LADIES DAY

The annual Ladies Day at the Fair will be held on Monday, July 26, from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. under a canopy at the west side of the Family Living Building at Hier's Park, Huntington. This event, sponsored by Huntington County Extension Homemakers, is free to the public and will offer presentations on a wide variety of topics of interest to women.

At 1:00 pm, Sharon Laupp will give a presentation with information about Therapy Dogs. These specially trained dogs visit nursing homes to give residents a chance to interact with them.

Jean Gernand from German Heritage of Huntington County beginning at 2:00 pm. She will share information about the history of the area.

At 3:00 pm "Container Gardening" will be given by Sharon Bowman, Purdue Extension Master Gardener. Sharon will give ideas on how to use containers when outdoor gardening may not be an option.

For the final presentation, Huntington County Extension Educator, Karen Hinshaw will present "Add a Little Spice to Your Life" at 4:00 pm. Karen will share information about storage, uses and substitutions for spices and herbs..

Please join this afternoon of fun. Door prizes will be awarded at each session. Ladies Day at the Fair is held in conjunction with the Huntington County 4-H Fair.

The Touch of Class Cookie Contest will be immediately following Ladies Day.

TALENT SHOW

The Pulse Opera House is having a TALENT SHOW - August 6 & 7 at 8pm.

AUDITIONS will be July 30 & 31 at 7:30pm in the theatre.

The PULSE TALENT SHOW is a Fundraiser to Help Offset Costs of the Postponed Production of "Fiddler on the Roof." If you haven't heard from the grapevine yet, due to Unfortunate Circumstances Beyond Our Control, the Pulse Opera House's production of "Fiddler" has been POSTPONED until a later date. The rights to due the show were pulled because a National Touring Company of "Fiddler" is scheduled to come to the area; thus, preventing all amateur groups within a 100 mile radius from doing the show. This was unexpected news and everyone involved in the show is in shock - but - determined to do the show at a later date (after the National Tour is completed).

Anybody can Audition - here's some TALENT IDEAS:

1. SING a Song(s)
2. Put on a SKIT - get with your friends & come up with a short skit - 3 to 5 minutes
3. PLAY an Instrument - Piano, Guitar, Acoustic Instrument, etc
4. Put on a MAGIC ACT - (be pretty good at it)
5. DANCE or Tap or Ballet
6. SMALL Musical Group or Band - limit 3 to 5 minutes
7. Singing Group or Barbershop Choir
8. Animal Act - Is your pet REALLY good at tricks?
9. Juggling Act - no knives or chainsaws, please
10. Acrobatics

MARKET REPORT

This past week the market was quite busy. We now have some nice vegetables coming in and should have green beans this week.

There were some really large muskmellons that sold fast, also tomatoes, beets, pickles, summer squash, green peppers, zucchini, and sweet corn just to name a few items. We had some fresh picked Lodi apples and whole hog ground pork. There should be beef this week along with the regular items. The tenderloin guys will not be here for two weeks as they get ready for the Pop Corn Festival. Come early for best selection we are there 8a.m. till about noon.

SCHOOL REGISTRATION

Registration for Southern Wells Elementary School and Southern Wells Jr/Sr High School will be held as follows:

Thursday, Aug. 5, 8 AM to 6 PM;

Friday, Aug. 6, 7 AM to 3 PM.

PRESERVING NATURE'S BOUNTY

Extension Educator, Molly Hoag, shares with summer assistant Jessica Nusbaumer canning processes for fruits and vegetables. Molly will be showing the different processes of "Preserving Nature's Bounty" which she will be presenting Tuesday, July 27 from 6:00-7:30 PM at the Wells County Public Library, Bluffton. A charge of $3.00 for materials and supplies will be collected at the door. Register at 260-824-6412. This program is sponsored by the Wells County Office of the Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service.

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

Yes it has been overly toastie warm, but remember last winter and late spring when we were complaining about the cold weather? I am trying not to complain but would love to see a few days of perfect 75-80 low humidity days. To me that is a perfect summer day.

The garden we have give up on for this year except for the tomatoes. All the mulching I had done to keep weeds down I think it just encouraged them to grow bigger and faster. I did get enough green beans to have a canner full and few green peppers. The cabbage did very well and have made a couple batches of freezer slaw. So I guess my small garden wasn't a total waste.

We all growl about the hot weather and most all of can get relief by our air condition homes, years back to my younger years it was unheard of and us kids would go to the garden either early morning or later in the evening to bring in the harvest to be put away in jars. We all worked at getting what ever it was ready to start early the next day. Mom had a copper boiler we heated the wash water in and also used it to process the canned jars. We could put more jars in the boiler at a time than the regular canner. Still it was nearly an all day process often till late at night. I can remember many a night my sister and I stayed up late to turn out the heat on the stove for the last batch processed. We usually sat at the kitchen table and played games to keep us awake for it had been a long day. The best part was that the food we canned sure tasted good during the winter months and we always had a good variety put away in the basement. We also helped can chicken we had dressed out and beef and pork that was butchered and canned up or cured down. It took very little effort to put a really good meal on the table. Our home place was small acreage of about 20 acres but we pretty much lived off the land. Those terrible years of the depression area we felt very lucky for what we had and could produce on our land. By the time winter was coming we had five to maybe seven hundred jars put away not including the jars of jellies and jams, catsup and pickles plus a big bin of potatoes. Those were often long hard days but rewarding even though to a

If you are a family in need of assistance please contact Kim Heyde @1-888-758-3111 or E-Mail me at kheyde@marklebank.com.

SOCIAL PLANNED

Farrville Ice Cream Social will be held on Saturday, July 24th from 4:30 to 7:30 pm. This Freewill Donation event will take place at the Farrville Community Church located at 11044E 200N Marion.

Please join Farrville Community Church and the area churches of Van Buren for food, fellowship and homemade ice-cream in our on-going effort to raise funds for local housing projects at four area sites.

In 1911, there was a new factory in town. The Granger Electric Company employed thirty-seven people turning out electric irons, toasters, immersion coils for heating water, electric heating pads and infants' sleeping blankets. The new factory was located in the Roeme Block [Eckman Motors old building.]

As you entered the factory, from the office, you passed into the shipping and stock room where several people wrapped and placed irons and toasters in cartons, to be shipped to the pacific coast, where large quantities of the product were sold. In the front part of the room you found hardware parts for the finished products. Many of these parts were made in Warren.

The next big room went in was the assembly room for the irons. The irons, as well as the other products, went out to the public under the name of "Gemco." Five sizes of irons were made, being four pounds, six pounds, nine pounds, twelve pounds and twenty pounds. The last couple of sizes were for tailors. The four pound iron was the one that was made the most. They used only a small amount of current. More next week.

KBC MINUTE

The KBC board met Monday July 19 for their regular board meeting.

New Business was Jimmy Asher was there to ask permission to do some work on the ball diamond below the hill. He stated what they would like to do and that he would be happy to draw up the plan and present it to the board. Bob made a motion to allow them to draw up a plan and bring it to the next meeting.

Shelly then updated everyone on the Food Pantry and introduced Rose Broyles who will be the Director. She has been working with Love Inc and already knows the ins and outs of the pantry. A board consisting of 3 KBC members and 3 W.A.M.A. members were named as the Food Pantry Board. They are Rosemary Zeller, Janice Jordan, Mark Davis, Kathy Newton, Nathan Ratcliff, Bob Bothast.

Minutes were reviewed and an amendment was made. Minutes were then approved.

Financial report was reviewed and motion made to allow the bills and reported approved.

Bob and Luellyn gave a short review on the Preservation Fund.

Ron reported on the tree removal. The big tree in the front of the building should be down by the first of August.

On Hold: Electrical area in the back of building, compressor pump Annual report is being printed. Made $403.00 at the festival fundraiser selling apple dumplings.

Denny presented a check from the USS Salamonie men for use of the building.

Next meeting will be August 16 at 5:30 at the center.

SIGMA PHI

Beta Delta Chapter of Sigma Phi Gamma International Sorority met for their regular meeting at the Knight-Bergman Center on July 6, 2010. Susan Ralston, president, called the meeting to order with everyone residing the pledge. Roll call was answered by 'have you ever been to Washington, DC?' The thought for the month was 'July is National Pickle month.... try whipping up a batch!' Carol Irick, recording secretary, read minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Suzette Gephart, treasurer, gave the financial reports. Correspondence was read from the Province Officers and it was announced that the Alpha Province picnic will be at Hartford City at Founder's Park on August 28, 2010. Susan Ralston, president, thanked everyone for their cooperation the last two years of her office. New officers will take over in September. Chaplain, Beth Ostermeyer, closed the meeting with prayer.

Sondra Zabel thanked the chapter for sending her to International Convention in Denver, CO. and she gave her report. She received her 25 year membership there. Rosemary Zeller, also received her 50 year membership this year. Cake and fruit were served in their honor.

Those present for the evening were: Sandy Booher, Claudia Boxell, Opal Brubaker, Sandy Eichhorn, Sharon Gebhart, Suzette Gephart, Carol Irick, Tara Korporal, Beth Ostermeyer, Jenny Plummer, Kathy Ralston, Susan Ralston, Sondra Zabel and Rosemary Zeller.

CONCERT SERIES

The LaFontaine Arts Council's Summer Concert Series will again be held at the Historic Forks of the Wabash in Huntington. All the concerts will take place on Tuesdays at 6:30 P.M. at the Forks. In the event of rain, the concerts will move to Heritage Hall at Hiers Park.

The New Millenium Jazz Orchestra will perform on Tuesday, August 3, at 6:30 p.m. The New Millennium Jazz Orchestra consists of 18 of the best jazz musicians in Fort Wayne. It's members include many of the Fort Wayne area high school and junior high band directors and professors of music in the IPFW School of Music. Easily the best jazz orchestra in the Fort Wayne area and beyond, this fine orchestra plays a full array of big band music. Dan Heath joins the band in providing vocals for the great Sinatra and Bobby Darin hits.

The setting along the Wabash River, combined with the sounds of this summer's roster of talented artists, is sure to lure a receptive audience of music lovers to the venue. We feel fortunate to offer our community big name bands in our own backyard!

The lineup of entertainment scheduled for the remainder of this summer's concert series is:

The New Millenium Jazz Orchestra - Tuesday, August 3, 6:30 P.M.

BackWater Band - Tuesday, August 17, 6:30 P.M.

Concessions will be available for purchase during the concerts. The concerts are free to the public. A freewill offering is taken after each concert. Proceeds from that are directed toward "Arts in Education" series of annual programming sponsored by the LaFontaine Arts Council. The curriculum features a wide range of presentations, including the Ft. Wayne Philharmonic Educational Ensembles. All Huntington County students in grades K-12 encounter a facet of the "Arts in Education" programming.

Attendees are encouraged to bring a blanket or chair and take time to listen to the sounds of the Wabash River and the songs of the talented entertainers. We hope to welcome you to the Forks!

Questions about the concerts can be directed to Debbie Dyer, 358.0055 or 356.8874.

SHUMAN FAMILY

SCHOLARSHIP

The Huntington County Community Foundation would like to announce that local students Kourtney Brubaker, Nicole Shaw, Taylor Foley, Paige Huff, Ian White, and Ellen Wolf have been awarded Mr. Charles & Wilma (Sanger) Shuman Family Scholarships.

Kourtney Brubaker, a graduating senior of Huntington North High School, will be attending Anderson University, majoring in Education. She is the daughter of Rick and Rhonda Brubaker, Warren. BE A NICE PERSON? DARE TO BE DIFFERENT!

by V Neil Wyrick
Big cities are different than small towns. I should know. I have lived in both of them. There is something about concrete canyons and rush hour traffic (I don't know why they call it rush hour since most rush hour traffic is hardly moving) that squeezes niceness out of people and leaves an unattractive residue behind.

You just don't hear the words "thank you" as often and usually not as many reasons to say "thank you." "Please" is buried with the dinosaurs. Smiles don't break out across sullen faces. There are exceptions, of course, but on a percentage basis small towns win out going away.

Eventually someone will slow down and let one out into traffic but the battle to beat out the stop lights is just too big a temptation. Go with the flow and don't let anyone else in is too often than the selfish mantra.

Am I momentarily a victim of a "raving syndrome?" Am I writing this so at least a few more people may stop and think about others before themselves? Am I a dreamer who believes in the ultimate goodness of people if some would slow down and take the time to find their better selves.

A question to carry this a bit further. If you do say something nice will the people you compliment be left speechless? Most likely, because people don't compliment each other very often in big or small cities. They would rather wait until a person is dead and then stand around at the cemetery saying what a great person they were.

Dare to be different. Dare, this very day, to do nothing more than walk up to a friend and say, "Thank you."

I'm serious. Look around right now, and pick out someone you've known, loved and appreciated for years and walk up to them and say, "Thank you, Louis; Thank you, Bruce; Thank you, Jean; Thank you, Jane..." "Just for being you."

Think how wonderful it will be to have such words of love and appreciation echoing all around. And just don't think about it – lovingly, considerately, outgoingly. DO IT!

And oh yes...name why..."For being such a good friend" "For setting such a good example for me to live by" "For the good deeds I know you do all the time"...etc. be original, creative...it shouldn't be that hard...for certainly you can think of something to think everyone and anyone for at least once.

When you do it I will say thank you for the richness of these two little words to someone's life. Thank you...thank you...thank you...

You think it's a good idea but you would be too embarrassed. Too embarrassed to say something nice? Are you too embarrassed to sometimes say something mean? To speak out in anger? Why then, is it so hard to be nice?

Actually, if you can't speak it...write it. The Postal Service is still alive and delivering.

Big town or small town, niceness is sunshine and sunshine is light and warmth and wonderful to walk in and with. So be a sunbeam. Radiate like a rainbow. Why not? Had you rather be a thunder cloud while raining on everyone else's parade?

I can guarantee, even if you don't explain why you said something nice, whoever received your praise will feel good all the rest of the day because you made it obvious they have been a good and positive influence in your life.

I know that rude, crude and forgetful are in, but be nice anyway and if you already are ...then be nicer.

Be nice, even if you have built up a reputation for being grumpy. Smile, even when you don't feel like it.

Dare to be different.

STORM'S A BREWIN'

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley

The storm is a brewing and it is not in the Caribbean; it is in your head. That storm has caused our thoughts to blow wildly in every direction and they become a vicious cycle that plays havoc with our head, homes and our families.

Have you ever lost your wallet and began searching for it in a frenzy? You know this feeling of not being in control and running around. The Frenzy started before you lost your wallet. The frenzy is the reason you lost your wallet in the first place. That frenzy is the storm in your head. My goal is to teach you how to calm this storm before it destroys your life and home.

I can give you all the tools to calm the storm on the outside but if you have not controlled your thoughts you are not going to feel the peace that comes with your routines. In fact you may even sabotage that peace because it feels so strange. After all we have prided ourselves in being able to juggle many balls at one time. This is not virtue; it is a cover up so that no one will really know what is going on inside your head. You think this makes you look organized when really it is only making you look like you have it all together so no one will question you.

That storm that is going on in our brains is fueled with self-doubt, perfectionism, guilt, martyrdom and shame. We are not prepared to deal with this storm so we ignore it. In fact it feels normal to us. We have always been this way. We have pushed and pushed trying to do more and more and all we ever do is get further behind and racing to catch up. We have to stop the race and off of the track to be able to see what we are going to ourselves.

Back to that wallet being lost; that frenzy we are in causes us to make many mistakes. It is only after we stop ourselves that we are able to find it right in front of our own eyes. We had been overlooking it because when that frenzy takes over our heads we lose our senses. We can't think, we don't see, we are not listening and we are on guard that no one knows this is happening to us. It is our perfectionism once again but this was happening before you lost the wallet.

When I start feeling this way I have learned to recognize it pretty fast. I have my routines in place to prevent this from happening to me. Occasionally this feeling will come up. Now when I am feeling like I don't know what to do next. I stop all that I am doing and spend 5 minutes making a plan. It is when I am not prepared that this feeling happens. I take those 5 short minutes and take my foot off my accelerator and quit fueling the storm. When you remove the fuel the storm or fire will go out. HEY we can think straight instead of a vicious cycle of swirling thoughts.

I want you to begin to experience moments of calm so that when you are in a frenzy you will know how to get back to that moment and use it to quiet the raging winds and waves that are causing you to lose your mind. Be Still and the peace will come. Quiet your mind by sitting down. The more you get in a hurry the worse the feeling is going to be. Slow down and set a priority to what has to be done. Do one thing at a time! Not 15 things. You can do this.

We have to get back to why you are in this frenzy in the first place though. Establishing simple routines is going to help you be prepared for the storm when it does come. Find your QUIET place! Take a time out for you to calm yourself and focus on what needs to be done next; Not the 15 things that are spinning in your brain. This is what you do with your quiet time; prioritize those 15 things on a piece of paper and then you have a plan. Start with first things first and move down your list. The five minutes you spend in your quiet place will calm this storm and give you the tools to stop the wind from blowing to the land of CHAOS and Frenzy.

Are you ready to FLY with a plan for preparedness in any storm of life?

SPRINGFIELD AT FAIR

He told fans "don't talk to strangers," but fairgoers might want to avoid this Aussie singer's advice and spread the word about the free Rick Springfield concert presented by the Hoosier Lottery Aug. 12 at the Indiana State Fair.

Springfield, who scored 17 Top 40 hits, including "Jessie's Girl," "Human Touch" and "Don't Talk to Strangers," will perform at 7 p.m. at the Hoosier Lottery Grandstand. The show is free with paid admission to the fair. Some people may remember Springfield from his role as Dr. Noah Drake on the soap opera "General Hospital," but most still know him as the power-pop superstar that has sold 19 million albums. He continues to perform more than 100 energized shows each year and has a recurring role on Showtime's "Californication."

Tickets are also still available for previously announced State Fair concerts, including Rascal Flatts with special guest Kellie Pickler (Aug. 7), KISS (Aug. 9), Chris Tomlin and TobyMac (Aug. 11), Drake with special guests New Boyz and Iyaz (Aug. 13), Keith Urban with special guest Kris Allen (Aug. 14), Selena Gomez & The Scene (Aug. 15), comedian Jeff Dunham (Aug. 18) and Sugarland with special guest Little Big Town (Aug. 20). For tickets to those shows, contact the Indiana State Fairgrounds Box Office at (317) 927-7601 or visit www.indianastatefair.com.

About Indiana State Fair

The Indiana State Fair is the state's largest multi-day event attracting more than 900,000 people annually. Nationally recognized for offering the best in entertainment, showcasing youth, interactive agriculture education programs, premiere facilities and a variety of unique, fun foods, the Indiana State Fair has been an annual tradition for generations of Hoosiers since 1852. Admission is $7 in advance, $8 at the gate - kids 5 and younger are free. For more information, please visit www.indianastatefair.com.

BRING A BREATH OF FRESH AIR INTO YOUR HOME

By Lynn O'Rourke Hayes For NewsUSA

(NewsUSA) - There's nothing quite like a breath of fresh air, yet people spray "fresh air" scent around their homes instead of simply opening a window. Rather than put artificial air fresheners to work in your home, choose natural or organic elements to keep your home smelling sweet and clean.

Here are a few ideas:

* Out with the bad. In with the good. Remove items like old food and smelly socks as quickly as possible, so they don't have time to stink up the place. Then, bring in the good air. It may seem obvious, but opening the windows allows fresh air flow through your home.

* Flower power. Fresh flowers add color, beauty and sweet smells to the home. Whether cut or potted, blossoms and roses create pleasant fragrances.

* Baking soda. Store an open box in your refrigerator. Tuck a small bowl of baking soda in bathrooms, closets or storage rooms. Sprinkle it on carpets, wait ten minutes, and then vacuum odors away.

* Manage pet odors. Keep your home clean and your pets healthy by using all-natural products. Cat litters, such as World's Best Cat Litter (www.worldsbestcatlitter.com), use all-natural ingredients like whole-kernel corn to control odors and provide easy clean-up.

* Stove top fragrance. Forget potpourri. Simmer lemons, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves on the stove to create a warm fragrance that's particularly appealing in winter months.

* Lovely lemons. Toss lemons into your garbage disposal to remove unfriendly fragrances from your kitchen.

* House plants help. Potted houseplants like ferns, spider plants and lady palms remove volatile organic compounds, which are found in paint and plastics, and carbon dioxide from the air. Plants also release moisture and oxygen. And of course, they add a rich green backdrop for your other possessions.

* Essential oils. Tuck lavender-soaked cotton balls into your drawers. Spritz a mix of water and lemon oil throughout your home. Just a few drops of these sweet-smelling oils can be added to organic potpourri or a hot bath to soothe the senses.

* Baker's delight. Who doesn't love the sweet smell of cookies baking in the kitchen? As an added bonus, the whole family can enjoy the warm treats when they emerge from the oven.

Save on Your Taxes

(NewsUSA) - Some major tax breaks included in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) and the Worker, Homeownership and Business Assistance Act passed last year are expiring for 2010, including the First-time Homebuyer credit, new vehicle credit and unemployment deduction and government retiree credit. However, many credits will again be available for 2010 federal returns -; the Making Work Pay, American Opportunity, additional child, expanded earned income and home energy improvement credits are among them.

"Certain credits and deductions require advanced planning in order to get the maximum tax benefit. Although it may seem really early to start tax planning for next year, it's a smart move that could save you thousands.," explains Jessi Dolmage, spokeswoman for Second Story Software, the makers of TaxACT.

A few easy steps will help you avoid missing out on credits and deductions, and minimize your tax liability.

First, familiarize yourself with both acts by visiting www.IRS.gov. An entire section of the website is dedicated to the ARRA, and additional information and a Making Work Pay Calculator are available at www.TaxACT.com/recovery-act.

Second, get organized. Put all tax records in one secure place, including receipts and statements related to:

- * Child and dependent care
- * College expenses
- * Medical expenses
- * Vehicle taxes
- * Real estate taxes and mortgage interest
- * Charitable contributions
- * Business or employee expenses
- * Investments and retirement contributions
- * Energy-efficiency property expenses

* Expenses related to job searches

Sort documents by topic to easily access the information when working on related deductions and credits. In addition, include a copy of your 2009 tax return for reference and comparison. If you plan to e-file, you'll need it for your 2009 Adjusted Gross Income or Self-select Personal Identification Number.

Third, start your 2010 federal tax return in October and create your year-end tax plan with the preview versions of TaxACT. Starting your federal return early will save time when you're ready to file, reduce errors (because you won't be rushing), and find all your deductions and credits.

Dolmage explains, "Whether you typically do your own taxes or have never done them, a solution like TaxACT Online Free Federal Edition will show you exactly how these tax law changes will affect your 2010 return. Choose a step-by-step interview or complete the IRS forms yourself, at your own pace. Either way, TaxACT will help you capitalize on the acts and estimate your refund amount or taxes owed."

GOING BACK TO COLLEGE?

Chase your passion, not a paycheck

(ARA) - Given current economic conditions, it's no surprise that many people are considering going back to college either to pursue a more advanced degree in their field or to change fields altogether.

There is a process you can follow to be smart about returning to college. The first thing to do is spend more time thinking about your interests than you do thinking about money. That sounds counterintuitive, but returning to college has to be about more than chasing a paycheck. It's been said that if you love what you do, you will never work a day in your life. So finding and following your passion is time well spent.

Seth Saunders, president of South University in Virginia Beach, offers the following advice. "Enrolling in college should not be a decision entered into lightly. Too often, people begin college only to drop out later. College represents a significant investment in time and money, so start wisely, and conduct a thorough self-assessment."

If you are not sure where your passion would take you, let alone what it may be, then sit down with pen and paper and make a list of the following: things you like to do in your free time, different talents or skills that come easily to you, people whom you admire, subject areas and classes you enjoyed while growing up, topics you relish reading about and people you prefer to be around. The answers you provide to these questions will sharpen your focus. For a small fee, you can take the Myers-Briggs Assessment online and have the results analyzed to ensure that your interests are in line with your personality.

After you have identified a career path that not only uses some of your strengths but also engages you in the type of activity and thinking that you most enjoy, meet and interview people currently working in that field. In some cases, they may let you shadow someone in their business. As you evaluate your options, consider both the positive and the less attractive aspects of the desired industry. For instance, if you like helping people, you might be inclined toward healthcare, but think about how you will respond to sick or sad people on a daily basis.

Finally, it's important to determine what you are willing to sacrifice in order to return to college. So ask yourself: Can I devote the time and energy necessary to be a successful college student? Will I set priorities, budget my time and money and impose discipline in my life?

"It can be overwhelming at first, but once you establish a routine, with ample time to prepare for and attend classes, this new regimen will become second nature, and the organizational skills you gain through higher education will serve you well in your career," says Saunders.

LAYAWAY LETS BUYERS PLAN

AHEAD FOR PURCHASES -

FROM BACK-TO-SCHOOL

SEASON TO THE HOLIDAYS

(ARA) - In decades gone by, layaway was a staple for budget-conscious customers in retail stores across the country, but its popularity waned as credit cards became more available and consumers sought alternate finance methods to buy clothing and necessities. With household budgets tighter than ever due to the recent recession, layaway is once again emerging as a viable shopping tool.

The holiday season is typically the time of year that most people shop ahead, however, many consumers are now taking advantage of layaway year round at retailers like Kmart and Sears. Whether shopping for a wedding gift, a baby shower gift or any other incremental spending occasion, layaway allows people to manage and stick to a budget.

Back-to-school is another peak shopping occasion where using layaway can be beneficial. For parents, who want to plan and budget ahead, layaway is the perfect vehicle for purchasing the latest back-to-school essentials, such as backpacks, sneakers, school supplies and electronics. And for those who stick to a monthly budget, paying for items gradually can make planning a lot easier. Plus, it allows for other budget additions - like contributing a bit more to the family savings account each month.

For busy consumers who rarely have time to shop or take advantage of layaway, websites like Kmart.com and Sears.com offer online layaway programs. Consumers can simply add items to a virtual shopping cart, schedule and make payments online, then quickly pick up their layaway in-store, hassle-free. Even with the economy on the upswing, many consumers are hesitant to revert back to old spending habits and in most cases have changed how they approach shopping forever; thus, retailers have had to get more creative in order to lure consumers back to shopping. Layaway, it turns out, has value for both - retailers can turn a profit, and customers can stick to their budgets.

kid it was hard to realize it.

A friend visiting us gave me a recipe for a soup that is quite good and easy to make and can be eaten warm or hot so it is filling on these hot summer days.

Cabbage Soup

Brown a pound of hamburger and a diced onion, transfer this to a soup pot add 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 stalks diced celery, 1 can red beans undrained, 1 can white soup beans undrained, 3-4 cups shredded cabbage, 16 ounce can diced tomatoes or any type tomatoes, 1 can water, 4 beef bouillion cubes. Let simmer slow several hours. This could also be made in a crock pot and it also freezes well.

Enjoy, have a great week.

BONHAM REUNION

The biennial Bonham Family Reunion, descendents of Asa and Emma Thompson Bonham, was held Saturday evening, July 3, 2010, at the home of Paul and Nancy Bonham in Wells County. 53 family members of the Bonham, Shafer, and Laymon heritage from all over the country were present for the week-end get-together. We missed the George and Ruth Jones family from Arizona and Tennessee.

On Sunday afternoon, July 4th, 19 of the men, of all ages, had a fire-cracker time golfing at Dogwood Glen. Mark Laymon arranged the outing, and had many surprises thrown into the afternoon.

We are all looking forward to the next Bonham Reunion on July 4th weekend, 2012, with even more of the family able to attend.
