The Chamber appreciates you representing your business on the sidewalk by providing an activity, game, or treats. If you have a storefront downtown, we are encouraging you to decorate your windows/storefront with either a lighted Harvest or Halloween theme by October 21st. We want the evening to be safe, simple, economical, and fun for everyone! A list of game ideas is available at your request. Businesses located downtown will use their own sidewalk space. We're hoping to fill all sidewalk areas with activities, so please notify Diana Ratcliff (317-874-8787) if you are unavailable that evening. If your organization is not located downtown, you are welcome to set-up a booth. For a booth space, please call 317-874-8787 and ask for Diana Ratcliff.

Street Closings: Wayne Street from 1st to 3rd Streets and part of 2nd Street will be closed from 3:30PM-8:30PM on Friday, October 28th. Although the downtown festivities will be from 6-8PM, time is needed for set-up and tear down.

Please join the Chamber in giving the children and adults of our community an unforgettable evening of family-friendly fun and community fellowship.

We're also encouraging all organizations and homeowners to decorate a SCARECROW for the festival. If you're a chef at heart, enter or CHILI COOK-OFF! Please dress in Harvest or Halloween attire to "Keep the Theme".

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

WHEN I TALK WITH JESUS

In the stillness of the morning,
 Before daily tasks I tend,
 Is when I talk with Jesus
 My Master, Counselor, Friend.

When the duties of the forenoon
 Have made my spirits weak
 It's then I pause a moment
 For strength from Him I seek.

Sometimes when I am busiest
 At the closing of the day
 When earthly tasks have filled my thoughts
 I've found no time to pray.

It's then that Jesus whispers
 In that voice so soft and sweet.
 Then I know that though I stumble
 My Christ and I still meet.

Our talks, I feel, are precious
 For no other one I'd tell
 About the things that trouble me,
 But He answers "All is well."

Then I feel His mighty power
 Guiding me through all my strife
 And before I know what's happened
 He has brightened up my life.

He shares my joyous hours
 For when I know not what to say,
 Again I feel His presence
 And again I want to pray.

In the sunshine or the shadows,
 In the daytime or the night,
 Where'er I go to Jesus
 He makes everything just right.

I pray everyone come's to know Christ as their Savior!

Time Past... by Mary Jane Marvo

Perhaps some of you never realized that we actually had a mountain in Warren. It was a fantastic mountain and we had our own playground around the mountain with lots trees, bushes and under growth. It was a childhood paradise.

Yes, if you lived in the east end of town, right back of the school, just off College Street was our mountain. Evidently, the town was going to build a street which would have gone down toward the school ground probably ending up at the side of the school, and maybe going to uptown. The street never happened and we got our mountain because the material was dumped to create it.

Little did any one know what they did for kids in the east end of town.

We had many places to play hide and seek. After going to the movies and seeing Tarzan and Jane swing through out the jungle on vines, we tried it. Mother Nature made our trees around the mountain with sturdy vines, and swing we did and without injury.

In the winter time we would get our cardboard, or if you had a sled (cardboard was good especially if you hit a bush or tree), down we would go, bush or tree we didn't care it was so much fun.

Where the school ground is today, it was over grown with weeds and many flowering poppies, they made it so you didn't notice that there were weeds.

Our mountain does not exist anymore, but we remember the fun we had in our little paradise Time Past.

November 23, 1945 the headlines in the Warren Tribune read: "Small town beats big city basketball team." Warren traveled to Huntington on Wednesday evening, November 21, 1945 and brought home the game by a score of 32 to 29. It was a thriller all the way, finally ending in overtime. The boys fought hard for their victory and they deserved it. The game was played at Community gym, Huntington.

Warren team players were Jimmy Harold, Bob Mossburg, Harold Brauchla, Richard Bonham, Louis Shafer, Paul Bonham, Dick Stroup, Bob Pond, Rich Douglas, Dessel Beavans and Tom Laymon, manager Charles Perry and coach Pally Wright.

The first quarter ended---Huntington 9 and Warren 6; second quarter ---Huntington 16 and Warren 9; third quarter---Huntington 22 and Warren 20 and the fourth quarter---Huntington 29 and Warren 29. Harold Brauchla was high point man during the game. Richard Bonham made the basket that tied the score and also the basket that won the game. It was almost like winning the county tourney.

related medical concerns, and the importance of planning and decision making.

- Finances can cause some degree of insecurity throughout life--and the senior years are no exception. Be sure to know the details behind your savings and pension plans to avoid unwanted surprises, and know that you're receiving their full benefits.

- Medicine can play a significant role in the aging process. Be sure you are using it properly, and are not unknowingly putting yourself at risk for harmful interactions. Also be sure to take all medications at the proper dosage and correct time increments.

- Getting older doesn't necessarily mean being less active. Put your knowledge and skills to good use by volunteering--or expand your education.

- Healthy aging includes enjoying recreational activities and being able to take advantage of certain benefits that come with getting older--but it's not just about a dollar or two off at the movies. Time is the one thing nobody can stop, and certain changes are inevitable as the years move on. Knowing where to go for information you can trust and what to expect can help you transition to and make the most of later stages of life.

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

October is Breast Cancer Awareness month, an important reminder of one of the leading causes of death in women. If caught early enough, breast cancer can be treated, but there is still no cure for this disease that will affect 1 in 8 women every year. Join the breast cancer fight and use these resources from USA.gov to help spread the word:

- Breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women in the United States, preceded only by lung cancer. Breast self-exams and mammograms are very important to help find breast cancer early, when it is most treatable. Mammograms are x-rays that help find tumors and tell the difference between healthy and cancerous tissue.

- It is important to be checked for breast and cervical cancer no matter what else is going on in your life. If you are busy, or having financial problems, the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (NBCCEDP), provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), provides free or low-cost breast and cervical cancer screening services to women in all 50 states, as well as some U.S. territories and Native American tribes. You can also find a NBCCEDP screening provider near you.

- Breast and Cervical Cancer Prevention and Treatment Programs (BCCPT) through Medicaid are available to eligible women diagnosed with breast or cervical cancer through the state NBCCEDP screening program. You may be eligible even if you have a higher income. For more information or to apply, contact your state medicaid office.

CROP MATURITY DELAYED

Farmers are hoping for a stretch of dry weather and sunshine to help their crops. They are anxiously waiting to harvest their corn and soybeans. Most area fields are not yet ready for harvest due to delayed planting this spring.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Crop and Weather Report for Sept. 25 showed that 50% of corn had reached maturity and 61% of soybeans were shedding leaves statewide for Indiana. These figures are below the five-year averages of 62% for corn and 71% for soybeans for this calendar date.

So, how does a farmer know if a field of corn has reached maturity? The Purdue Extension Corn & Soybean Field Guide explains that a black layer will form at the base of a split kernel. The average grain moisture content at this stage is 30% although it can average between 25% and 40%.

Soybean maturity occurs when plants are shedding leaves and pods change from a green to a gray color.

Delayed maturity of the corn crop will likely mean that drying costs will be much higher than last year. An Ohio State Extension Crop Specialist, Barry Ward, explained that in most cases the dry-down for corn moisture this year will be from 5 to 10%.

The later in the season the corn reaches maturity, the less time farmers have before weather conditions prevent further dry-down in the field, and the more mechanical drying will be necessary.

"We're looking at dry-down costs of upwards of 40-cents per bushel," Ward said. "If we assume 150 bushel per acre corn, that means a per acre cost of $63, when compared to a normal year that might only be a $17 per acre cost."

Ward based his calculations on a liquefied propane cost of $2 per gallon, and said the good news for farmers anticipating higher moisture coming out of the field is that the price of LP appears fairly steady this season.

In a recent article, Bob Nielsen, Purdue Extension Agronomist, noted that corn hybrids often dry down at different rates after reaching maturity.

Warmer temperatures and lower humidity encourage rapid field drying of corn grain. However, Nielsen said that hybrids can vary in the pace of dry down when weather conditions are not ideal. He discussed that two hybrids that differ by one "day" of relative maturity will typically vary by about one half percentage point of grain moisture content (an average daily loss of moisture) if planted and harvested on the same days.

Nielsen's article is called "Field Drydown of Mature Corn Grain" and it can be found at this web site: <http://www.agry.purdue.edu/ext/corn/news/timeless/GrainDrying.html>.

EARLY ARCHERY SEASON

Indiana's 2011 deer season begins with the opening day of early archery, Oct. 1.

Hunters must possess a valid deer hunting, youth, lifetime comprehensive hunting, or apprentice deer hunting license to legally pursue deer. Hunter education is required for anyone born after Dec. 31, 1986; however, individuals of any age may buy an apprentice license without having to take hunter education provided they are hunting with a licensed mentor. Individuals are limited to three apprentice hunting licenses in their lifetime.

Legal archery equipment includes longbows, compound bows and recurve bows. A bow must have a minimum draw weight of 35 pounds. Arrows must be tipped with broadheads that are metal, metal-edged, or napped flint, chert or obsidian.

Crossbows are not legal for use in the early season, but are legal in the late season, Dec. 3 - Jan. 1.

"Last year archery deer hunters harvested approximately 28,000 deer," said Mitch Marcus, wildlife section chief. "Providing the weather cooperates and deer hunters take to the field, this should prove to be another great deer hunting season."

Hunters should stay safe in the field by following basic tree-stand safety rules.

"Hunters should always wear a harness and have three points of contact with the tree during their ascent and descent," said Lt. Bill Browne, DNR Law Enforcement. "Falling from a tree stand accounts for a large percentage of hunting related accidents and is totally preventable."

"Don't fall asleep. If you feel drowsy, move your arms and splash water on your face until feeling alert."

Anyone with questions regarding deer hunting rules, regulations and safety should consult the Indiana 2011-2012 Deer Hunting Guide at hunting.IN.gov.

CPR TRAINING

Cardiovascular disease is the number one killer of people over the age of 45 and is a risk factor in sudden cardiac arrest, killing over 300,000 every year. However, many of these deaths could have been prevented. That's why the American Red Cross and Indiana Michigan Power have joined forces to bring you The Power to Save a Life, a special Hands-Only CPR training event that will be held on Saturday, October 8, 2011 at Glenbrook Square Mall. Two 45-minute training sessions will be offered free to the public at 11:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome, but due to space limitations, preference will be given to those who register in advance. At The Power to Save a Life, qualified CPR instructors will teach you how to recognize an emergency, call for help, and perform Hands-Only or Compression CPR.

"Knowing how to perform Hands-Only CPR is an essential life skill that everyone needs," according to Kay Ostrum, Executive Director, American Red Cross. "Come to The Power to Save a Life on October 8 and learn how to save a life."

The Power to Save a Life is sponsored and made possible by Indiana Michigan Power. "The safety and health of our employees and the people in the communities we serve is a value that I&M and the American Red Cross of Northeast Indiana have in common," said Kim Sabrosky, community relations coordinator for Indiana

Michigan Power (I&M). "Because of this shared commitment to safety, I&M is pleased to partner with the American Red Cross to provide the community with the opportunity to learn the life-saving skill of Hands Only CPR."

A RECIPE FOR THE BEST PIE

by The FlyLady,
Marla Cilley

We all start each day with a whole pie to call our own. During the day we make the choices that give away our pieces of Pie. This is a special pie that nourishes you as well as feeds your soul. I am going to give you the recipe for this pie!

It starts with the desire to have a "Peace" of Pie! This peace has to come from a whole pie. So here goes with my recipe for this delightful pie.

Every pie I have ever made has a crust. This pie has a top crust and a bottom crust! This crust is made from the finest ingredients for a great foundation. These are the habits you put together to make up your routines. We start this pie the night before we want it with our before bed routine. This is the bottom crust that holds up our pie of Peace together.

It only takes a few minutes to make this crust.

Lay out your clothes for tomorrow

Check your calendar
Shine your sink and clean up after dinner

Clear off a hot spot
Put things in your launch pad so you won't forget them

Brush your teeth
Wash your face

Go to bed at a decent hour and sleep.

This crust is a pleasure to make when you think about the joy that it is going to give you tomorrow morning when you put together the rest of this glorious pie of Peace. That alone is a great incentive. There is nothing like the taste of Peace Pie!

The top crust we will put together when we first get up in the morning. It starts with getting up a few minutes before the flow of the rest of the family. This enables you to get dressed in peace. Do you see how you can have your pie and eat it too? The pie isn't even made yet but you are beginning to feel the taste on your tongue. The rest of your morning routine of checking your calendar, putting on your shoes, seeing what's for dinner on your calendar, making your bed, eating breakfast and starting a load of laundry help to make this top crust fit with the bottom crust.

Now we have to put together the most luscious filling for this pie of Peace. This filling is made of our basic weekly plan and having the ingredients readily available each day we start our pie. A weekly home blessing, staying on top of mount washmore, planning our meals, grocery shopping, getting rid of our clutter 15 minutes at a time and taking time for you are the ingredients that make this pie melt in our mouths. Without them is the crust is very hard to put together.

Think about this. You can't lay out your clothes if you have no clean laundry. You can't pull out something for dinner in the morning if there is no plan and you have not gone shopping. This filling makes this pie of Peace tasty.

Your habits put this pie of peace together every day. Your lack of effective habits makes it impossible to sit down and enjoy this pie. You have a choice build your pie and enjoy it or to give away the ingredients.

Once your pie is made then you have the ability to share this peace with others and not feel deprived. This pie is dusted with granulated sugar that is your attitude of love for you. You no longer feel that someone is stealing your pie when your buttons get pushed by family or a simple mistake. You find yourself enjoying the day instead of dreading what's next. This pie of Peace becomes the nourishment for your body and soul. It blesses all around us and you made it with your own two hands!

Can you taste this Peace of Pie?
