Thought for the Week: To err is human--and to blame it on a computer is even more so. Robert Orben

QUARTET TO PERFORM

The Unclouded Day Vocal Quartet will present their unique vocal stylings at the Heritage Pointe Retirement Community on Sunday Afternoon, September 10, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

As part of Heritage Pointe's concert series, the eight-member ensemble plans to present a program of contemporary vocal settings of traditional and gospel songs and hymns, as well as several instrumental features.

Unclouded Day is proud to have a their piano accompanist, Dr. Alexander Klepach, 1986 Graduate of the Moscow Tchaikovsky Conservatory. His wife, Olga, also a Tchaikovsky Conservatory Graduate, and Alex serve as Principal Players in the Fort Wayne Philharmonic and perform duo-concert throughout the U.S. Alexander and Olga will be featured within the program.

Unclouded Day is accompanied by piano, violin, bass, drums and brass instruments. The ensemble will present a 75-minute vocal and instrumental program - expect to hear many of your favorite traditional hymns such as Amazing Grace, This Little Light of Mine, Because He Lives, God Bless America and How Great Thou Art offered in unique, contemporary arrangements!

Plan to attend and enjoy Unclouded Day's inspirational program in Heritage Pointe's beautiful campus Chapel. The ensemble is looking forward to singing for you!

FESTIVAL THANK YOU

Thank you to this amazing community! Now that things have slowed down and I have had time to reflect on the 50th Anniversary of the Salamonie Summer Festival, here is my report. When I was first asked to co-chair the festival I said no. However, I took a step back and understood that it was the 50th anniversary and I really wanted to help make it special, so I accepted the position and was bound and determined to make it the best festival ever! With the help of LITERALLY hundreds of volunteers putting in thousands of hours of preparation, planning, and hard work and the generous donations of sponsorship's from dozens of businesses it was definitely one to remember! I would just like to give a final report on how everything ended up. The Festival Committee started with $5000 in the bank last fall. Warren Health and Fitness and its' sponsors donated approximately $25,000 to the 50th Anniversary. $9000 of that being raised between two benefit dinners to double the fireworks display. WHF and sponsors also paid for all of the marketing (banners, signage, TV Ads, radio commercials, newspaper ads, digital brochures and paper brochure). The rodeo cost the festival approx. $23,000 and brought in approx. $11,000 in ticket sales. The concert cost approx. $14,500 and brought in approx. $12,000 in ticket sales. The fireworks were $18,000. All total with marketing our budget was approximately $90,000. We are very proud to say that the festival committee ended with over $20,000 in the bank for the future.

With all the expenses for the WAR games and the donations that we made to the 50th Anniversary festival it has put a strain on Warren Health and Fitness's budget, we believe it was well worth it and WHF's mission was accomplished therefore, I have resigned from the festival committee to focus all of my energy on Warren Health and Fitness's mission, which is dedicated to improving the quality of human life and to helping all people realize their fullest potential as children of God, through mental, physical, and spiritual development. I am excited to continue helping Warren Health and Fitness be the change we want to see in the world.

Thank you & May God Continue to Bless Warren

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

It has been up and down weather days, I suppose it is to be expected if you are a Hoosier. I have been trying to start cleaning up the flower beds as this time of year they begin to look pretty shabby.

The ground is so dry that digging out anything is near impossible so I am hoping to get some showers to loosen up the soil so I can remove some over grown things.

This was the time of year my dad always wanted help cleaning up the vegetable gardens, soon as mom had everything from there canned up and stored away in the basement or as we called it the cellar. Cleaning up the garden was always a chore but the reward was getting to have a big fire to burn the rubbish and a nice time for an outdoor picnic with a hot dog roast with goodies mom made special for it which was potato salad made with fresh dug potatoes, sliced tomatoes, fresh dug carrots and whatever else was available. The evening was topped off with either nice chocolate made from scratch or her famous peanut butter cookies. Either way we sure went to bed that night with a full tummy and memories of a fun time of telling stories and hearing the scary screams of the ole bob cat and the other critters that lived down along Loon Creek. We were never too afraid as long as our trusty Queenie dog was at our side and she was as anxious as we kids were to have the cook out and get her share of the food.

Mom's recipe for Peanut Butter Cookies

1 cup peanut butter, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup butter, 3 cups flour, 2 teaspoon soda. Combine the butter and sugars, add in eggs then dry ingredients. Form into balls the size of a walnut, place in lightly greased bake sheet and press down each with fork to slightly flatten. Bake 350 about 10 minutes. Sure was good with fresh cows milk.

AREA NEWS

PANCAKES FOR LOVE

We were made aware of a Christian Family from our area unable to have children of their own. Because there is an abundance of love and desire to raise children – adoption has become the goal.

Since adoption cost can run between $30,000-$40,000 for a domestic child a Benefit Pancake and Sausage Breakfast (called pancakes for LOVE) will be held to help defray the cost. The Breakfast will be held on Sept. 16th, 2017 from 7:30-10:30 AM at the Mt Etna United Methodist Church.

The church is located at the corners for State Roads 9 and 124 in Mt Etna, IN. This will be a Freewill donation breakfast and carry outs will be available.

Come hungry this is for a worthwhile cause. You will be helping a child find a home.

If you have any questions or unable to come and would like to make a donation, please call: 260-366-7533

FINANCIAL PEACE

Warren First Baptist Church is pleased to announce that they are once again offering the Dave Ramsey course titled Financial Peace.

The course is coordinated by Richard Hinton and will be held starting Sunday, September 17th from 8:00am to 9:45am and Wednesday, September 20th from 7:00pm to 8:30pm. The course will conclude November 12th and 15th. Class size is limited to the first 12 families/couples. There is a small fee to cover materials.

The prior 9 week course had 35 people enrolled with 13 families/couples. Those attending found the course was very rewarding, a learning experience, especially the individual sessions about setting up a budget, getting rid of debt, and making good investments. Child care services are available for free and refreshments will also be available. Contact Richard Hinton by email at richardhinton46@yahoo.com, by cell phone at 260-358-7188 or leave a message with the church office by phone at 260-375-2811.

The class will be located at the First Baptist Church of Warren, address is 727 N Wayne St, Warren, IN.

SANCTUARY CELEBRATION

Dillman Church, a member of the United Brethren in Christ denomination and located at 8888 S 1100 W-90 in Warren, IN, has undergone an extensive sanctuary renovation and welcomes the public to a Dedication Service and Open House on Sunday, September 10, 2017. The Dedication Service begins at 9 am. Todd Feters, Bishop of the United Brethren in Christ, will give a brief dedication message and prayer. Pastor Matt Kennedy will then speak on the future of Dillman Church and its involvement in the Southern Wells community. Following the service, at 11 am, a community Open House and Celebration begins with a hog roast lunch, bouncy house, dunk tank and other outdoor games and activities for the whole family.

Changes to the sanctuary include expansion of the blueprint to include seating for 200+ people. Movable chairs will make the space adaptable for things like an open area for children's programming or the inclusion of tables for small conferences. New carpet and lighting have been added, along with new audio-visual capabilities. The sanctuary renovation is the first major renovation of the sanctuary since it was repaired after a storm in 1948. "The goal of this renovation is more than just modernization," says Pastor Matt Kennedy. "With the changes that have been made, we are equipped for future growth in order that we might meet the needs of both today's and tomorrow's generations and better serve the surrounding community for many years to come."

Dillman Church was established in 1889 and the sanctuary dedicated on December 22 of that year with Bishop Milton Wright (father of famous aviation duo Orville and Wilbur Wright). In 1907, the structure was remodeled and included the installation of new flooring and roof as well as the rebuilding of the pulpit platform. A dedication service for that remodeling was held on November 3, 1907. In 1955, a basement and new entrance were added to the building, as well as a new indoor restroom. An extension that included a fellowship hall, kitchen facilities and restrooms was added in 1977. Classroom space and church offices were added on in the mid 1990s.

About Dillman Church: The mission of Dillman Church is to Become the People of God on the Mission of God. Weekly worship service time is at 9 am every Sunday morning. Following the worship service are programming for children and youth, as well as a gathering for adults called Sermon Sequel – a time of discussion that allow interaction about the messages, including questions and application. Music is contemporary, dress is casual, and relationships are genuine at Dillman Church. For more information about Dillman Church, visit www.dillmanchurch.org.

GETTING READY FOR BABY

For most women expecting the birth of their first child, life is suddenly filled with new questions. How should I be taking care of myself? What does a normal pregnancy look like? How do I need to prepare to bring my baby home from the hospital?

Fortunately, moms-to-be have a friendly, helpful resource in Angela Swanson, the birth planner and lactation consultant at Parkview Huntington Hospital's Family Birthing Center (FBC). Swanson can help each mom-to-be learn about the phases of her pregnancy, plan for her baby's delivery, and connect with resources for needed mother/baby items.

"I really encourage each woman to become informed, and to take advantage of our many options," says Swanson. "Our FBC offers free classes here at the hospital in preparing for childbirth and breastfeeding. These classes are packed with useful information, and moms can always ask questions."

Informative classes

Childbirth class not only covers what to expect with labor, delivery, and immediately after the baby is born (postpartum), but also tips in parenting a newborn and types of health screening the baby will receive before discharge from the hospital.

Breastfeeding class can be helpful, too. "We teach moms-to-be how to get off to a good start," says Swanson. "That includes positioning, latching, what's normal and what's not, and how to know if baby's getting enough milk. This can be very important for moms who are not familiar with breastfeeding. Even for women whose mothers did breastfeed and can offer advice based on personal experience, it's a good idea to attend this class, because every woman's experience is different."

Each a unique birth experience

The free classes are just the beginning. When an expectant mom chooses to have her baby at Parkview Huntington, she can also make a birth planning appointment. Swanson walks the mom-to-be through every aspect of designing her own unique birth experience.

"There's no need for a mom to settle for cookie-cutter," says Swanson. "Going through all of the details in advance and knowing what she wants well before the birth allows us to take better care of her."

That includes Mom's preferences about:

- Ways to help her relax during labor (such as dimming lights, playing soothing music, or taking a warm shower)
- Who will be in the room during the delivery
- Measures that can be used to manage pain and discomfort
- Relaxation steps following delivery (such as aromatherapy)

"We even have free Wi-Fi," says Swanson. "Or if Mom wants to make a playlist for her stay and bring her device with her, she's welcome to do that. It's about whatever is going to make her feel comfortable."

Birth planning also includes discussion of what the mom should bring to the hospital for herself and the baby, services and supplies the hospital provides, information to fill out the birth certificate, and security measures in place in the FBC so Mom can be confident her baby is safe at all times.

"Busy moms are often glad to learn that Parkview MyChart (Parkview's electronic medical record) is a great tool for connecting with their OB/GYN's office to get answers to their questions, particularly as they come to the later weeks of their pregnancy," says Swanson.

Good advice

The sooner a mom-to-be begins planning her birth experience, the fewer decisions she has to make when the baby arrives. Swanson offers this advice from her roughly 10 years as a lactation consultant and birth planner at Parkview Huntington:

- "Take classes, so you know what's normal during a typical pregnancy."
- "Explore your options so you can choose the ones that are right for you and make a plan. Don't let anyone tell you how they think your delivery should go. This is your baby and your experience."
- "Make sure you rest, and make yourself, your baby and your significant other a priority." Don't give in to the temptation to let too many people visit you in the crucial first days and weeks after baby arrives. Some women can be prone to postpartum depression, and getting worn out – especially if baby's not letting you sleep much – can make depression more likely.

Swanson says she wants moms-to-be to have the information they need to make having a baby a healthier, less stressful, and more joyful experience. After all, she's a mom, too.

CAC CALLING FOR DONATIONS

The Creative Arts Council of Wells County will hold its 31st Annual Auction on Saturday, October 14th starting at 6pm. This tailgate-themed event will take place in the lower level of the Arts, Commerce & Visitors Centre at 211 Water Street, Bluffton, Indiana. Attendees are encouraged to wear the apparel of their favorite sports team.

"This is our largest fundraiser of the year. We hope to raise enough money through silent and live auction items to sustain many upcoming arts-related activities," commented Billy Kreigh, Creative Arts Board Member and Auction Committee Chair.

Admission to this event is $40 and reservations are available through the Creative Arts office. The evening will be hosted by Mayor Ted Ellis with Jody Holloway, of Coldwell Banker Holloway, serving as auctioneer. There will be a variety of tailgate-inspired snacks, drinks and desserts for guests to enjoy during the event.

Creative Arts is currently seeking auction items from area businesses and individuals alike. "This fundraiser is a very popular tradition here in Wells County. It is also a great way for local businesses to show off their products and services. We are again asking both citizens and business owners to support us by donating an item, experience or service for this auction," commented Joel Harmeyer, Executive Director of Creative Arts.

Many live auction items available for bid this year focus on unique experiences. Auction attendees will have a chance to bid on a walk-on part with the next Wells Community Theater production, and the opportunity to host an exhibit inside the Balentine Gallery.

To donate an item for this event, contact the Creative Arts office at (260)824-5222 or by email at cac@adamswells.com.

Creative Arts is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Creative Arts acknowledges all donations with an official letter of value. Your contribution may be tax deductible.

The Creative Arts Council of Wells County's mission is to encourage, present, and promote the arts for the benefit of each individual in the community it serves.

PUT-AND-TAKE HUNTS

Reservations for put-and-take pheasant hunts on DNR properties will be accepted from 5 a.m. on Sept. 1 until midnight on Nov. 25.

In the past, reservations could be made starting at midnight on Sept. 1.

The change in start time allows DNR staff to be available when customers are online reserving hunts. This allows DNR staff to give real-time customer service if hunters have questions or problems with the process.

Put-and-take hunting reservations are selected on a first-come, first-served basis. All hunting days will start on a Saturday in mid- to late November.

Properties offering put-and-take hunts are Atterbury, Glendale, J. E. Roush Lake, Pigeon River, Tri-County, Willow Slough and Winamac fish & wildlife areas.

The cost for put-and-take hunts is $28 per person, which is non-refundable.

Put-and-take pheasant hunters must register each day of their hunt at the property office. Registration begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 3:30 p.m. local time. Put-and-take pheasant hunters may begin hunting at 9 a.m. local time.

TRAPPING CAMP

Learn to trap during a free Trapper Education Course at Salamonie Lake's interpretive center, Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

The program, hosted by property staff and Indiana conservation officers, will focus on trappers of all ages, though youth trappers are encouraged to attend. Registration is open now, and those interested should register soon. The registration deadline is Sept. 29.

The program will start at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30, with education on conservation, trapping issues, ethics and regulations. Saturday afternoon, participants will set traps under supervision.

Traps will be left overnight and checked the next morning. Furbearers caught will be used in skinning and fleshing demonstrations.

Free camping is available for all course attendees on Friday and Saturday nights at the Lost Bridge West Youth Campground, within walking distance of the interpretive center. Lunch will be provided both days. The program will end by 4:30 p.m. each day. Participants do not need a trapping license. Entrance fees will be waived for participants.

To register online, visit register-ed.com/programs/indiana. For more information, or to register by phone, call (260) 468-2127.

Participants must attend both days and complete a brief exam to receive the DNR Trapper Education Certification.

Participants may want to bring waterproof knee boots or waders and should dress for the weather.

Salamonie Lake (stateparks.IN.gov/2952.htm) is at 9214 West-Lost Bridge West, Andrews, 46702.

ONE BOOK ONE COUNTY

Throughout the months of September and October, the Wells County Public Library encourages area residents to read and discuss the same book during the One Book One County community read program. This year there are not one, but two books that have a similar theme: "A Walk in the Woods" by Bill Bryson and a kid's title that's perfect for ages 10+

"Navigating Early" by Clare Vanderpool.

Both books feature a nature theme and specifically highlight the Appalachian Trail. "A Walk in the Wood" is a comical tale of Bryson hiking the 2100-mile Appalachian Trail as a novice outdoorsman. "Navigating Early" is a fiction book for young readers that's still enjoyable for all ages. It follows Jack and Early's adventures on the Appalachian Trail as they search for a great black bear.

Stop by the Main Library in Bluffton, the Ossian Branch, or online at www.wellscolibrary.org to check out a copy of the books today. You are welcome to sign up and join us for a book discussion as well. Upcoming dates for "A Walk in the Woods" discussions are Monday, Oct. 9 from 1:30-2:30 p.m. and Thursday, Oct. 12 from 6:30-7:30 p.m. at the Main Library. A discussion at the Ossian Branch will be on Thursday, Oct. 12 from 1:30-2:30 p.m. There will also be a discussion for 5th and 6th graders of "Navigating Early" at the Main Library on Tuesday, Oct. 10 from 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Even if you don't check out the books, you are invited to join us for several nature-themed events:

Outdoor Pursuits: Saturday, Sept. 9 from 1:30-2:30 p.m. — Mark Durham will give tips and tricks for surviving the outdoors for all ages. Meet at the Quonset building at the 4-H Park.

Taxidermy Program: Tuesday, Sept. 12 from 7-8 p.m. — Robert Taylor will present a family-friendly program on the art of taxidermy at the Ossian Branch library.

Guided Hikes: Saturday, Oct. 7 from 2-3 p.m. — Indiana naturalist, Dr. Jordan Marshall, will give a guided hike through Ouabache State Park.

Local Author Night: Tuesday, Oct. 17 from 6-8 p.m. — more than 20 local authors all in one location. Keynote talk at 7 pm and visit booths throughout the event to meet authors and enjoy book-related activities for all ages at the Main Library.

Hiking the Appalachian Trail Speakers: Monday, Oct. 23 from 6:30-8:00 p.m. — Roger and Judy Summers and Jill Buskirk will all speak about their experiences hiking the Appalachian Trail.

Registration required for the events. Please sign-up at the library, call 260-824-1612, or online at www.wellscolibrary.org.
