Thought for the Week: Think you don't have anything to be thankful for. Check your pulse. Have a Happy Thanksgiving.

PULSE PRESENTS "A CHRISTMAS CAROL"

Cynthia Smyth-Wartzok, director of The Pulse Opera House, proudly announces the grand finale production of the theater's 2006 season – the stage adaptation of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" by Michael Paller. The full-scale, costumed production will feature special effects never before seen on the stage of the historic Pulse Opera House.

The Pulse Opera House will conclude its enormously successful 20th anniversary season with the stage rendition of Charles Dickens' popular holiday story, "A Christmas Carol." The play opens during a festive Christmas Eve party in Dickens' home in 1843. Guests listen as Dickens tells them a story using himself and his guests as characters. A cast of 16, including seasoned actors and children, portray more than 40 roles. A robot built by members of the backstage crew will portray The Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come. Ron Wartzok is Technical Director.

Show dates for "A Christmas Carol" are November 24, 25, 30 and December 1, 2, 7, 8, 9. Show times are 8:00 pm. The Pulse Opera House's box office and theatre open at 7:30 P.M.

Ticket prices are $12.00 for adults and $5.00 for Children. Tickets may be reserved online (www.PulseOperaHouse.org) or by calling the Pulse Opera House box office at 260.375.7017. Reserved tickets should be picked up at least 15 minutes before the show.

The Pulse Opera House production of "A Christmas Carol" will include a prop that has never appeared on stage at the Pulse Opera House, says Smyth-Wartzok. "The Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come will be portrayed by a robot that we're building just for this show. We've never used a robot before so this is a new experience for us. We're sure audiences, especially children, will enjoy seeing this unusual bit of dramatization on stage."

Special arrangements have been made for hundreds of local school children to attend daytime productions of "A Christmas Carol."

In the spirit of the season, the Pulse Opera House is offering a $2.00 discount per ticket for each food donation brought in for the Warren food pantry. (Limit: one $2.00 discount per ticket; not good with any other discount.) Requested items for the food pantry include canned peas, mixed vegetables, chili beans, fruits, cooking oil, small cans shortening, cake mixes and icing, pancake mix and syrup, oatmeal, broth (chicken & beef), noodles, tuna, macaroni & cheese, Spaghettios, paper towels, and toilet tissue.

Local citizens and businesses will provide decorated trees in the lobby of the Pulse Theatre during the run of "A Christmas Carol." These include Citizen's Telephone,

The Arts Festival Committee, Randy Neuman, and P.J.'s Flowers.

Hot and cold drinks will be available for purchase during each of the shows from Huntington business, Lattes To Go.

"A Christmas Carol" follows a successful 2006 season at the Pulse Opera House with sold-out performances at several shows, including "Wild Oats", "The Odd Couple", "See How They Run", "The Mousetrap", and a children's acting workshop, "Frumpled Fairytales." Smyth-Wartzok also headed up a Playwright's project during the year, staging cold readings in September.

For more information about the Pulse Opera House, go to www.PulseOperaHouse.org or call 260.375.7017.

About The Pulse Opera House: The Pulse Opera House is located in a former vaudeville theater built in 1884. Under the direction of Cynthia Smyth-Wartzok and Ron Wartzok, the opera house has operated as a not-for-profit summer theatre. In recent years the Pulse Opera House has received world-wide recognition with performances at two International Theatre Festivals in Germany.

SANTA COMING TO TOWN

Don't forget to be downtown Warren this weekend for a Meet and Greet with Santa Claus.

Santa arrives at 6 p.m. in Front of Town Hall and will oversee the traditional lighting of the downtown area. This year's lighting includes new window lighting and a new Christmas centerpiece, all furnished through the Town of Warren and the Warren Chamber of Commerce's annual sale of memorial bows for the community tree.

Magically, Santa will light the community Christmas tree donated this year by Grace Thompson.

At approximately 6:30 Santa and children of all ages will walk through to the Knight-Bergman Center to light the grounds and building at the Center.

Santa will then meet with kids in the auditorium and a photo of each child and a small gift for each will help usher in the Christmas season. Cookies, hot chocolate and coffee will be available.

Santa will return on November 25th for another visit with the children who didn't get to see him on Friday evening. He will be at the Civic Center from 9 to 11 a.m.

LIFESAVING SKILLS

The American Red Cross of Huntington County would like to ask an important question: "When an Emergency Strikes, Will You Be Ready to Save a Life?" If the answer to this question is no, or you are unsure, the Red Cross recommends that you get Prepared. One of the most convenient ways to get prepared is to take the new American Red Cross Web-based training.

You can't predict when an emergency will occur, but you can be

To visit with family and friends is one of the greatest rewards in life. Thank you also to each and every one who sent all the nice cards. We want to especially thank our daughter-in-law Rhonda and son, Rick, who planned the day for us so that we could enjoy the entire time.

Richard & Janice Brubaker

The doctors, nursing and therapy staff have all been wonderful. Thank you for the many cards, phone calls, visits and words of encouragement and especially to my family for the help they have given me.

My blessings to each of you.

Ruth Herring

UPTOWN GARDNER

by Ruth Herring

The uptown gardener is certainly not in a gardening mode. Somehow a set of stair steps and I collided and I got the worse end of the deal, a broken hip. The good part of it is I am mending nicely although my pride is still suffering, I hope to be able to tackle the garden come spring. Another 6 weeks or so the seed catalogs will be arriving and will get my spirits in high gear.

It is rather hard to write about gardening in the time of year when outside snow could be falling. I sure didn't get the fall preparation for the garden and flower beds done for winter, but did get a few geraniums into the greenhouse before I met my fate, so spring will be a busy catch up time.

A couple of my flowerbeds I leave the vegetation standing thru the winter. When there is snow on the ground and as I look out my kitchen window it makes the landscape a bit more interesting. I read an article in a gardening magazine about snow scaping that is where they left interesting vegetation such as mums, grasses and any studier stem vegetation in the beds for winter interest. So I "snow scape" a couple flower beds each year. It also seems to help shelter the mum plants as a mulch during the cold weather.

Fall is the time when I normally gather the pecans from our tree but not this year as we lost our tree in a storm this summer. We also have an English walnut but it was not the year for it to bear. What few were on the tree the squirrels had a feast of.

Another thing I like to have on hand is persimmons. Thanks to Meridith and Nancy Tudor I was fortunate to have a nice supply of the pulp in the freezer to make some great desserts. Persimmon trees are native to our

COUNCIL NOTES

President David Scheib conducted the Nov. 13. meeting of the Warren Town Council. Held in Assembly Hall, the meeting open-ed at 6:30 p.m. with all in attendance repeating the Pledge to the American Flag.

Minutes of the Oct. 23 meeting were approved as submitted.

Citizens in attendance were concerned about properties on College Street which had not yet been cleaned up.

There was also concern about a semi often parked the wrong way on College, especially with repairs being made.

It was noted that a resident on Jefferson Street had made an effort to clean up that property.

RUBLE

Herschel Charles Ruble, age 93, died Nov. 17, 2006 at Tandem Nursing Facility in Safety Harbor. He came to Clearwater in Feb 1953 from Warren, Indiana where he owned Rubles Gas & Electric for 20 years.

He built the Propane Bulk plant at Warren and serviced over 500 customers. He was always able to make from scratch any parts needed to repair all types of appliances. Due to severe sinus infections the Dr advised "get out of this climate if you want to live or die!" so he came here. A local, Doctor Schoetker, discovered he had allergies and treated him, so his life was extended by 53 wonderful years.

He loved flying and spent many years of rebuilding three 1946 Er Coupes- one he pulled down from Marion, Ind, (wings off) and completely rebuilt it in our shop and carport then pulled it on a quiet Sunday morning to the airport- what a sight! His mind was always working- how to make or improve something- even in his last month, in a wheelchair he wanted to "fix" it and gave the Nurses quite a start when he came to the desk and peered over the top- on his feet with the chair up in the air over his back! They never had a dull moment with him. He loved the big yard so he made a tractor-mower so he could mow the yard, made a trailer to pull behind it, a piece of equipment to drag to smooth down the bumps & holes. He always had another project started. During the last 3 years he repaired all kinds of clocks for a shop in Clearwater- by the way- we have over 50 clocks in the house that chime and decorate all the walls! Some nice chimes, some bong, bong! He will always be remembered as a quiet, very serious but witty intelligent gentleman always wanting to help someone. He was a 55 year member of Masonic Lodge 192 F&AM and a K4RCF Ham Radio Operator.

He is survived by his wife Elsie of 63 years, a son Jan A. Ruble of Athens, Georgia, 3 grandchildren Jan Charles Ruble, Mark Anson Ruble and Kimberley Kay Ruble and 1 nephew Harold Miller of Mesa, Arizona.

Services were held at Moss Feaster Funeral Home in Clearwater, Florida.

MY TOWN and Yours BY DENNIS STROUD

In the fall of 1833 Fleming Mitchell settled in Salamonie Township and with the help of his nephew, Leander Morrison, constructed a saw mill. The saw mill was located about a mile up river, a site later known as McCoy Mill. Their mill was in operation by the fall of 1834 and by the end of the next year Mitchell installed a buhrstone, which enabled him to grind corn.

John Reid, from Massachusetts, bought the mill from Mitchell in 1837. Mr. Reid added sifting machinery so he could produce wheat flour. This mill continued for several years but I am not sure what happened to it after that. Fleming Mitchell, sometime between 1837 and 1840, built a second mill across the river from Warren. He operated the mill until 1854 and sold it to Barney Miller.

David Finkle came to Warren about that time and ran the mill for Miller. Finkle ran the mill for about seven years then went to the Jackson Mill in Marion, which he ran for about five years. Mr. Finkle returned to Warren and exchanged some land for a half interest in the Warren Mill. After ten years his partner died and Mr. Finkle bought the entire property. Finkle worked hard in his business and his wife, Mary, helped too. In the 1800s a farmer's trip to a gristmill could sometimes take more than a day. While David ran the mill, Mary would cook meals for the farmers and look after their needs.

We are closing the Museum December 1 and be closed until sometime in March. We have new items to display and we hope you come see us next year. Have a nice Thanksgiving.

BAYVIEW READING

The Bayview Reading Club held their November meeting in the Calico Room at Heritage Pointe on Tuesday, 14 Nov. Lilly Nutter, president, opened the meeting with a group affirmation of the Club Collect. Margaret Bell was nominated to fill the position of Secretary-Treasurer and her acceptance was unanimous. She presented the minutes of the Oct. meeting and the Treasury report; both were accepted as read. Following discussion, it was decided to hold our meetings in the Calico Room at 2:00, as it had been done formerly. Motion was made and passed to make our annual Christmas donation to the Bread of Life Food Pantry as has been done in past years. The program was beautifully presented by Martha Rumble; with Thanksgiving being echoed in a reading from Ideals magazine reminiscing about the old family kitchen, whose "Queen" was the big black range! As this theme proceeded we all were invited to recall, with thanks, the "happy magic" of family kitchen activities, including not only the big evening meal but the later treats of popcorn and fudge on a cold evening. Rhonda Landrum, Martha's granddaughter sang "God Bless America" in her own unique style, "God Will Make This Trial a Blessing" and "This Baby (was Jesus) Made the Angels Sing". Her beautiful voice and her choice of songs were a thrill for all. Martha concluded the program with a "Thanksgiving Prayer" poem, which thanked God for our unique heritage in our faith. The roll call consisted of the members responding with their thoughts and feelings of the delightful program.

LADY EAGLES WIN SWEETLY

The Lady Eagles met the Tippecanoe Tomados (Lafayette) & the Eagles played the defending Jr. High & Varsity I.C.B.A. State Champion Eastside Golden Eagles of Indianapolis at the Salamonie School Gym in Warren.

After dropping 2 close games last season by 4 points & 1 point to the Tomados, the Varsity Lady Eagles won this defensive struggle decisively 37-23!

The Junior High Eagles (14 & under) lost 20-47.

The Varsity Eagles lost 68-75. After an enthusiastic first half, in which the Eagles took a 9 point lead, the Golden Eagles blasted into the 3rd quarter, and the Eagles fought back to within 3 in the final minutes against this formidable and talented opponent.

DIRTY DISHES

by Dorothy M. Garretson of Heritage Pointe

The beautiful Thanksgiving turkey
Is now just a plate of bones
The guests are so full they cannot move
All you hear are grunts and groans.

The silver gravy boat is empty
So is the potato bowl
And there's only a couple servings left
Of the green-bean casserole.

Tommy got the last piece of pumpkin pie
That made him number three
And Great Aunt Molly polished off

The last of the cherry jubilee!
Grandpa has claimed the sofa
Grandma the rocking chair
Pretty soon sounds of gentle snoring
Will fill the parlor air.

The men settle down at the TV
Today's a big football day
The teens leave in their "souped-up" cars
And the little kids go out to play.

Aunt Mary found the Christmas catalogue
She starts her shopping early
Jake and John are talking politics
And they both are getting surly.

I head for the kitchen
And as I open up the door
All I can see are dirty dishes
Stacked from the ceiling to the floor!

All the joy I Have experienced
With my family today
When viewing this unsightly task
Suddenly seems to go away.

Just then my Guardian Angel
Whispered in my ear
You should thank God for these dirty dishes
For you have had food today, my dear!

And then I bowed my head in prayer
Thank you, Father, for this mess
For these dirty dishes I must wash
Are proof that I've been blessed!

area and the fruits need some cold temperatures before they are good to use. The fruit is quite bitter before the cold temp does its thing, then the fruit becomes sweet.

Our son in law Sean loves it when I can furnish persimmon pudding at our holiday gatherings which this year will be at Sean and Gayles home in Auburn. I may also bring a plate of persimmon fudge as an appetizer. I too have a request for a cheese ball which it seems that only Grandma can make.

All of us will be looking forward to celebrating Thanksgiving with our family and my wish is for each of you to have a wonderful holiday and take a few minutes to reflect on the many things we are thankful for.

Happy Thanksgiving
