REVIVING AN OLD TRADITION

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce is looking into reviving the Town drawings that were held many years ago in downtown Warren. For many years in the past they were held as a weekly event and the community all came together on that night to shop, socialize and visit with everyone whom they had not seen in the past week. The chambers idea is to have the drawings on a monthly basis on the town hall steps at the corner of Wayne and 2nd Streets. We will encourage downtown businesses to participate by extending their hours on that evening and invite area chamber members who are not located downtown to participate by joining us with a table or booth on the sidewalk to promote their business.

If you have fond memories of the drawing or an interesting story about an experience you had at one of the Warren town drawings please drop us a note at P.O. Box 310 Warren, IN 46792.

Look for more information to follow in the coming months as we work on reviving this age old tradition in Warren.

and his son. The Like My Dad commercial was written and produced by Darren Harrison of Whirlwind Pictures in Fort Wayne.

CONTINUING AT THE PULSE

Things are heating up at the Pulse Opera House. "Flaming Idiots" opened last weekend to standing hoots, hollers and standing ovations. Opening night attendees were comparing Warren native Stacia Brinneman's performance to Lucille Ball. She WOWed the audience as the hearing impaired natural food chef Bernadette. Joe Haney brought the house down as the over-the-hill hitman Louie. Those who know Joe will never recognize him as he takes on the character totally.

Flaming Idiots runs May 11, 12, 17, 18 & 19. Tickets for the show are $12 for general admission and $5 for children 12 and under. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The box office opens at 7:00 p.m. on show nights and is located in the theatre lobby. Doors to the theatre open at 7:30 p.m. All shows start at 8:00 p.m. Reservations can be made online at www.pulseoperahouse.org or by calling (260) 375-7017. The Pulse Opera House is located at 127 1/2 Wayne Street in Warren, Indiana.

Flaming Idiots is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

AREA NEWS

SCOOTER RUN

Scooter Run coming up May 20th at the "Crazy D" truck plaza here in Warren. Time will be 11:00 AM.

My name is Rebecca J. Nevil and I am advertising a Scooter run just for the fun of it. I am posting posters around town to start something new. "Crazy D" has given me the okay to have scooters to meet at their establishment and we would take State Rd. 5 to the Observation Mound at the reservoir. Pack a lunch and then later come back to the Truck stop.

Scooters must comply to the Indiana Driver Manual rules on scooters and know how to drive in traffic. This will assure the scooters that safety must come first and not disobey any laws that regulate their actions.

For more information contact me at my email address rjnevil@citznet.com or my telephone number is 1-260-375-2414.

FOOD DRIVE

On the second Saturday in May - May 12, 2007 - letter carriers in more than 10,000 cities and towns across America will deliver much more than mail when they walk and drive along their postal routes. They also will collect the goodness and compassion of their postal customers participating in the 15th annual NALC National Food Drive - the largest one-day food drive in the world.

Letter carriers will collect non-perishable food donations left by mailboxes and deliver them to local community food banks, pantries and shelters. Nearly 1,500 local NALC branches in all 50 states and the District of Columbia are involved in the drive.

The effort by letter carriers represented by the National Association of Letter Carriers, with the help of rural letter carriers, other postal employees, and numerous other volunteers has resulted in delivery of well over three quarters of a billion pounds of donations to community food banks and pantries over the past 14 years.

The success of this food drive is in its simplicity.

All citizens need to do is to place a box or can of non-perishable food next to their mailbox before their letter carrier delivers mail on Saturday, May 12. The carrier will do all the rest. The food is taken back to a postal station, sorted and then delivered to an area food bank or pantry. There, it is made available for needy families. (Prior to May 12, bags generously donated by Kroger Co. will be delivered and customers may use the bags for their food donations.)

An estimated 35 million people face hunger every day in America, including more than nine million children. This drive is one way people can help those right in their own city or town who need help.

Nationally in 2006, the drive collected more than 70 million pounds of food for the needy from postal customers. Locally, more than 300,000 pounds of food was collected. In addition to all Fort Wayne branches of the U.S. Postal Service, Post Offices in the following Northeast Indiana counties also participate in the annual food drive: DeKalb, Huntington, Noble, Steuben, Wells, and Whitley. Donations by postal customers will be delivered to local community food banks and pantries that serve the area where the donations are collected - a perfect opportunity for citizens to help the needy in their own communities.

FREE TESTING AT EXPO

Parkview Huntington Hospital and Huntington Redi-Med will be offering FREE medical testing at their booths during the Senior Expo. This is an important and valuable service for the seniors who visit the Expo. Last year this was very popular and the testing services were busy all day long. The testing that will be available will include blood pressure, grip strength, body fat analysis, blood sugar check, bone density check and information to help you reduce the risk of falling.

New, this year will be FREE vouchers provided by Aging and In-Home Services of Northeast Indiana, Inc. for Chem 17 blood work to be done within two weeks at Parkview Huntington Hospital. Chem 17 is a valuable blood test for seniors which covers numerous evaluations such as cholesterol, HDL, triglycerides, glucose, iron, and potassium to name a few. These vouchers will be available at the Event Management table just inside the entrance to the Huntington University Field House. There are only 85 vouchers and they will be handed out on a first come-first serve basis beginning at 8:00 a.m.

Besides the FREE food, refreshments, snacks, entertainment, 100 door prizes, booth drawings and give-a-ways, the FREE medical testing is another reason to attend the Huntington County Senior Expo. The Expo is on Thursday, May 24th, 2007 from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Huntington University Field House.

The Senior Expo is brought, to you by the Huntington County Council on Aging and their Senior Expo Corporate Sponsors, along with numerous donations from the generous businesses and people of Huntington County. The Corporate Sponsors for the Senior Expo include Bailey-Love Mortuary, Humana MarketPoint, Huntington Heating and Cooling, Inc., Markle Health and Rehabilitation, Miller's Merry Manor, and Myers Funeral Homes.

OPERATION KIDSIGHT

Zanesville Lions have scheduled "Operation KidSight," a free eye screening, for Monday, May 14. Screening hours are 3 to 5 p.m. at the Zanesville Lions Clubhouse at the ballpark on VanHorn Street.

The screening is for all area children under 6 years old.

The screening provides instant photographs of your child's eyes to determine the presence of possible eye disorders including farsightedness, nearsightedness, astigmatism, strabismus (misaligned eyes) anisometropia (unequal prescriptions) and media opacities (i.e. cataracts). No physical contact made with the child and no eye drops or medications are used.

This screening is approximately 85 to 90 percent effective in detecting significant factors that can cause a decrease in vision. Before photo screening is done, parents must give their approval. You may register your children at the site the day of the screening. For more information, contact Indiana Lions Operation KidSight at 317-578-0491 or w-mail kidsight@sbcglobal.net.

NEW TRAIL

A ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held May 12, 10 a.m., to officially open the new 13-mile loop Bloodroot Trail for hiking and mountain biking at Salamonie Reservoir.

Those who want to take part should meet at the trailhead across the road from the Interpretive Center in the Lost Bridge West State Recreation Area to enjoy the guest speakers and hike or bike the trail.

"The Bloodroot Trail loops through some of Salamonie's most scenic areas and includes some beautiful overlooks of the reservoir," said Wayne Ley, assistant property manager. "After the ceremony or after completing the trail, enjoy the relaxing atmosphere of Salamonie's Interpretive Center and check out the displays, wildlife viewing window and the Otter Run Tradin' Post."

The Tradin' Post offers Bloodroot Trail patches, walking sticks, field guides and other Salamonie souvenirs. Annual entrance passes for DNR State Parks and Reservoirs properties, horse riding permits and boating permits are also on sale.

Enjoy a wonderful spring weekend on the property and camp at Salamonie. Both electric and non-electric sites are available in the Lost Bridge West State Recreation Area. Salamonie's beautiful Youth Group campground provides a great location close to the trail. Camping reservations can be made through Indiana's Central Reservation System, at www.CAMP.IN.gov or (866) 622-6746.

Regular gate fees apply for the weekend. Daily entrance for in-state vehicles is $4, Monday-Thursday; $5, Friday-Sunday and holidays. The fee is $7 for out-of-state vehicles all days. CELEBRATING 45TH Shuttleworth, Inc., to celebrate its 45th anniversary as a leading global conveyor automation and material handling machinery manufacturer on May 21, 2007. Since 1962, the company has delivered over 18,000 product handling conveyor systems, worldwide.

Jim Shuttleworth, founder, worked in the family's tomato farm/cannery near Warren. Jim and his father developed a can un-scrambler and subsequently started production of the machines in 1952. Upon the death of his father, Jim purchased the machinery production side of the business.

Named the Shuttleworth Machinery Corporation, the company moved to Huntington in 1962.

With only three employees from the cannery, SMC began manufacturing can un-scramblers and later, a high-speed, hydraulic, case packer, called the Shuttleworth Futurematic. By 1965, the company was licensing the case packers not only in the U.S., but also in Holland, England and Australia.

As a solution to feeding products gently into the case packer, the first "Slip-Torque" conveyor was invented and patented. Before long, SMC was building and shipping more conveyor than other machinery products.

In 1969, Shuttleworth moved into a new facility at the present location, 10 Commercial Road, Huntington, Indiana. In 1974, the company was renamed as Shuttleworth, Inc. and a joint venture was opened in Japan. A manufacturing facility was opened in Oudenaarde, Belgium in 1979. The Huntington operation grew and prospered and an expansion was added to the building in 1980.

The European manufacturing operation was relocated to Athy, Ireland with sales and service remaining in Belgium in 1981. The Huntington location completed a second expansion in 1984.

Japan's operation also experienced growth and moved into a new and larger facility in Yokohama in 1986. The company continued to prosper through the 90's with increased sales in the markets served.

Shuttleworth "Easy-Clean" conveyor for the food and healthcare market was introduced in 2002.

The following year saw the development of anti-microbial plastics for direct food contact applications. Shuttleworth's innovative "star" roller was also developed for the paper handling industry in 2003.

In 2003, Carol Shuttleworth assumed leadership of the company after Jim's unexpected death.

As CEO and President, Carol immediately focused the company's direction on key markets in the healthcare, food and paper industries. Shuttleworth engineering continues to provide customers the best solutions for manufacturing challenges and maintains position as the industry leader in advanced conveying and product handling technology. Recognizing the growth potential in Eastern Europe, the Ireland operation was relocated to Sint Martens Latem, Belgium in 2004. The company is now better positioned to serve central and eastern Europe as well as western European markets.

Shuttleworth, Inc. has been a member of the Packaging Machinery Manufacturers Institute (PMMI) since 1967. The company is certified ISO 9001:2000. In 2006, Shuttleworth received

THE CARPENTER

One of the nicest men you'd ever want to meet. His name? John Bellante! We met him in the pool. Almost like clockwork you could expect that John would come through the door, get dressed, and go through his water-aerobic routine. He didn't stay long, but he didn't have to. He had this exercise stuff down to a science. Like most of us he didn't seem all that excited about exercise, but felt like it was necessary to keep the body in top working order.

John Bellante began his adult life as an insurance agent in Illinois just south of the Chicago area. He kept that job for 24 years. He married Theodora "Teddy" and they had two children, a son and a daughter. Somewhere in his 40's John got the call to become a minister. So he went from selling earthly insurance to selling spiritual insurance. He became a minister with the North Indiana Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Reverend Bellante served various churches with the last one being in Columbia City where he had ministered for five years and retired in 1992. He moved to a townhouse at United Methodist Memorial Home where he served as a Chaplain for the Home for 12 years.

He lost Teddy after 53 years of marriage. By now his children were grown. His son lives in Pennville on a farm and gave John two exceptional grandchildren who are now teenagers. His daughter lives in Cape Elizabeth, Maine and is a career girl with the University of New England.

Another wonderful lady came into John's life. John had known Mimmette and her husband in earlier years and now she had lost her spouse too. John had promised a mutual friend to call Mimmette to say hello. Before they hung up he had asked her out for supper. The rest, as they say, is history.

John's third career is woodworking. The very day he moved into the Home he was in the wood shop. He is quite the skilled carpenter. My husband was intrigued with his canes and asked John to make him one of oak. But, he is not limited to canes. A visit to the gift shop reveals that he has a Shaker table in cherry along with numerous other delicate items. Wood pens, pencils, key chains, magnifying glasses, jewelry clips and letter openers to name a few. He has done many projects and especially enjoys the camaraderie of others in the shop. He says, "Woodworking is my wonderful hobby I really enjoy and would be lost without!"

SAFE PLACES BECOME BLACK HOLES,

by the FlyLady, Marla Cilley
Did you ever put something in a safe place never to find it again?

I have many times. It is almost a joke in our home when I say those black hole fateful words, "I need to put this in a safe place. There are car titles that have been lost in the vastness of my safe places. Just today as I am flying across the country I have lost two items all because I didn't want to misplace them on the flight.

We could have been the three stooges searching for the cord to my assistant's headphones. You know the story. I put them some places safe and then had to spend thirty minutes searching through every pocket and compartment in my purse and my computer bag. After I finally found them; I lost the cord to my headphones. Luckily that cord had not been placed in a safe place; it was hiding on the floor under my foot.

In order to get myself calmed down from the chaotic start to our plane ride I put on some music that settles my nerves and decided to write about our little comedy routine. Why do we put ourselves through this. At one point I was so happy that my sweet darling was not with us on our trip. When he does travel with us; he likes to sit a few rows away from us because I fidget too much. He travels light. This is not a term that sidetracked people are familiar with. Light for us is a flash light to look into that bottomless pit of a handbag to help us find what we are searching for.

The other day we found a portable scale to help us weigh our luggage so we don't have to rearrange our stuff when we get to the airport. There is nothing worse than being two pounds overweight. There must be a lot of sidetracked people in this world. We have gotten better about what we pack. This trip my assistant actually wore everything she brought with her.

I have been trying to figure out what the difference is between a man and a woman traveling. Robert has his wallet, his glasses, a book and just a car key in his pocket. His bags can be packed in about five minutes. He carries the bare necessities unlike Michele and I. We are prepared for anything. We have medications for stomach aches, heat pads for sore muscles and pills for headaches. We have our computers so we can still work and we have our tunes so we can sing. This stuff has come in handy, but the price we pay for having too much stuff is in time and frustration. Yes we know it is here someplace.

The same thing happens in our homes when we have too much stuff. We can't find what we need when we need it. We don't have homes for these items. As my Granny has always said, "Everything has a place and everything in its place". Can you imagine this??

For sidetracked people our clutter is clogging up the valuable storage space in our homes and the stuff we need is homeless. This is why we are always searching and wasting time hunting for what we want. With less clutter we release the frustration that comes with losing items. The funny part is that the items that are usually right in front of our faces in plain view and our frustration level blinds us.

My next trip I am determined to travel with less and find more peace in my journey. I can do this. Are you ready to join me by releasing your clutter.
