Check out the complete information available on the Americans with Disabilities act, including its law and regulations. For more information about the Americans with Disabilities Act, visit Answers.USA.gov and its "Help for People with Disabilities" FAQ.

GROCERY SHOPPING FOR CLASSROOM SUCCESS

(BPT) - The season of homework and PTO meetings is here, meaning it's time to gear up for a successful school year. A balanced eating plan helps children, and adults, to concentrate, learn and problem-solve, in and out of the classroom. When creating your back-to-school shopping lists, remember to include foods that will nourish your child's growing brain.

Plan your family's meals ahead of time and pay close attention to the amount of protein you serve your children at breakfast. Kids should eat about 20 grams of protein before heading off to school to help avoid hunger pangs during morning classes. Breakfast is also a golden opportunity to feed your child brain-boosting nutrients such as omega-3 fats and B vitamins, as well as vitamin D to help boost immunity.

"One piece of advice I have for parents is to take a couple minutes to read nutrition labels while at the grocery store," says Registered Dietitian Elizabeth Ward. "Some foods are nutritionally superior to others. For example, I only feed my family Eggland's Best eggs because they taste great and provide more key nutrients than ordinary eggs."

When compared to ordinary eggs, one large Eggland's Best egg provides twice the amount of omega-3s to support brain cells and promote healthy vision, three times more vitamin B12 to aid in proper brain function and four times more vitamin D to help with calcium absorption and boost immunity. These eggs also have 25 percent less saturated fat than ordinary eggs and contain 10 percent of the daily recommended amount of protein.

Berries make an ideal side dish at breakfast because they contain compounds that help shield brain cells from every day wear and tear. Whether they are fresh, dried or frozen, blueberries, blackberries, cranberries and strawberries are bursting with powerful antioxidants that can protect the brain and may enhance memory. When your student is eating nutrient-rich foods, be sure they are properly hydrating as well. Mild dehydration affects concentration and may cause headaches. Younger children need about 57 ounces of fluid daily, while pre-teens and teens need between 71 and 81 ounces. Although water is the preferred fluid source, low-fat milk and 100 percent juice count toward daily liquid needs, too.

Don't let the hustle and bustle of the impending school year get the better of your family's health. Planning meals ahead of time can help nourish your little Einstein's mind and keep your family happy and healthy.

PRODUCTIVE PRESCHOOLERS

Small World Preschool has just a few openings remaining for this coming school year. SWP is a not-for-profit preschool that offers a wide range of learning activities. This year we will be connecting with the community by taking some walking field trips to places such as the community garden, a bank, the library and more. We will also have some special visitors in the classroom.

Children learn in a number of different ways, at SWP we want to make sure we offer them the opportunity to learn in the ways in which each of them learn best. Preschool children are learning math, science, social studies, reading, music and art - the same subjects as older children in elementary. At SWP we work closely with the local school systems to ensure we keep up on the latest Kindergarten standards. SWP is located in First Baptist Church in Warren. For more information please contact Mandy @ 530-6364 or Kari @ 450-8202.
