Visa and MasterCard Credit Cards will now be accepted for payment of utility bills, fees and charges, etc to the Town of Warren. The payment must be made in person with identification available, and a fee of 3% of the total charge must be paid IN CASH at the time of the charge to offset cost of the service. Default of a credit card payment will be handled as a non-sufficient funds transaction and will result in disconnection of services if repayment is not made as required.

MEMORIAL BOWS & TREE

Once again, the Warren Chamber of Commerce is selling memorial bows - red for a person living and white for a person deceased- at the cost of $2 each. The bows annually are the only decoration, other than lights, on the community memorial Christmas Tree which is placed on Second and Wayne Streets at Town Hall. The ribbons may be purchased at Town Hall. The name of the person being recognized is written on the ribbon before being placed on the tree. A list of names is also printed in the Warren Weekly the week before Christmas. This year's tree has been donated by Sandy Hethcote in memory of her late daughter Jodi. The tree had been planted at the Hethcote home but has now become too large for that site. This donation indeed makes this year's Christmas Tree a special memorial.

TODAY'S HOLIDAYS NEED TODAY'S MAIL

Southern Indiana Postal elves postmark replies from only town named after Santa Claus

SANTA CLAUS, IN— Santa may be able to visit every boy and girl around the world in one night, but he relies on the holiday magic of the U.S. Postal Service to deliver his mail. Postal elves in Southern Indiana will postmark his replies and mail them back to the children from the only town in the world named after Santa Claus.

People wishing to have a letter from Santa Claus, IN sent to their children need to follow three simple steps and remember the Dec. 20 deadline.

Parents are encouraged to work with their children while they write letters to Santa so they can pick up a few tips when they later help craft Santa's reply. Once the reply is written, "Santa's response" should be placed in a stamped envelope addressed to the child.

This envelope should then be placed in a larger, properly stamped, First-Class Mail or Priority Mail envelope and mailed to:

Santa Claus IN 47579-9998

"The Santa Claus, Indiana, post office is offering a unique 'picture postmark' to cancel the postage stamps on holiday mail this year, said Postmaster Marian Balbach. "Our postmark has become one of the most popular in the nation. We receive requests from around-the-world and many customers drive hundreds of miles to receive the cancellation on their holiday mail.

Each year's unique postmark is designed by a local high school art student, as part of an annual contest. This year's winner was Mari Marley Jahn, a member of the Heritage Hills (IN) Class of 2007 and now attending Purdue University.

Balbach asks anyone interested in having the unique cancellation on their holiday mail to please follow these guidelines:

Allow at least a 2-inch by 4-inch space in the stamp area for the picture postmark.

Have postage applied to cards or letters before bringing or mailing them to the Santa Claus Post Office.

Customers who wish to mail Christmas cards to the post office should package them—with postage stamps already on them—in a sturdy envelope or box.

The picture postmark is available on working days between Dec. 1-24.

The picture postmark must be requested by the postal customer.

There is no charge for postmarking—however there is a limit of 50 picture postmarks (hand cancellations) per person per day.

Between Nov. 15 and Dec. 20, Balbach expects nearly 500,000 pieces of mail to come through her Post Office. A different picture postmark has been offered at the Santa Claus Post Office each holiday season since 1983.

BAND NEWS

Salamonie School Eighth graders Luke Greene, Beth Riley, Heather Duke, Cassie Hacker, and Jessica Stucky along with seventh grader Cassie Borntreger have been invited to participate in the IPFW Three River's Honor Bands. Dr. James Colonna, band director at IPFW, visited Salamonie on October 24th to listen to and talk to the students. The Three Rivers Honor Bands will rehearse in the evening on November 29th, during the day on the 30th, and perform on Saturday, December 1st at 2:00 P.M.

The students performed two scales, rudiments, and two short selections for Dr. Colonna during their audition process. Using their method books, the young instrumentalists read through their music as Dr. Colonna used several musical criteria upon which to judge the children. Dr. Colonna listened to ten students selected by Mr. Hofherr, and he accepted six into the Honor Bands. The performances will be in the new 1500 seat auditorium (Auer Concert Hall) on the campus at IPFW. Congratulations to the middle school children and good luck at the concert!

MITTENS FOR MUNCHKINS

Parkview Huntington Hospital invites Huntington County residents to share its warmth this winter with the children of the community by participating in the hospital's second annual "Mittens for Munchkins" Christmas program.

Beginning Monday, Nov. 26, two Christmas Giving Trees will be located in the hospital mall, upon which visitors may hang a new pair of mittens or gloves, a hat or scarf. Metal hooks for attaching the items to the trees will be available.

"Our employees were so generous last year that we thought the community might be interested in participating as well," said Darlene Garrett, chief operating officer of Parkview Huntington Hospital. "It is our pleasure to invite the community to play a part in this special giving program."

The gifts will be distributed by the Salvation Army following the giving deadline of Dec. 14.

HOLIDAY CAMP

The Huntington University baseball team will host the 2007 Holiday Baseball Camp on Dec. 27-29 from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Merillat Complex for Physical Education and Recreation. Participants may swim from noon to 12:30 p.m.

The team invites boys ages 8-14 to participate. To attend the camp, participants need to complete a registration form and send it along with a payment of $75 per child. Previous attendees and families with two or more children in the camp will receive a $5 discount for each child. Children of Huntington University faculty and staff will be given a $10 discount. All checks should be made payable to the Huntington University Dugout Club. Campers will receive a T-shirt and their personal hitting video.

The registration deadline is Dec. 18. Parents are welcome to stay and watch during the camp.

"We look forward to making this a great learning experience for every participant," said Mike Frame, head coach of the Huntington University baseball team. "It is our hope that

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

DEAR EDITOR,

I recently read an article about new textbooks in public school systems. The article incorporated the idea that the textbooks were easy for kids to understand and eliminate controversial subjects. These subjects and certain vocabulary were deemed to be harmful to student's attitudes and thoughts. What kind of students are we teaching? Students are not dumb, nor do they need a watered-down version of our nation's history, I think by throwing out these controversial stories and subjects of our history, we are insulting student's self-thinking. Besides, is it our public school's responsibility to instill morality into your kid's minds, or is it yours?

Conductor Bradley Thachuk will lead the philharmonic in a colorful presentation of holiday music to thrill all ages. The orchestra will be joined by vocalists Jeffery Moore and Lindsey Helmer.

A family tradition for 20 years, Holiday Pops with the Fort Wayne Philharmonic includes an audience sing-a-long and a selection of familiar holiday music. Also on the program are timeless classics and holiday favorites including "I'll be Home for Christmas," "The Night before Christmas," "The Little Drummer Boy," "Sleigh Ride," and "Baby, It's Cold Outside."

Tickets are available by calling Huntington University's Merrillat Centre for the Arts Box Office at (260) 359-4261. Ticket prices are $17-$21 for reserved seating, $5 for Huntington University students, discounted by $2 for students 13 and older as well as seniors, and half price for students 12 and younger. This event will be held in the Zurcher Auditorium in the Merrillat Centre for the Arts.

This concert was underwritten by Myers Funeral Home, Northeast Indiana Public Radio WBOI/WBNI and Huntington University.

In his position as the associate conductor for the Fort Wayne Philharmonic, Bradley Thachuk is responsible for conducting subscription concerts, Holiday Pops concerts, all education and outreach concerts and the Fort Wayne Ballet, in addition to being music director for the Fort Wayne Youth Symphony Orchestra. Thachuk has conducted orchestras and opera in the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal, the United States and Canada. Thachuk received his master's degree and began doctoral studies in conducting at the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music with Mark Gibson and Christopher Zimmerman. He continues his studies now privately with conductor Paavo Järvi, music director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Vocalist Jeffery Moore has been involved in many philharmonic ventures, including guest host for Holiday Pops and director/actor in "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme." Moore holds a Master of Fine Arts degree in theatre from Indiana University - Bloomington. Fort Wayne audiences will remember him in roles such as "John Adams" in "1776," "Lumière" in "Beauty and the Beast" and "Bob Ewell" in "To Kill a Mockingbird" at the Fort Wayne Civic Theatre.

Vocalist Lindsey Helmer is a 2004 graduate of Ball State University where she was a four-year featured soloist with the Ball State University Singers. She remained very active on campus, serving as Miss Ball State University and winning numerous talent awards including Best Female Soloist. She also has performed on the professional stage in Branson, Mo., with "Legends in Concert" and aboard ships with Royal Caribbean.

Now performing its 64th season, the Fort Wayne Philharmonic with Music Director Edvard Tschivzhel is a member of the League of American Orchestras and a funded member of Arts United of Greater Fort Wayne, the Indiana Arts Commission and National Endowment for the Arts. MASSAGE & PARKINSONS

As Parkinson's symptoms involve rigidity bradykinesia and tremors, it's no wonder that many experience some form of back pain. One theory is that flexor muscles are stronger than extensor muscles and therefore cause posture to stoop and result in lower back strain. Another theory is that Parkinson's patients do not have the ability to recover or relax their muscles and over time can suffer from some form of musculoskeletal discomfort. While research clearly documents the benefits of conventional treatments prescribed by physical therapists, massage therapy also can be beneficial in improving musculoskeletal discomfort.

Some benefits of massage include:

Stress Reduction. It is well known that stress creates an exacerbation in Parkinson's symptoms.

Muscle Flexibility Improvement. It relieves muscle rigidity and stiffness that often leads to muscle exhaustion.

Increase in Circulation. Blood supply improves nutrition to muscles, speeding up the elimination of metabolic wastes which can offer muscles some reprieve from the contractions.

Sleep Improvement Results in regular bowel movements and enhances the effectiveness of medication.

There are many different types of massage techniques which can prove helpful with circulatory and musculoskeletal benefits. Here are just a few common types:

Swedish massages: This is the most common. Swedish massage is very soothing using oil and smooth strokes.

Deep tissue therapies: Also known as neuromuscular trigger point and Roling often are a bit more rigorous yet produce effective results with chronic pain. Eastern styles work with the body's meridian pathways and focus to regulate the flow of energy in the body. This type of massage is given through finger pressure, rocking and stretching such as: Acupressure, Thai or Shiatsu.

Some tips to consider when looking for a massage therapist are:

Make sure that he/she has graduated from an accredited school and is licensed and certified. This will guarantee a level of professionalism and competence in anatomy, physiology and different massage techniques for considering your individual benefit.

Inquire if they are members of the American Massage Therapy Association, the Association Bodywork and Massage Professionals, or a similar well-known professional organization. This type of membership guarantees that they maintain continuing education credentials as required by licensure.

Check with your health care provider. Some insurance carriers are recognizing the medical therapeutic benefits. If you are not covered through your health insurance, expect to pay a fee somewhere between $30-$60 for an hour.

Understand that this is not just a form of luxury; massage therapy can be considered regular health maintenance, and increases quality of life.

Consult your health care provider to discuss if massage is right for you. As these benefits are demonstrated in clinical research studies, physicians will advocate the use of therapeutic massage more widely, thus incorporating them into customary medical practice.

For more information on therapeutic massage and to find a therapist in your area consult the following websites:

EDUCATION CENTER

The Charles Porter-Gene Stratton Porter Society is pleased to announce the beginning of a fund drive to establish the Brushwood Education Center in Adams County near Geneva. The educational center will focus its programs on the rich historical and natural features of the project site, the Munro Nature Preserve, and the surrounding Limberlost and Loblolly Wetlands area.

The project site includes the remnants of Hartford Township District No. 6 School, commonly referred to as the Brushwood School. The Brushwood area was the setting for part of Gene Stratton-Porter's The Girl of the Limberlost, 1909. Additionally, the property was formerly owned by Charles Porter in the late 1800s.

Since 1994 the property has been owned and managed by ACRES Land Trust as a nature preserve. The property contains a mature forest, a diverse forest floor community, along with abundant wildlife. The property is open to the public from dawn to dusk daily. Ken Brunswick, Regional Ecologist for the Division of Nature Preserves states "ACRES Land Trust has been a full partner with the DNR Division of Nature Preserves in preserving natural areas in northeast Indiana.

The educational center will serve the educational needs of ACRES Land Trust and the Charles Porter & Gene Stratton Porter Society. The building will also be available to community, service, government, and not-for-profit groups to facilitate their educational programs.

Types of programs offered at the educational center will include, but are not limited to, lectures, workshops, spelling bees, boy & girl scout meetings, 4-H meetings, historical presentations, nature center activities, and community meetings.

Project Goals:
Construction of an educational center that will accommodate groups of up to 75 people. Building design aesthetics will compliment the historically & naturally significant site

Use of the existing Brushwood School front as a historical monument or creation of an appropriate, separate monument to the school.

Provide historical and natural educational opportunities to residents and visitors to Adams County, focusing on the rich natural and social history of the project site and surrounding Limberlost and Loblolly Wetlands area.

Raise awareness of ACRES Land Trust, Charles Porter-Gene Stratton Porter Society, and other like-minded organizations who will utilize the facility.

How much will it cost? $75,000 will be required to construct and furnish this educational facility. A generous lead gift of $25,000 has already been received!

Monetary contributions for this project can be made to either ACRES Land Trust or the Charles Porter-Gene Stratton Porter Society. Both are not-for-profit organizations, therefore your contributions are tax deductible. Be sure to note that your contributions are for the "Brushwood Educational Center".

Volunteer opportunities are available to assist with this project. These opportunities range from fund raising, site preparation, construction, event planning, leading programs, etc. Please contact Willis and Ruth Brown at 260-368-7352 or willisandruth@onlyinternet.net

Community Grants are awarded semi-annually from the interest earned on the Foundation's Community Grants Unrestricted Fund. Since 1997, over $621,635 has been awarded to meet the charitable needs and to support worthy projects in Huntington County. Community Grants are made possible by the generous gifts, donations and contributions from Huntington County citizens to the Foundation's Community Grants Unrestricted Fund.

UPGRADING RADIOS

The Huntington County chapter of the American Red Cross has completed the second phase of its communications upgrade with the help of the Huntington County Community Foundation. The HCCF granted the local chapter $950 to purchase and install antennas for its 6 two-way radios which includes a base radio at the Red Cross office, a portable base radio and 4 mobile radios. These radios were donated to the Huntington County chapter by the National American Red Cross in Austin, Texas last year and are pre-programmed to the National American Red Cross frequency of 47.42 MHz, but did not include the antennas. The grant from HCCF gave the Red Cross the needed funds to complete the project.

The addition of the 6 radios gives the Huntington County chapter the ability to communicate directly from car-to-office or car-to-car even when cell phones are not functioning, as well as the ability to communicate with other Red Cross units nationwide. This will prove valuable if and when a major disaster occurs in Huntington County, or when the Huntington County chapter assists in another county. The radios have already been useful to the chapter's transportation program, which provides free rides to VA hospitals for local veterans.

Last year the Huntington County Community Foundation awarded a grant in the sum of $1800 to the Red Cross to purchase one 800MHz radio. This gave the chapter the ability to communicate directly with the Emergency Management Agency and Fire Dispatchers, to coordinate Red Cross assistance. This radio has proven its usefulness several times in the past year, and now the addition of the 47.42 MHz radios has extended the communications capabilities of the local chapter even further.

The Huntington County chapter of the American Red Cross has served Huntington County since 1917. Each year we respond to 12-15 house fires, as well as other disaster-related events. 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, when we are needed we are there.

SENIOR LUNCH

Individuals age 50 and older are invited to make a holiday craft with garden bounty under the watchful eye of the Huntington Master Gardeners, Dec. 3, at the seniors lunch at the Salomonie Interpretive Center.

The project will be a tree ornament made from a grape vine and dried flowers.

"The Huntington Master Gardeners plant and maintain the Salomonie Interpretive Center Garden," said Upper Wabash Interpretive Services director Marvin McNew. "We get dried flowers from the Everlastings area, herbs, squash and tomatoes from the Children's ABC garden, a colorful array of butterflies over all of the hummingbird and butterfly plantings, and many visitors enjoy viewing and learning from the garden. The ornaments will be made with flowers dried from the Everlastings area of the garden."

The program kicks off with the meal at 12:30 p.m. The meat dish will be provided by UWIS. Seniors should bring a dish to pass, their own table service and $1 donation to help defray the cost of the provided meat dish.

Those interested may register by calling UWIS, (260) 468-2127, or by visiting the interpretive center, 3691 S. New Holland Rd., Andrews, 46702.

The interpretive center and gift shop hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. This barrier-free building features exhibits, floor-to-ceiling windows in the wildlife viewing area, and staff to answer questions.

The center is in Lost Bridge West Recreation Area, Highway 105, western Huntington County.

For more information on other UWIS programs, see www.dnr.IN.gov/uwis.

SPANISH TRANSLATORS

The Huntington North Advanced Placement Spanish classes are translating letters from a preschool from Tisma, Nicaragua. These letters are designated for the sponsors who are helping the poorest preschoolers get an education.

The preschool was started two years ago with the help of the Huntington Church of the Brethren along with a nonprofit agency in Wichita, Kansas called Trees for Life. The idea for the preschool came from a women's group in Tisma who believe that education is the way out of poverty. The women's group made plans for the preschool including purposing a budget and planning for the construction of the preschool building. Trees for Life provided funds for the building of the school. The Huntington Church of the Brethren is administrating the sponsorship program.

With the help of sponsors in the United States, the school is able to hire teachers, buy materials and provide a school lunch each day. The US sponsors are invited to write to their student in Nicaragua twice a year, and the sponsors will receive letters twice a year as well.

The Huntington North AP Spanish classes are serving as translators for all the letters and in addition will be writing letters of their own to the children. This gives the HNHS students the opportunity to better understand the culture of Nicaragua and read the Spanish written by native speakers. HNHS students enjoy this real life connection with the Tisma children. "The letters describe their homes, schools and lives. It is really to cool to read about," said AP student Emily Hoff. In fact the classes are excited to learn more about the children and have expressed interest in sponsoring a child themselves. Kiah Zumbrun, another AP student wrote, "I really enjoy translating these letters. It makes me feel like I'm making a difference in the community." Nick Albright wrote, "Helping a child grow is always worthwhile."

Anyone who would like more information about the program or about sponsoring a child can contact Carole Baker at 786-3808 or carolejbaker@gmail.com

SURVIVAL DAY CAMP

Salomonie Reservoir will host a children's day camp with a survival theme, Dec. 26-28.

Children ages 7 to 12 are invited to this fun and exciting three-day event. Each day provides a variety of activity sessions, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Each day will be focused on a nature/winter theme. Topics include animal survival, glaciers and surviving winter as a pioneer or Native American (before malls arrived in Indiana). The camp features indoor and outdoor activities, movie time, snacks, crafts and games.

Advance registration at (260) 468-2127 is required. Space is limited. The camp's activities are guided by interpretive naturalists trained to provide a safe and fun environment to learn about our world. A small snack will be provided. Children should bring a sack lunch with drink each day.

The camp requires a $30 participation fee for each child. The property gate does not charge admission for the camp. Parents must fill out health/participation forms before their child may participate in activities.

POLAR EXPRESS

Connersville IN - The Whitewater Valley Railroad is proud to announce its partnership with Rail Events Inc. (through Warner Brothers Entertainment Inc.) to bring the only officially licensed event to the Greater Cincinnati, Dayton, and Indianapolis Metro Areas, based on the holiday film, The Polar Express™, originally released in 2004 by Warner Bros. Pictures. The Whitewater Valley Railroad's November and December schedule will feature The Polar Express™ excursion as the Premier Special Event during the 2007 Holiday Season.

The Polar Express™ will come to life when the train departs Connersville's Grand Central Station for a journey through the quiet countryside for a special visit to the "North Pole" with Santa Claus. Guests on board will enjoy hot chocolate and cookies while listening and reading along with the magical story. Experience the joy of watching the children's faces when the train arrives at the "North Pole," where Santa Claus and his helpers will be waiting.

Santa will board The Polar Express™ where he will greet each child and hand them their own special sleigh bell during the return to the station. Families are sure to make this an annual holiday tradition.

The Polar Express™ holiday schedule is December 1, 7, 8, 14, & 15 - 5:30 pm & 7:45 pm departures; December 2, 9 & 16 (Sundays) - 5:30 pm departure; a total of 25 excursions throughout the months of November and December leading up to Christmas. Tickets are $26.00 per adult and $16.00 per child. Tickets are on sale now.

Check www.whitewatervalleyrr.org or call (765) 825-2054 for more details.

The Polar Express™ film reunites the Academy Award-winning team of Tom Hanks and director Robert Zemeckis in an inspiring adventure based on the beloved children's book, by Chris Van Allsburg, about a doubting young boy who takes an extraordinary train ride to the North Pole on Christmas Eve. "The Polar Express™," published by Houghton Mifflin Company has become a contemporary holiday classic, with over 6 million copies sold worldwide. The Polar Express will be seen in IMAX theaters and available again on DVD this holiday season!

PAY IT FORWARD

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley
Here it is the holiday season and we are under more stress than ever. Some days you just need to take a few minutes for yourself and recharge your batteries. Today has been one of those days for me. This afternoon I curled up with a chick flick as Robert would call it. You know one of those girly tear jerking movies that you need several boxes of Kleenex to watch. My sweet sister had recommended one a few weeks ago and I put it in my Net Flix list. Well it showed up the other day. So today I have spent the last two hours taking care of me with a good movie.

If you have not seen it, rent it or buy it for yourself! The name is Pay It Forward. It is all about how one little person can change the world. Each and every one of our children needs to see this movie too. This is a way to teach our children the joy in giving for the sake of giving. There are a few ugly words in it so please screen it before you allow your children to watch it. This is up to you. The movie is about doing good in the world, but you judge for yourself.

The premise of this wonderful film is that each person can make a difference in this world all by paying it forward. If someone does a good deed for you; you must in turn do three good deeds for three other people and your only payment is that they do three good deeds and it just keep right on blessing others. This is just like the ripple affect of a pebble thrown into a pond.

In girl scouts we sang a song called Pass It On! I don't remember all the words.

"It only takes a spark to get a fire going, And soon all those around can warm up in its glowing;"

Let's bless the world with ourselves this holiday season and touch others with our love and kindness. It is not about the stuff we give, it is about the love we put out into the world. Pay It Forward this holiday season one good deed at a time. When you see a need then take the opportunity to Pay It Forward. This holiday season I will be sharing these Pay It Forward stories with my email group. I have to beg for the stories because most people want to be anonymous. The beauty of the stories is they give people ideas of how to bless others. The other day I received a testimonial about a family whose children gathered good toys from their abundance and family friends and had a FREE Yard Sale and gift wrapping station. They put signs up pointing the way and got their children involved in the giving and the wrapping.
