NOTICE EXPLAINED

For those residents of Warren who received a letter from the Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM), this letter was to inform you of a sewer construction project that will be taking place in your area. This is a required notice for public information; no action is required on your part. This project will be to replace combined (Storm water and Sanitary Sewage) sewers in the Town of Warren with separate sanitary and storm sewers. As the project moves through each area, the residential taps will be reconnected at the Town's expense for homes that will be separated. If you are in the area and were planning to replace your sewer line to the Town main, this would be a good time to act on that project as the main will be exposed.

MAIL CALL FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The day after Thanksgiving is the official start of the Christmas shopping season, but people who must ship their gifts may be finished. Shopping early is important if you are mailing your gifts or sending them by UPS or another carrier.

The Postal Service, Federal Express, and United Parcel Service increase their work forces and hours for the holidays, but it's up to people sending the packages to get them ready and off on time. Here's how to do it.

Check with your carrier about how long it will take to deliver various classes of boxes to a certain destination, and ask what the size limitations are.

Choose a box that is large enough to accommodate cushioning material for fragile gifts or strong enough to hold heavy items.

- Ship electronics in original packaging and inside another box. Take batteries out of toys and wrap separately.

- Write the label clearly or type it. Use complete addresses, including the words street, boulevard, drive, or lane.

And use correct directionals such as NW or SE.

- Use tape that is designed for shipping, or reinforced tape.

- Be prepared to wait. Counter people are doing their best to get everyone's packages shipped as soon as possible. Give them a smile and wish them a happy holiday season.

NOVEMBER IN THE GARDEN

This is your last chance to plant spring-blooming bulbs. November is a good time to do it, because the bulbs won't begin to produce greenery until spring. Tulips and daffodils will greet you next year and for many years to come.

Here are a few tips from Purdue University on how to protect roses:

Continue watering until the ground freezes. Remove leaves and other debris from around the plants.

- Begin protecting after the first frost.

- For Tea, Grandiflora, and Floribundas, loosely staple a 12- to 14-inch sleeve made of newspaper around the base of the plants and fill it with leaves.

- Roses can be protected by mounding 12 to 15 inches of soil or shredded bark, by cones, or by wooden baskets, but be sure there is adequate ventilation.

- Roses with long canes should be cut back to about 36 inches.

Keeping with theme "Back Home Again In Indiana" she took us on "Lets Take A Drive". We visited different areas close to home. We went to Huntington and Wabash counties. She suggested we take a map, as she sometimes gets lost, but she always ends up some where! We discovered there are a lot of interesting places close to home. AFTER SCHOOL STORY TIME

Six children attended After School Story Time at the Van Buren Public Library on Friday, November 9th, 2001. Random Week of Kindness was celebrated. The children shared some of the kind things people had done for them. Karen shared different ways the children could be kind to others by using each letter of the alphabet.

The book read to the children titled "The Pumpkin Patch Parable" by Liz Curtis Higgs fit right into the theme. It talked of how the farmer was kind and shared his gift with the neighbors. He would turn a simple pumpkin into a simply glorious sight. In the same way, God the Father, offers His children the chance to be made new, full of joy and full of light, shining like stars in a dark world. Being kind is a great way to share our concern and love for others.

Six children took a piece of paper and wrote down something kind about each other. This took a little time, but everyone had something nice to write down.

Veteran's Day was also observed. Flags were colored to send to our service men along with tiny cutout hands with a child's name on it. Each child received a Veterans Vocabulary Sheet to help them understand some of the meanings of word used during this time of War on Terrorism. Treats served were popcorn, cookies and cool aid.

Next Story Time will be Friday November 16th. Children's Book Week will be celebrated. The children took home two sheets of paper titled Up With Books. This will help them keep track of the books and number of pages read during the week. The ones completing this will receive a book to take home and enjoy. A few of the children took a paper home last week.

Bobby Tate completed his paper and received a storybook. Good Job Bobby!

Those attending today were: Harley Denham, Kayla Purvis, Connor Pannell, Amanda Kern, Bobby Tate, Brittini-lynn Davis.

OFFER SOLUTIONS FOR AG CREDIT

Consolidation among financial institutions has intensified competition among rural and urban borrowers for capital and is giving rise to new programs to ensure farmers will have access to sufficient operating credit.

Farmers traditionally relied on a local financial institution to meet all their operating credit needs. But recent mergers of financial institutions have diverted funds previously available for agricultural operating credit to non-agricultural borrowers. Additionally, regulatory and self-imposed limits on banks' agricultural lending portfolios are forcing many growing farm operations to seek operating financing from multiple providers.

"John Deere Credit began offering large operating loans to provide a full range of financing to meet the needs of major farm borrowers from a single, reputable source," said Bill Needler, the Finance Pro serving Indiana.

Each Finance Pro brings years of experience in agricultural financing in the region and the capital to meet all the customer's operating financing needs at competitive rates and flexible terms.

"Farmers want to spend their time producing, not shopping for operating capital and negotiating terms. Our focus, as Finance Pros, is to develop a long-term, lasting relationship with our customers. We not only offer operating credit, but also term loans for facilities, breeding livestock, and other intermediate-term needs. To help
