WINDOW DECORATING

We're still looking for some local clubs, teams, families, or individuals who would be interested in putting a display together or decorating a downtown window in a patriotic or historic theme for the Salamonie Summer Festival. Anyone interest can contact either Ann Brauchla (375-3792) or Danielle Shaw at PNC Bank (375-2121) to sign up, we will then connect you with a downtown business who has volunteered their window for use. Let's make Downtown a vision of patriotism for the festival!

FESTIVAL NOTES

Lawnmower racing will be held on Sunday July 1, 2:00 to 4:00 at KBC grounds and it will be free to spectators. This is anything but your typical afternoon on a riding lawnmower. The Mow-Wheeling Racing League will be doing the racing. The racing machine is your standard riding mower, reconfigured for racing. The mowers range from class to speed, anywhere from around 15 miles per hour to about 40 miles per hour.

The Mow-Wheeling Racing League is based in Roann, Indiana. They have 3 classes that they race: The I Mow Class is based on talent of driver, not the machine. The Outlaw Class is the class that anything goes. The GP Class [Govern prepared] is no faster than 3650 rpm but the gear ratio is open.

Since the by-laws of the festival say the purpose of the organization shall be to promote history of Warren we are having a history quiz. After Wednesday June 20, you can pick up the questions at the bike shop or during the festival at the information booth. Questions are based on my stories over the years, so if you had kept my stories from the paper, or bought my books, you will have a head start. Everybody who gets them right will be listed in the paper and two winners will be drawn from them. All answers must be turned in Saturday June 30, 6:00 pm at the downtown information booth. Even if you answer part of them you still could be a winner. Name and phone number needs to be on the paper. There will be a final festival meeting June 25 at 6:30 and will be held at the Sportsman Club. We will be finalizing events so come on in and let us know how your event is shaping up.

THANK YOU TO THE PIANO MAN

by Lilly Nutter

With all of the negative stories and tragedies dominating today's news, it is refreshing to relate this story of a man who brought so much sunshine to this corner of the world.

More than 18 years ago, Junior Mallott visited his aunts who resided at the United Methodist Home in Warren which is known as Heritage Pointe today. He entertained them with his unique performance at the piano. This earned him the title of "The Piano Man". Junior played mainly on the black keys, in the key of "F" and he always played by ear! The ladies were so delighted that they invited him back week after week and his audience grew.

Junior added 2 gifted musicians Dorsey Price, an outstanding drummer and also Dean Garrett, a talented saxophone artist. The trio volunteered their time, driving from Montpelier month after month, year after year. What an inspiration they have been with the countless songs they sang, they joyously awakened many memories for the Heritage Pointe residents. Junior also added other performers like a harmonica player, story tellers, and pianists of different styles giving each their "15 minutes in the sun".

As life has sadly taught us, nothing lasts forever..... we recently learned that our Piano Man has cancer. Despite the decline in his health, Junior made a final appearance at Heritage Pointe so we could express our heartfelt thanks for what he has done for us. The attendance told the story, as people were lined up wall to wall. May our loving Father continue to bless him for the sunshine he has brought to countless people.

Thank you Junior Mallott for your years of dedication and talents you shared with the residents at Heritage Pointe.

THE UPTOWN GARDENER

by Ruth Herring

Fathers Day at our house was rather quiet but nice. Our kids were home and we chose to have a potato bake. We did them on the grill to keep the house cooler, had all the good stuff to make a great potato along with chocolate pie for dessert.

From our house we hope all the dads and granddads had a wonderful day.

In my last article I had a couple readers ask about Loon Creek, the creek in this area which runs along side the golf course near Huntington is not very large, for many years I never realized that's what it was. I was raised at Andrews where the creek had broadened in its track and we had good fishing spots and several places to play in the water and one spot deep enough to swim which we kids were not allowed to go in. The creek

The camp teaches the boys about different things and allows them to have fun and yet earn some of their achievements.

The boys that attended the camp were Cam McCarver, Isaiah Decker, Cole McCarver, Charlie Zehner, Zach Zehner, and Connor Miller. Tammy Zehner and Christy McCarver also went as adult volunteers to lead a den. This year there was over 200 boys from area scouts that attended the daycamp.

All of the boys had a great time and learned some new skills. When you see one of these boys ask them how to make pudding on the go or how to bake cookies outdoors! We are also proud to announce that one of the boys from our Warren Pack #3122 beat out over 200 other boys and took home the overall BB Shooting Champ! CONGRATS ISAIAH DECKER!

We will keep you all updated on our scouts and remember as soon as school starts we will be having a meeting for any boy from 1st grade and older who would like to join! We will also have a Boy Scout Unit starting this year!

GINGHAM GALS

The Gingham Gals held their June meeting at the home of Marcia Jackson with Joenita Keller as co-hostess.

Betty Yoder, Vice President, called the meeting to order with members joining in the pledge of allegiance. Betty read a very inspiring short story, "Dolphin Watch".

Each member was asked to bring their oldest Hot Pad and their monthly donation to the food pantry. Roll call was answered by giving the history of your Hot Pad.

Joyce Trout read last months' secretary's report. Donations were made to H.A.T. $100, Salamonie Summer Festival fireworks $50 and Weekday Religious Education $100. Martha Jennings gave the treasurers report.

Donna Bolinger highlighted her trip to Iceland. She went to Iceland with Jim, and her brother & sister-in-law, who is from Iceland. Donna explained that Iceland has a total population of 300,000. The island is famous for "Hot Springs", Volcanoes and beautiful mountains. Iceland has enough hot springs to supply the entire country with water and heat. The approximate monthly utility cost for two people is $30. They visited Westman Island by Ferry. Iceland is a very modern country with beautiful homes, malls and all types of buildings, very comparable to large U.S. cities. The Krona is their currency and their language is "Icelandic", although they rarely met anyone who did not speak English. Iceland is a very progressive country and plans to be 99% oil free in 10 years. The relatives of Donna's sister-in-law were very hospitable and entertained them in their homes with delicious seafood from their waters and tales from their land.

MEETING HELD

Knight Bergman Center June meeting was held June 18 at the KBC.

Bob Smith owner of Midwest Forestry was present to give his bid on the 8 Walnut trees below the hill. He would like to buy these trees. After some discussion we are going to check locally to see if someone else would be interested in buying them.

Minutes were reviewed and with a couple of corrections were accepted.

Financial report was reviewed. After discussion they were approved. We are looking for someone to audit the books at least annually.

There is still a lot of concern regarding the large hole below the hill.. It needs to be repaired before someone falls in it and gets hurt. Neal will be checking to see what can be done.

Tuck point on the gym and back side of the building: we will be seeking bids on this project soon.

On our past work day, all of the play ground equipment was repainted. A new baby swing was replaced and other repairs completed. The trees and shrubs were all trimmed and some weeds pulled. There will be no work day in July because of all the summer activities.

Election on Officers for the coming year was held: President: Shelley Boxell, Vice President: Joyce Buzzard, Secretary: Janice Jordan, Treasurer: Sharon Gebhart

Next meeting will be July 16th at the KBC.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT

The long stretch of hot and dry weather has impacted the condition of pastures across the state. The most recent Indiana Crop and Weather Report (June 11, 2012) showed that 60% of the pasture were in very poor, poor or fair condition. Producers must plan and carefully manage their grazing strategies.

One way producers can be proactive is by caring for pastures through rotational grazing, Ron Lemenager, a Purdue beef specialist, said. With rotational grazing, herds are moved from one section of pasture to another to maximize quality and quantity of forage growth. This practice helps prevent overgrazing.

"I think most of us realize that if cows are continuous grazing, they are going to always go for the lush, young plant, and that continuous grazing will reduce root growth and root reserves of that plant, and the regrowth is going to be significantly retarded," Lemenager said. "Rotational grazing gives these plants an opportunity to rest and grow again. But obviously, rain is going to play a big role in that."

Without rain to rejuvenate pastures, livestock producers will have to look for other forage options, such as hay. But the dry weather also is limiting hay supplies.

Lemenager said that producers can limit hay feeding access time to eight hours per day to significantly reduce waste and still provide all the dry matter that the cow can consume in a 24 hour period. From his research, total daily hay disappearance will be reduced by 15-20 percent.

He said cows and calves are most at risk from low-quality and low-quantity forages. One of the first animal performance parameters affected is calf growth. Without proper nutrition, cow milk production will decrease, ultimately affecting weaning weights.

In addition to rotational grazing and limiting hay access, Lemenager said in the short term producers can consider creep feeding calves. According to North Dakota State University Extension Web site, the definition of creep feeding is providing supplemental nutrients to nursing calves, usually in the form of grain, protein supplements, commercial calf creepers, or high quality forages.

If the dry conditions persist, a longer term strategy would be to consider early weaning. Early-wean rations that contain feeds such as corn, oats, soybean hulls, corn gluten feed or dry distillers grains can be formulated to create cost effective gains. Early weaning lowers the cow's nutrient requirements, reduces forage intake of the cow, reduces trampling losses caused by the calves, and can take significant pressure off stressed pastures.

More information about managing pastures can be found in Purdue Extension's free publication, "Management-Intensive Grazing in Indiana." It's available at <http://www.extension.purdue.edu/extmedia/AY/AY-328.pdf>

STARGAZING

A host of special activities on June 23 will mark Shades' 65th anniversary of becoming a state park.

The fun includes a Chautauqua, which is a cultural learning event; late-night stargazing under what's been called Indiana's darkest sky; and many hands-on activities.

Chautauqua activities start at 2 p.m. with a welcome and introductions of the events. At 2:10 p.m. a program called "Shades of the Past" will document the park's early days, including its pre-state park history. Native American flute music follows. Chautauqua activities culminate with a Miami Nation Drum Circle at 4:45 p.m.

A traditional bean dinner will be provided by the Waveland & Alamo Volunteer Fire Departments for a free-will donation to the departments from 5 to 7 p.m.

Various hands-on activities will be offered until 8 p.m., then it's time for the four-hour star-gazing party. After a twilight hike, guests can enjoy doing star crafts, telescope gazing and naked-eye astronomy. Participants will be able to use large telescopes to see deep space objects, and will be able to interact with astronomers.

The event itself is free. The usual daily gate fee of $5 per in-state vehicle and $7 per out-of-state vehicle will be charged.

The full schedule:

WHAT'S IN YOUR CLOSET?

by The Fly Lady
Marla Cilley

Our journey through life starts with our first breath and it ends with our last one. Since our birth we have packed many bags for our trip. We are born naked but then we have to put clothes on our bodies. These clothes tell our history; from the baby shoes we took our first steps, to the dress we wore to the prom, our wedding dress and then to the pregnant clothes we wore when we gave birth. I'll wager that your closet recounts many of the chapters of your life.

Our closets are filled to overflowing. Each time we open our closet door we have a conversation with those clothes. If the truth be known we actually wear only a few items in our closet. The rest are there to beat us up and pretend to rescue us. Our clothes have a way of making us feel bad.

Just think about your wedding dress that no longer fits your body. What are your first thoughts? How could I let this happen to me? I looked so good that day. Then I want you to think about how you starved yourself to death to fit into that dress in the first place.

Why do we do this to ourselves? Why can't we just be happy with ourselves just like we were? We were trying to fit into an unrealistic picture that only stays with us for that fleeting moment.

Those nasty conversations go on each time you walk into your closet. It isn't about a wedding dress it is about another favorite outfit that you paid good money for that is too tight. It is time for us to quiet these berating and get on with our flight without feeling guilty.

There is an easy way to banish these voices from your head; get them out of your closet and only keep items of clothing that you absolutely adore and feel like a million bucks in when you wear them. Decluttering your closet is not going to kill you; in fact it may just save your life.

It is time we packed for our journey. Our closets are no longer going to stand in our way of traveling light and enjoying our trip. Most of us only wear about 10% of the clothes we have stashed in there anyway. Let's lighten our load and get rid of those nasty voices once and for all; Out of sight, out of mind! We can do this.

First we need to look at the clothes we truly love because we feel good in them. This goes for your shoes too. Pull those out of your closet one at a time and think about the words you hear in your head when you have them on. Now put them back in your closet and pull out something that does not give you the same feeling. If the item of clothing makes you feel bad, evokes feelings of guilt in you or you just don't like it; then put it in the give-away box. If you have changed careers and no longer have to get dressed into suits then donate them so others can start their new jobs and look nice.

Let me warn you. Going through your closet is difficult because of all the stories that your clothes dredge up. This is why I only want you to spend 15 minutes at a time doing this. Do not spend hours; this will make you feel sick. Bless yourself by being kind to you. Bless others by donating those clothes that say ugly words when you enter your closet.

THE FINE ART OF LISTENING

by V Neil Wyrick

The writer Charles Swindoll was irritated. His plate was full and so a lack of patience visited quite often. In his book Stress Fractures he shares the following. "My daughter, Colleen, wanted to tell me something important that had happened to her at school that day. She began hurriedly, 'Daddy, I wanna tell you somethin' and I'll tell you really fast.'

"Suddenly realizing her frustration, I answered, 'Honey, you can tell me -- and you don't have to tell me really fast. Say it slowly.' 'I'll never forget her answer: 'Then listen slowly.'

How long ago was it when someone was speaking to you...and you were wishing they would stop talking because you felt you had something more important to say?

The world is overwhelmed with poor listeners.

Except for an exception here and there.

An 80-year-old grandfather went to his daughter's house for Sunday dinner. When the meal was over, he announced that he was going to take a walk through the circled our property on three sides so in a way we kids thought we owned the creek. In the summer we spent many hours along the creek banks usually supervised by my older sisters.

Dad one time showed me where the creek started somewhere in the area of Rock Creek and Salamonie township, it was a spring. I have tried to find it but it is no longer where it can be seen from the road. He told me many times of he and some friends following the creek to its source making a week long journey. That must have been a real vacation trip camping, hunting and catching fish along the way. This would have been over a hundred years ago as my dad was born in 1894.

That little ole creek can tell some real stories some good and some bad, floods that washed our crops out, to many hours of fun and the sorryful sad time when a small baby drowned, but also real exciting times when we found some boys in our corn field destroying property and followed them to the swimming hole where they stripped off and jumped in and my sisters grabbed their clothes and took off with to the house and gave them to dad where he took them back and the boys got a good hard lesson and rather chilly one about destroying other peoples property. For some reason we never seen them down there again. Just a lot of stories and memories came from along Loon Creek.

Needed to think about a nice cool dessert on this hot day and Mom's Angel Food cake came to mind. Sift together 1 1/4 of sifted cake flour and 1/2 cup sugar. Beat till stiff 1 1/2 cup egg whites at room temp 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 1/4 teaspoon cream tartar 1 teaspoon vanilla add the flour mixture small amounts at a time folding in with a non metal spoon. Pour into an ungreased tube pan bake 375 for 40 minutes.

When cool slice crosswise in half ice with a mix of a lemon prepared pie filling and whipped cream. Real good.

Try to enjoy the hot weather.

neighborhood. "I'll be back in twenty minutes," he said. But two hours had passed before he finally returned. "Sorry I'm late," he said. "But I stopped to talk to an old friend and he just wouldn't stop listening."

The next time someone is talking to you...really pay attention to what they are saying....you might learn something...at the worst their point of view is quite possibly different than yours and they have a good reason for whatever opinion they are expressing....so don't dismiss it so easily.

After all there is that old saying, "You have two ears and one mouth...therefore listen twice as much as you speak."

After a concert in a mid-western town Paderewski was found behind the stage silent and preoccupied. Someone asked him what was the matter -- was he ill?

"No," he said, "but some friends of mine were missing: the grey-haired couple on the fourth row back. They were not in their usual places."

"I didn't know you had friends in this town. Did you know them well?"

The pianist replied, "I didn't know them at all. I never spoke to them but I liked the way they listened. Every time I have played here for 50 years I have always played to them."

We all have a need to speak...nothing could be more obvious...but we also all need to refine our art of listening...it is also obvious that most of us have to work on this one.

THREE WAYS NEW TECHNOLOGY CAN MAKE YOUR HOME LIFE EASIER

(StatePoint) New technology in your home can sometimes leave you feeling overwhelmed by gizmos and gadgets. But if you choose your technology wisely, you can simplify your domestic life rather than clutter your living space with products you don't use.

Here are three simple ways technology can help you streamline your home:

Control Atmosphere
The ability to control your environment is vital to one's comfort level. You may already have a programmable thermostat, but did you know that the latest models come with Wi-Fi, allowing you to control your home's climate from your mobile device?

Not only that, modern thermostat models are so smart, they learn your living patterns and set a schedule for you accordingly.

Improve Communication
Everyone is quick to jump at the latest mobile devices when they become available, but when was the last time you updated your landline telephone? New developments in landline technology are making your home phone easier and more convenient to use.

Consider swapping out your older telephone in favor of a modern device with high functionality. For example, Panasonic's new Link2Cell models allow you to make and receive cell phone calls using your cordless telephone system via Bluetooth technology -- whether or not you have landline service. You can even transfer contacts from your mobile phone to the Panasonic cordless handset so you can easily dial your stored numbers.

Synching a mobile phone with your landline allows you to place your cell anywhere in the house that provides the best reception and still roam freely on your landline's cordless handset. You'll also have far better sound quality and peace of mind knowing you won't miss an important call.

Outsource Chores
Getting your family to help out around the house isn't much fun when it means verbal nagging. But online chore charts can help parents motivate their kids to take responsibility. Completed chores are tracked digitally, and you can connect tasks to allowance and rewards -- providing clear incentives through a familiar, palatable medium. There are many options out there, so find the one that works best for you and your family.

For a streamlined, comfortable household, incorporate new technologies into your home life strategically and watch your life get easier.
