DELAY IN LEARNING TO TALK SHOULD BE

ADDRESSED BY PARENTS

A study by psychologists at Bryn Mawr College shows that late-talking toddlers had some problems later on.

Study results published in the Journal of Speech, Language, and Hearing Research show that late talkers scored slightly lower than others in all language-related skills at age 9, including reading, spelling, and reading comprehension.

Dr. Leslie Rescorla, who led the study, says late talkers know fewer than 50 words at age 2 and have no two-word phrases. They should have 150 words.

Parents of 2-year-olds who have the problem could help by talking to them frequently, telling them what is happening and what they see and hear, and speaking clearly. Kids stop listening if language is too complicated.

If an otherwise normal child says little by age 2 1/2, parents should consult a speech and language pathologist for early-intervention programs.

For more information, call the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association at (800) 638-8255, or visit www.asha.org.

ENCOURAGING KIDS TO WRITE

- Read to them from an early age.
- Have a toddler tell you a story that you write down and put into a book for him.
- Keep writing materials handy.
- Encourage kids to keep a journal and write about ideas and happenings.
- Suggest learning the words to a song by writing them down.

WINDOWS COMPUTER TIPS

Faster way to get to your desktop

To get to your desktop in a hurry, you can either:

Right click on the taskbar and select "Minimize All Windows," or Press CTRL+ESC and then ALT+M.

Quick run

If you still use "Start | Programs | Accessories | Notepad" to run Notepad, you might appreciate the "Run" command in the "Start menu."

Click on "Start" (or press CTRL+ESC) and select "Run" Type the program name you want to run and press ENTER. For example, to run Notepad, type notepad and press ENTER.

This method will let you run any program that's in your PATH. This of course includes the programs that's in your Windows directory such as PBrush (Paint Brush), MPlay32 (Media Player), Command (Command/DOS Prompt), etc.

Some tip you would like to see? I'll try and find it. Email Jane at jami@citiznet.com.

21ST CENTURY SCHOLARS

Middle school students are not supposed to be thinking about college, right? If it were up to the Twenty-first Century Scholars program, all seventh- and eighth-graders would be aware that they could receive free tuition to an Indiana college or university.

To reach middle school students with that message, the Scholars program will kick off its annual enrollment drive Oct. 14.

The Scholars program, operated through the State Student Assistance Commission of Indiana, offers eight semesters of free tuition to more than 80 Indiana universities, colleges and trade schools. All eligible students in the seventh and eighth grades who make and keep a pledge through high school graduation can participate in the Scholars program.

Last year, the Scholar Programs enrolled 15,000 students. In its first 10 years, the Scholars Program has enrolled more than 90,000 students statewide.

Applications and informational brochures will be distributed to the schools to encourage students to apply for the Scholars program. Sixteen regional support sites are planning additional enrollment-related activities.

Students who meet income and resident eligibility requirements must fill out an application form. Financial information and a parent or guardian signature also are required. Students in foster care automatically qualify for the Scholars program.

Gov. Evan Bayh and the Indiana General Assembly created the Scholars program in 1990 to raise the educational goals of low- and moderate-income families in Indiana.

The Scholars program offers more than just tuition. It also provides tutoring, parent activities, college visits and career information designed to encourage students to stay away from drug- and alcohol-related activities and pursue higher education. www.scholars.edu.

SALES TAX INCREASE

Programmers of Computerized Cash Registers Get Ready!

The Special Session of the Indiana General Assembly increased the sales tax to 6% effective December 1, 2002. This increase means some advance work on the part of the computerized software industry as well as the Indiana Department of Revenue who administers sales tax. The Department encourages all retailers to start early in making their program changes to ensure that the proper 6% sales tax rate will be applied on December 1st.

HOOSIER HERO FOR CHILDREN

Heroes walk among us. After more than 100 nominations and a web-based voting process, winners were selected for the first Hoosier Hero for Children Awards, presented by Prevent Child Abuse Indiana. The awards are given to those everyday heroes who work with children, for children, or on behalf of children in Indiana. Northern Indiana's pick is Pat Lynn, Executive Director of Our Children, Our Future.

Lynn started the nonprofit in her garage and ran it as a one-person operation for the first six years. After ten years in business, the social service organization employs 19 people fulltime who manage a variety of programs, including Parents As Teachers, grandparent support groups, parenting classes, childcare vouchers, and more.

Lynn credits her father, Ed O'Connor, as her role model. "He said if I didn't like the way something was going, I should get in to fix it," Lynn says. She worked for O'Connor's manufacturing company for 30 years. But when she saw that there were people around her who needed help, she got in to help fix it. In 1992, she left the corporate world, finished her degree, and restarted her career as a caseworker for Big Brothers/Big Sisters. Later she helped people with disabilities find work, before starting Our Children, Our Future. With a long history of volunteer and professional success, Lynn proves that heroes are definitely among us.

Former Indiana Governor Otis "Doc" Bowen will be recognized as the statewide recipient of the Hoosier Hero for Children Award. During Bowen's eight-year term as one of our state's most popular governors, he convened a committee to look at the issue of child abuse and neglect in Indiana. From that committee came the recommendation for Prevent Child Abuse Indiana. Twenty-five years later, we honor Bowen for his compassion, foresight, and leadership; he is truly a hero for children.

The Hoosier Hero for Children Awards will be presented on Saturday, November 9, at Chairish the Children. This special fundraiser is an auction of children's chairs created by Indiana artists and celebrities; the event will be held at the Crowne Plaza/Union Station. For ticket information, call 317.634.9282 or visit www.pcain.org.

LABOR DAY TRACTOR PULL

Precisely at 7:30 pm Friday, August the 30th, the 53rd annual Labor Day Deadweight "Spot" Tractor Pull began. Eighty hours and 15 minutes later, the pull ended after the chain had been dropped and hooked 714 times. The weatherman provided perfect conditions as many families and pulling teams camped out in the Knight Civic Center valley to celebrate this final summer holiday. New canopies and camps continue to be seen each year at the pull. Visitors and spectators congregate up and down each side of the track every evening to visit and renew old acquaintances. Many also come to partake of the Gene Wimmer Back Door Bakery Concession Stand.

The national anthem was sung by Cheris Slusher, the invocation was given by Verlis Slusher, and a short driver's meeting preceded the first hook by Ryan Bell on his tractor, "The Happy Hooker". Troxell John Deere Farm Equipment from Bluffton provided the "Spot" tractors for this year's pull which were fueled by Ron Boxell of Mac's Oil. The John Deere loader and grader tractor was provided by Max Sparks.

Sponsors of this year's pull were: Warren Automotive, Huggy Bear Quik Stop @ I-69 & St. Rd. 5, Crazy D's Truck Stop I-69 & St. Rd. 5, Bell Towing, Schurr Services, Deweese Appliances & Soft Water, Royster-Clark, Dirt Inc., A-Plus Towing, and the Ramada Limited motel. Several participants also assisted with various details necessary for the success of this event.

The 4000-4900 lbs. class consisted of 260 drivers and 54 different tractors. The David Bradford/Dee Baker watered and sheepfoot prepared track provided formidable resistance as the class began pulling a 200% loaded sled. One hundred fifty-one drivers were unable to pull the 8000 lb. sled the required 15 ft. distance. The sled was then loaded with an additional 2000 lbs. for the remaining 109 drivers. This round produced 15 drivers with winning percentages; however, 5 drivers successfully full-pulled this weight for an attempt to win the longest pull trophy and purse at 12,000 lbs.

Percentage winners were: 1st-Jeff Douglas on Ether; 2nd-Dan Poulson on Road Runner; 3rd-Tyson Ford on a WD Allis; 4th-Ron McDaniel on Ether; 5th-Doug Barr on his Rusty H; Tie for 6th-Ken Martin on his CH and Carl Mocaby on the Bad B; 8th-Ryan Bell on the Happy Hooker; 9th-Bob McLain on Road Runner; 10th-Mike McLain on Miss Bobbi's B; 11th-Ben Herr on his Cksht. 50; 12th-Lee Dilt's on 30 Something; 13th-Skeeter McDaniel on Lige; 14th-Tom Huffman on Kyle's B; Tie for 15th-Mitch Trout on Mitch's 01. 66 and Kent Poulson on B Minus.

Longest Pull winners in the 4000-4900# class were: 1st-Ben Herr on his Cksht. 50; 2nd-Lee Dilt's on 30 Something; 3rd-Doug Barr on his Rusty H; 4th-Jerry Brooks on Herbie; and 5th-Steve Boxell on his F-20.

Sunday afternoon, 227 drivers weighed in and certified 48 tractors. The plastic covering was removed from the second lane revealing another moist Bradford/Baker prepared track. The lane ropes were moved to this track and the 6000-9000 lb. class began at 5:00 pm. This class also began with a 200% loaded sled. Ninety drivers successfully completed this round. Three thousand pounds were added to the sled for a total of 15,000 lbs. Twenty-six drivers successfully pulled this round. Another ton and a half was added to the sled which now weighed 18,000 lbs. Bob McLain on the Co-op Deville, Kenny Jones on a JD 4020, and Kent Poulson on the Co-op Deville successfully pulled this weight and would have to come back after another 3000 lbs. were added for a pull off Bob M. pulled 21,000 lbs. 68 inches; Kent P. pulled 58 inches and Kenny J. pulled 39 inches as the pull ended at 3:45 Tuesday morning (yes, am!).

Percentage winners in the 6000-9000# class were... 1st-Ben Herr on his Cksht. 50; 2nd-Debbie Cloud on the Sassey Massey; 3rd-Don Douglas on Slowride; 4th-Ryan Bell on Six-2-Go; 5th-Bob McLain on Double Trouble; 6th-Angel Barr on Rusty H; 7th Tie-Keith Boxell on an IH 400 and Zeth Kratzer on a Cksht. 50 Diesel; 9th-Steve Bowling on Bits N Pieces; 10th-Keith Boxell on his F-20; 11th 3 way tie-Gary Plasterer on a WD, Jeff Douglas on Stranglehold, and Verlis Slusher on an IH 460; 14th-Danny Richardson on the Blackhawk; and 15th-Rick Slusher on the Sassey Massey.

The promoters, David Bradford, Dee Baker, and Verlis Slusher, wish to thank the volunteers that returned Wednesday after the pull to help clean and clear the Knight Civic Center pulling area.

STORY TIME AT VAN BUREN

Eight children attended the After School Story Time at the Van Buren Public Library on Friday October 11th, 2002 Susan Hodge, an artist, was OUT special guest for the day. Tarrah Nelson gave the children a sheet of heavy paper for their poster on Recycling. The children had fun looking for all the recyclable items they could put on their posters and so thankful Sue was there to help arrange the items. We had labels from cans, cut-up pop cans, string, plastic, a cardboard juice box, other cardboard boxes, straws, newspapers, cupcake papers, magazines, and many other items. When we were finished we had posters to enter into the contest. The library is going to have our own contest before we send them on. First place winner will receive a telescope, second place a cassette player and the third a toy semi. All the children are waiting to see who will win the prizes here at the library and who will win prizes when we send our winning posters on to the "Indiana Recycling Coalition, Inc." in Bloomington, Indiana. The library staff wants to thank Susan for coming and helping the children with their posters.

There was an attendance drawing and Icily Cromer won some Wendy's food coupons. Pretzels and suckers were the treats.

This Friday October 18th we will have a Popcorn Poppin Day from 2:30 pm - 3:30 pm. Hope you can come.

Those who attended were Icily Cromer, Harley Denham, Jake Wright, Adam King, Cameron Riddle, Wesley White, Connor Pannel and Robert Tate.

DON'T BE A STATISTIC

It seems impossible that a car battery could cause an explosion loud enough to be mistaken for several large firecrackers exploding - or powerful enough to blind or maim someone. But in fact, improper procedures in jumpstarting a dead battery can turn the battery into a lethal bomb, causing thousands of serious eye injuries each year. All vehicle batteries contain sulfuric acid and produce hydrogen and oxygen gases. "If the gases come into contact with a spark, flame or lighted cigarette, the battery can explode, sending battery fragments and acid flying," said Maureen Golden Vice President of Prevent Blindness Indiana (PBI).

Every year, dead batteries cause millions of cars and trucks to fail to start and because vehicle failures seldom happen at a convenient time or spot, motorists and workers should educate themselves on basic auto mechanics and jump-starting procedures before the battery dies. "If you don't feel comfortable jump-starting or replacing a dead battery yourself, by all means call a professional, as it is not worth taking the risk," added Golden.

Businesses and individuals alike should have an emergency plan in place in case a vehicle battery explodes. "Most people panic if battery acid splashes into their eyes" noted Golden. "The immediate thing the injured person should do is to flush the eye with any 'drinkable' liquid on hand, such as water, milk, juice or any soft drink. Every second counts, because the longer the acid stays in the eye, the greater the chances of a serious corneal burn or blindness."

According to statistics, there were an estimated 276,000 product-related eye injuries treated in U.S. hospital emergency rooms in 2001. Thousands of these injuries were related to automotive products such as antifreeze, cleaners, and chemicals. Automotive-related eye injuries associated with batteries and chargers accounted for the highest total. There are measures of protection that people should follow when working on their vehicles, particularly under the hood. Prevent Blindness Indiana encourages both professionals working in the auto repair business, as well as motorists, to wear safety glasses or goggles when jump-starting vehicle batteries.

Prevent Blindness Indiana is the state's only nonprofit eye health and safety organization. Since 1950, Prevent Blindness Indiana has been saving the sight of Hoosiers through community vision screenings, public and professional education, eye safety awareness, patient service programs, and information & referral. ## TOOTH TIPS

By: Dr. Kevin J DeaKyne DDS, PC

Q. WHAT IS A SEALANT?

A. Sealants are a white or clear resin like material that helps prevent harmful bacteria from attacking the chewing surfaces of back teeth. This treatment is recommended for a Childs baby molar between the ages of 3 and 5. Also, when the permanent 1st molars (6 yr molars) appear and 2nd molars (12 yr. molars).

The premolars are also considered for treatment. The depth of the grooves, brushing habits and diet takes into account for the dentist recommending sealants.

Sealants are applied very easily with no discomfort. The tooth enamel in the grooves is prepared with a mild acidic solution called etchant. Then the tooth is washed and dried thoroughly and the sealant is placed and hardened with a curing light (like a hair dryer). The dentist will then check to see if you are biting down properly.

Your sealant can last for a number of years and will be checked at recall appointments to check for wear and general maintenance of the sealants.

Along with regular brushing and flossing, good diet, and regular dental visits, sealants are a great preventative service for the patient.

'HOMEWORK HOTLINE' AVAILABLE

Thousands of Indiana middle and high school students are getting much needed help toward understanding their mathematics and science homework through a toll-free telephone tutoring service provided by students at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology.

More than 15,000 calls are expected this school year to the Homework Hotline communications center from students in grades 6-12. (More than 1,500 calls have been answered since the program started on Sept. 8.) The service is beginning a three-year expansion that will eventually reach all Indiana school districts.

The Homework Hotline, funded by Lilly Endowment, Inc. and 3M Corporation, allows callers to speak to Rose-Hulman students who have been trained to tutor middle and high school students. A benefit is that tutors have access to Indiana-adopted math and science textbooks.

Students may call the Homework Hotline toll free at 1-877-ASK ROSE (1-877-275-7673), Sunday through Thursday, 7 pm. to 10 p.m., through May. Students and teachers may also access resource materials, find educational links and submit questions via the Homework Hotline web site at www.askrose.org.

Started as a local project in 1991, the Homework Hotline has been slowly expanded to help more Indiana school students each year. This year's service area will include schools in northwest and east central Indiana regions, including Fort Wayne, Anderson, Muncie and Richmond. Future expansion areas will feature southern Indiana (2003-2004) and northwest Indiana (2004-2005).

The service received calls from nearly every Indiana county during the 2001-2002 school year.

"We're available to help any Indiana student that needs it on any math or science subject area," said Homework Hotline Director Susan Smith. "Occasionally, we'll also get an English or History question. We make every effort to help that student, too."

Interesting statistics about the Homework Hotline include:

- An average of 22 tutors is available to answer calls each night.
- The average tutoring session is completed in 14 minutes.

- Tutors answered 10,305 calls in 2001-2002.

- 80 percent of calls are concerning mathematics questions.

- Tuesday is the busiest night and February the busiest month.

- The largest volume of calls comes between 7-7:29 p.m. nightly.

The Homework Hotline is not an answer line, Smith cautions, but rather is an educational resource that reinforces classroom concepts and offers homework assistance.

"It is great to learn that you may have made a difference, no matter how big or small, in helping a student understand math and science. There are smiles on both ends of the telephone line," states Homework Hotline Tutor Michael Merritt, a junior chemical engineering major from Evansville, Ind.

Rose-Hulman students can comprehend a wide range of math and science principles. This year's freshman class has a 1300 SAT average.

"In Indiana, we value and promote cooperation from pre-school through Grade 16+. The Homework Hotline, provided by highly regarded Rose-Hulman, is among our best efforts," states Suellen Reed, Indiana's Superintendent of Public Instruction. "For those who explain and provide help, as well as for our students who are better able to understand the intricacies of mathematics and science through that help, the benefits will be great."

IT'S TIME TO VISIT THE

ORCHARD FOR APPLES,

PUMPKINS, AND CIDER

It's here, that seasonal opportunity for a family outing that will long be remembered.

Take them to the orchard. Let them taste apples and cider. Let them knock on the pumpkins and pick out their favorite one.

Show your generosity by carrying out a bushel or a sack of whatever they liked the best. But unless they picked one so huge a kid can't carry it, let them carry out the pumpkin they chose.

Two decades from now, they will tell you how they enjoyed going to the orchard.

The good news is that those fresh apples don't have to be eaten all at once. If you store them in a cool, dry place, they will last for weeks.

SAFE CYBER SURFING

(NAPSI)-Are you a safe cyber surfer? The stakes are high if you're not.

Every time you buy stuff online, do your banking or pay bills over the Internet, check in with your office by e-mail or just surf the Web for fun, you open a gateway to the personal information on your computer-including credit-card numbers, bank balances and more. You may also be in for costly computer repairs and lost data, due to damaging computer viruses that can invade your computer through e-mail connections.

Fortunately, there are steps you can take to protect your computer, your information and your peace of mind from computer creeps who try to slow down a network operation, or worse yet, steal personal information to commit a crime. Here are some tips to help you, from the security experts at the Federal Trade Commission (FTC):

- Make sure your passwords have both letters and numbers, and are at least eight characters long. Avoid common words: some hackers use programs that can try every word in the dictionary. Don't use your personal information, your login name or adjacent keys on the keyboard as passwords-and don't share your passwords online or over the phone.

- Protect yourself from viruses by installing anti-virus software and updating it regularly. You can download anti-virus software from the Web sites of software companies, or buy it in retail stores; the best recognize old and new viruses and update automatically.

- Prevent unauthorized access to your computer through firewall software or hardware, especially if you are a high-speed user. A properly configured firewall makes it tougher for hackers to locate your computer. Firewalls are also designed to prevent hackers from getting into your programs and files. Some recently released operating system software and some hardware devices come with a built-in firewall. Some firewalls block outgoing information as well as incoming files. That stops hackers from planting programs called spyware-that cause your computer to send out your personal information without your approval.

- Don't open a file attached to an e-mail unless you are expecting it or know what it contains. If you send an attachment, type a message explaining what it is. Never forward any e-mail warning about a new virus. It may be a hoax and could be used to spread a virus.

- When something bad happens-you think you've been hacked or infected by a virus-e-mail a report of the incident to your Internet provider and the hacker's Internet provider,

SMOKE ALARMS- THE SOUND FOR SAFETY

(NAPSI)-It's never too late to make sure your home has a workable early warning system to detect smoke or fire. That means making sure your smoke alarms are working and installed in the right places.

Remember, the most common cause of smoke alarm failures is missing, disconnected or dead batteries. Never remove smoke alarm batteries to prevent nuisance alarms.

Be sure that everyone in the house is familiar with the sound of the alarm and can hear it from the bedrooms. This is especially important because more than half of home fire deaths occur between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m., when most people are sleeping. An alarm can alert you and your family to danger before the smoke and heat can harm you.

The safety experts at The Hartford Financial Services Group, Inc. offer these fire safety tips for the correct installation and care of smoke alarms:

- Install in the Right Place
- Place smoke alarms outside each sleeping area, inside any bedroom where the door is typically shut and on every story of the house, including the basement.
- Install wall-mounted smoke alarms four to 12 inches from the ceiling, and ceiling-mounted models at least four inches from the nearest wall. To maintain smoke alarms properly, Hartford safety experts suggest you test the units each month. Also, install new batteries once a year, such as on the day you change your clocks for daylight-saving time, or when the low-battery warning alarm sounds. Finally, for optimum performance, smoke alarms should be replaced every 10 years.

A free booklet called Fire Sense: A Smart Way to Prevent, Detect and Escape Home Fires is available by writing to: The Hartford, Fire Sense, 200 Executive Blvd., Southington, CT 06489 or by visiting www.thehartford.com/firesense.

LIGHTING THE WAY TO A SAFER HOLIDAY

(NAPSI)-Halloween is here! It's time for imaginations to soar as high as witches' broomsticks in the air. Children can become gruesome ghouls, pretty princesses or magical wizards. And, grownups can become trusted safety enforcers by ensuring children are fully equipped with flashlights, fresh batteries and some simple rules-of-the-road.

According to the National Safety Council, Halloween represents the biggest one-day surge of pedestrians on neighborhood streets. Daylight hours are shorter, and Halloween-related injuries happen primarily after dark. Based on these facts, it is important that ghosts and goblins be fully illuminated while they creep around neighborhoods, tricking for treats.

To help ensure that children are easily visible to nearby drivers, and that the ghosts and goblins can safely find their way to driveways and porches, Duracell recommends that grownups use Halloween as a reminder to change their flashlight batteries, relying on a brand they can trust.

Other Halloween safety tips to follow, as recommended by the American Red Cross, include:

- Wear light-colored clothing
- Put reflector tape on the backs of costumes and shoes
- Walk, slither and sneak on sidewalks, not in the street
- Look both ways before crossing the street
- Cross the street only at corners
- Don't hide or cross the street between parked cars
- Plan your route and share it with your family-if possible, bring a grownup along
- Use flashlights instead of candles in your jack-o'-lanterns
- Visit homes with the porch light on
- Accept your treats at the door and never go into a stranger's house
- Use face paint rather than masks or things that will cover your eyes
- Be cautious of animals and strangers, and
- Have a grownup inspect your treats before eating, and don't eat candy if the package is already opened

By following these trusted tips, parents can help keep Halloween safe-and fun-for everyone.

HOW HEALTHY IS YOUR MEDICINE CABINET?

(NAPSI)-Two-thirds of American medicine cabinets are likely to house expired or nearly empty medications, according to a new study for www.mymedcab.com. The survey supports experts' advice that consumers incorporate a "check up" of their medicine cabinet into their seasonal routine to ensure it is equipped to handle family members' potential illnesses and ailments.

According to the survey, past its prime produce gets pitched more often than tablets. Eighty percent of Americans surveyed clean out their refrigerators seasonally, but only half that many (42 percent) clean out their medicine cabinets as the seasons change. More Americans (55 percent) also clean out their clothes closets seasonally.

"People should make a medicine cabinet check up part of their seasonal rituals just like changing smoke alarm batteries," said Dr. Robert Piepho, Ph.D., FCP, and dean of the school of pharmacy at the University of Missouri in Kansas City.

"It's really important for people to give their medicine cabinets a good once-over to ensure that they are familiar with their medications, that all medications are up-to-date and properly stored, and that they are equipped with essential products," Piepho said.

Check Up Check List

To help consumers analyze and improve the health of their home medicine cabinets, www.mymedcab.com, sponsored by the makers of Tylenol and Johnson & Johnson-Merck Consumer Pharmaceuticals, suggest they follow "the three R's":

- READ the labels and expiration dates and check dosing instructions before administering any medications-following directions is crucial in ensuring accurate administration and effectiveness;

- REMOVE all items that are beyond their expiration dates and those that are no longer used-expired medications may lose their potency after time;

- RESTOCK expired medications and other essential items as a way to meet the individual health needs of everyone in the home.

When taking the time to "Read, Remove, and Restock" medicine cabinet contents, Piepho reminds consumers to check all of the places medicines are stored. Eighty-five percent of adults keep medication in at least one other location than their bathroom medicine cabinet, most often the kitchen (62 percent). Women often have medications stashed in their handbags or briefcases (36 percent).

"Medicine cabinet check-up time is also a good time to ensure medications are properly stored," said Piepho. "The best place for most medications is in a dry place away from sunlight. Bathrooms are often too damp and humid which can break down, degrade, or decrease the potency of medicines."

Medications should always be kept in their original packaging so that consumers can easily see the expiration date and follow the information about dosages and warnings on the back of the bottle or package. Refilling travel-size bottles or combining medications in one container can mean losing important information. It is equally important to talk to a doctor or pharmacist about any possible drug interactions between two or more medicines that might be taken at the same time.

Medicine Cabinet Preparation When preparing for the cold and flu season, experts suggest stocking your medicine cabinet with medications from the following categories: pain relief (acetaminophen, ibuprofen, and aspirin); allergy and sinus relief (antihistamine, decongestant, pain reliever); cold and flu relief (antitussive and expectorant); digestive health (anti-diarrheal, anti-gas, antacid, and acid reducer); and nighttime products (sleep aids). For consumers who have children, it is important to have the appropriate strength of children's medicine.

For more information about medicine cabinet essentials, visit www.mymedcab.com or talk to your pharmacist.

Congrats go out to both teams.

Thirteen teams participated this year, with each team playing 16 regular season games before going into the double elimination tourney. Our "Just For Fun" league had over 250 players ranging in ages from 17-60. A lot of fun was had by all over the 10 week season and all proceeds go directly back to the kids league. Several improvements are in the works for next year. If you are interested in playing next year, watch the Warren Weekly, late June/early July for information.

Thanks go out to the Town of Warren, and the Park Dept. for use of the facilities, the Sigma Phi Gamma girls for running the concession stand, the sponsors, coaches, players and fans for another successful year.

Digital mammography. Find it here first.

Announcing Indiana's first Full-Field GE Digital Mammography System.

When it comes to breast cancer, early detection saves lives. That's why Bluffton Regional Medical Center is at the forefront of an amazing new technology to help diagnose breast cancer early. It's called the Full-Field GE Digital Mammography System, and we're the first hospital in the state to offer this advanced diagnostic service.

The new digital system uses computer aided detection (CAD) to help doctors see more with fewer images. Visibility of the breast is improved, particularly near the skin line, chest wall, and in women with dense breast tissue. In addition, exam time is reduced, and fewer call-backs are needed.

Of course, traditional film-based mammography is still available for the select few women who are unable to have a digital mammogram.

To learn more, or to schedule a mammogram in our private mammography suite, call 260.824.3210 (ext. 3250). And let Bluffton Regional Medical Center help you beat the odds.
