BASEMENT NOTES

One of our volunteers, Sherry Roop, will be moving to be near some of her family. She is one of the hardest workers that the B.B. has ever had, I am sure of this. Thank you for your dedication and everything you did - way beyond what most volunteers would do. She will be greatly missed. We wish her the best.

We want to welcome back Suzie Boxell, another great volunteer who fits the same mold as Sherry. Always going beyond and giving 100%. We are so blessed to have Suzie back.

We have a good selection for Halloween - come in soon.
 Remember the B.B. is filled with fall and winter apparel now.
 Thanks for your support!

Thank You!

Thanks to the Warren Chamber of Commerce for their hospitality at their monthly meeting on September 2nd. This great group of men and women are our community neighbors who care for the well-being of all they come in contact with. In my marketing position, some of my days are filled with outreach to great folks like them! It was a pleasure to spend time with them as they allowed me to share the spirit and hospitality that John XXIII Retreat Center has to offer to the churches, organizations and businesses in our surrounding communities.

Much appreciation and blessings to the Warren community!

WALK THANK YOU

Heritage Pointe & Heritage Communities have had our final fundraisers for this year for the Walk to End Alzheimer's and we have written our check to donate for $12,824.00.

Thanks to all of you for your support with our many fundraisers and your generous donations. If you would like to join us for the walk in Fort Wayne it is next Saturday, October 3rd at Parkview Field please contact me for more information.

Thank you again for your support and I look forward to starting all over again for 2016 with the new goal of $13,000.00

Blessings to All!

THE UPTOWN GARDENER by Ruth Herring

I am finally getting back in the notion of writing, for some reason I could not think of anything worthy of writing, maybe it was "fall fever".

I had been rather busy trying to get some lap quilts finished for a project I volunteered for with a group of friends at Heritage Pointe in the sewing room. We did twenty quilts that will be presented at a latter time. It was a challenge to make each one

FUNDRAISING DINNER

"The Sermon on the Mount" and "Hollywood Versus Faith: The Three Other Beatitudes" will be among the topics explored by television celebrity Frank Runyeon this fall on behalf of the John XXIII Retreat Center.

It will be the center's annual fund-raising dinner, "Catch the Spirit IV," from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday, November 14, in the Cornerstone Center for the Arts, 520 East Main St., Muncie.

Runyeon, a star of more than 1,000 television shows, is also a graduate of General Theological Seminary and Princeton University. His portrayal will coincide with the fourth annual dinner to benefit the retreat center which is located in a quiet residential area of Hartford City, Indiana.

Money raised from this event will help the center continue to offer its many educational programs and retreats focusing on Jesus Christ and his teachings. The center offers retreats for individuals and groups of Catholic and other Christian denominations.

To reserve a table for eight for your parish or organization contact the center's director, Sister Joetta Huelsmann, a member of the congregation of the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ -- American Province.

Call the center at (765) 348-4008 or toll-free at (888) 882-1391 for more information or to reserve a spot today. Email address is john23rd@sbcglobal.net.

DINING WITH DIABETES

Huntington County Extension Office, in partnership with Parkview Huntington Hospital, will offer Dining with Diabetes classes on October 12th and October 19th. 2 sessions will be presented each day for a total of 4 sessions. Total cost is $35.00.

This program is for diabetics or those at risk for diabetes and their caregivers, but it is also helpful to anyone interested in diabetes or friends and family of a diabetic. You'll learn how to lessen the health risks of diabetes. Topics covered include food choice, diet planning, healthy cooking, portion control, medical indicator awareness and healthy activity levels for those with diabetes. Participants watch food preparation presentations, taste test, and take home recipes.

Classes will be held on Monday, October 12th and 19th. The class is $35.00/person and will be held at the Courthouse Annex conference room, 1350 South Jefferson Street – Suite 2.

Please call the Extension Office at (260)-358-4826 or email kdhinsha@purdue.edu to reserve your spot. For more information about Dining with Diabetes or other Extension programs, call or stop by the office—260.358.4826. Purdue Extension, Huntington County Office, 1350 S. Jefferson – Suite 2, Huntington, IN.

ASSOCIATES MET

The Warren Associate Chapter meeting of Tri Kappa was opened at 7:00 p.m. in the Calico room at Heritage Pointe on September 15. Refreshments were served by the officers, Sharon McMillan, Suellen Jones and Karen Hunnicutt.

Newly installed President, Suellen Jones called the meeting to order. Reports were given by recording Secretary, Karen Hunnicutt and Treasurer, Barbara Souder.

The group searched through purses for certain items and prizes were awarded to Barbara Souder, Elaine Eckman, Crystal Lee, and Oma Zent.

The group also shared something about themselves that others might not know made for interesting conversation.

Those in attendance were besides those mentioned above are: Georgina Laymon, Martha Shafer, and Ann Spahr.

WILD ZOO HALLOWEEN

Opens October 16

Popular event offers treats, pumpkins, and 'merry-not-scary' excitement

Kids and families are invited to experience the Fort Wayne Children's Zoo's Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank event October 16-18, 22-25, & 29-31 from 12-6 PM with last admission at 5 PM.

Now in its 37th year, the Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank offers adventure, family fun, and tasty treats that are just right for pint-sized guests.

Guests can trick-or-treat for candy at the Treat Trails, view zoo animals, meet Broomhilda the friendly witch, visit the Beauty Shop of Horrors, see giant-sized pumpkins, and more. Children can choose their own mini-pumpkin from the Pumpkin Patch. Kids are encouraged to wear costumes. Animal sculptures made out of pumpkins are always a guest favorite. Train riders will hear "Tale of the Twisted Tree" as they venture into the Franke Park woods.

New for 2015, the Wild Zoo Halloween path is rerouted to pass through the Indonesian Rain Forest, where guests can see Asmara the baby Sumatran orangutan before the zoo closes for the winter. Asmara was born November 22, 2014. Sumatran orangutans are critically endangered in the wild. In support of orangutan conservation, all treats at the Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank are palm-oil free or are manufactured by companies that are members of the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO). The sustainable production of palm oil is crucial to the survival of orangutans, because their rain forest habitat is often destroyed to create poorly managed and unsustainable palm oil plantations.

Theme days at the Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank include:

October 16 – Plumpkin Day – Guess the weight of the Giant Pumpkin

October 17 – Princess Day – Meet princesses from 1-3 PM

October 18 – Mascot Day – Meet mascots from 2-4 PM

October 22 – Free Carousel Rides

October 23 – Pumpkin Stomp & Chomp – Animals get pumpkin treats

October 24 – Hero Day – Meet local fire, police, and military from 1-3 PM

October 25 – Star Wars Day – Meet Star Wars characters from 2-4 PM

October 29 – Free Carousel Rides

October 30 – Pumpkin

Decorating Workshop – Decorate a mini pumpkin to take home

October 31 – Cans for Conservation – Bring an empty aluminum can and get a free ride ticket (good for Z.O.&O. Railroad or Endangered Species Carousel only)

Details on all Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank events are at <http://kidszoo.org/wild-zoo-halloween/>

In addition to the Indonesian Rain Forest, the Central Zoo, portions of the Australian Adventure, and portions of the African Journey will be open during the event.

The Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank is a fundraiser for the zoo, which is a nonprofit organization receiving no tax funding for operations.

Admission to the Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank is $5 for all ages; admission with treats is $9 for all ages. Zoo Members receive $2 off admission. Babies age 1 and under are admitted free but are charged $4 if they receive treats. Additional fees are charged for the Z.O.&O. Railroad, Endangered Species Carousel, pony ride, and bracelet-making. Food is available for purchase.

Thanks to these generous sponsors for their support of the Wild Zoo Halloween presented by Star Financial Bank: Star Financial Bank, Lutheran Health Network, Steel Dynamics, Inc, Sweetwater, BAE Systems, 3 Rivers Credit Union, Mainstay Solutions, NIPSCO, Bob Evans, Lee's Famous Recipe, and Ellison Bakery.

The zoo remains open for the regular season through October 11 and re-opens for the Wild Zoo Halloween on October 16.

BSU SINGERS

The La Fontaine Arts Council will present a concert by the Ball State University Singers on Thursday, October 29, at 7:30 pm in the Huntington North High School Auditorium.

Tickets are $10, with students and senior citizens 62 and over receiving free admission.

Three recent Huntington North High School graduates, Elizabeth Leach, Levi Smith and Stuart Elmore, are members of this year's group.

The Ball State University Singers were formed in the early 1960s and are currently in the 52nd year of performing. In 1971 the Indiana General Assembly named the group "Indiana's Official Goodwill Ambassadors." The Singers have performed around the United States and in many European countries.

The year 2012 proved to be an exciting year for the group as they were named the World's Number One Collegiate Entertainment Ensemble at a competition in Cincinnati and then received a platinum award at an international competition in China.

Dr. Alan Adler has been the director of the BSU Singers since 2008.

ALZ EDUCATION

The Alzheimer's Association Greater Indiana Chapter offers education for families affected by Alzheimer's disease and other dementias.

The Association will host, "Legal and Financial Planning for Alzheimer's Disease," on Monday, Oct. 5, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at Allen County Main Public Library located at 900 Library Plaza, in Fort Wayne. In this program, attendees will learn about the legal and financial issues that may impact people in the early stage of dementia, their care partners and family members, how to make legal and financial decisions, and ways to put legal and financial plans in place.

New education program, "Understanding and Responding to Dementia-Related Behaviors," will be held on Monday, Oct. 12 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at Fort Wayne Parks & Recreation Community Center located at 233 W. Main St. in Fort Wayne, and Friday, Oct. 16 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at Parkview Noble Health & Wellness Center located at 402 Sawyer Road in Kendallville. Learn to decode behavioral messages, identify common behavior triggers and learn strategies to help interview with some of the most common behavioral challenges of Alzheimer's disease.

"The Basics: Memory Loss, Dementia and Alzheimer's Disease" will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 27, from 6 to 7:30 p.m., at Fremont Public Library located at 1004 Toledo St., in Fremont. This program is designed to educate attendees about the difference between normal memory loss and Alzheimer's disease. The program also features video clips of doctors, patients and loved ones who are caring for people with Alzheimer's disease.

There are no fees to attend these programs, but registration is requested by contacting the Alzheimer's Association 24/7 Helpline at 800.272.3900. For a full listing of our education programs, visit alz.org/indiana.

Today, more than 5 million Americans have Alzheimer's disease, including 110,000 Hoosiers. Alzheimer's disease is the nation's sixth-leading cause of death. The direct and indirect costs of Alzheimer's disease and other dementias amount to more than $226 billion annually.

About the Alzheimer's Association:

The Alzheimer's Association is the world's leading voluntary health organization in Alzheimer's care, support and research. It is the largest nonprofit funder of Alzheimer's research. The Association's mission is to eliminate Alzheimer's disease through the advancement of research; to provide and enhance care and support for all affected; and to reduce the risk of dementia through the promotion of brain health. Its vision is a world without Alzheimer's. Visit alz.org/indiana or call 800.272.3900.

OWLS AT IC

Visit the Raptor Center at Salamonie Lake and learn about its owls from naturalists during a special educational program on Oct. 17.

"Owls at the IC" is at 1 p.m. at Salamonie Interpretive Center.

Participants can also take part in Salamonie Lake's Fall Festival, which is happening the same weekend.

Advance registration is required by calling (260) 468-2127.

This program is free. Donations for the birds' care will be accepted.

Standard gate fees of $7 per in-state vehicle and $9 per out-of-state vehicle apply.

Campsite reservations can be made at camp.IN.gov or by calling 1-866-622-6746.

Upper Wabash Interpretive Services (dnr.IN.gov/uwis) is at 3691 S. New Holland Road, Andrews, 46702.

UGH! LAUNDRY!!

Doing laundry is so simple, so why do we let it pile up and then make such a big fuss about it?

There are several reasons, but the first one is, that it's so simple; therefore it's easy to procrastinate. If we had to haul water from the well and heat it over a fire we had to build earlier, or had to drag our clothes down to the river with homemade soap and a scrub board, we'd have to have a laundry day, we'd get to whine and complain and we wouldn't put it off so easily.

One other problem we create when it comes to the laundry is having too many clothes. You can bet if you took the amount of clothing you have today and took them with you back to the pioneer days as you came west to build a log cabin, you'd end up making your own Oregon Trail with the surplus duds.

The laundry room is a great place to declutter, because you get a chance to look at your family's wardrobe and discard rather than launder. Even though laundry is simple enough a child can do it, it does have a four-part process: wash, dry, fold, put-away and leaving any step out spells trouble. So always keep in mind the four parts.

1. Wash

First, if you don't wash the dirty laundry, or you'll end up with, well you know, what your laundry room looks like right now.

2. Dry

If you don't put the washed clothes in the dryer, you'll end up with a mound of laundry laced with mold and reeking of mildew. One morning when I was married to my first husband, he barked from the bedroom, "I'm out of clean underwear!"

I ran to the laundry room and remembered that a few days earlier, I hadn't put the load of washed, whites into the dryer. I quickly peeled a pair of his undershorts (which were almost dry) from the side of the tub and threw them in the microwave in hopes they'd finish drying quickly.

They just steamed up the appliance while my husband ranted and raved. I remember handing him the hot, steaming underpants, (he was also steaming) and saying as I waved them like handling a rope at a rodeo, "As soon as these cool off a little I think they're wearable and they should dry pretty fast because you seem rather hot right now."

3. Fold

If you don't fold your clean, dry load of laundry, you end up with a wrinkled heap, piled on the couch for the cat to sleep in. Then, if it sits on the couch too long, as family members pull from its contents, trying not to disturb the kitty, you end up having to re-wash.

4. Put Away

If you fold the load of laundry, but don't put the clothes away, your family will get in the habit of dressing from piles of folded clothes like they do with an unfolded heap on the couch with the cat. There could be another problem if "put away" isn't getting carried out—constipated drawers.

Chances are, your closets and drawers are crammed with clothes you don't wear because they either don't fit, are out of season, need mending or you don't like them. If you haven't opened your drawers in the last three months dare to dump them out and make room for the clothes you do wear.

Since we have to wear clothes every day, doing laundry is one of the necessities of life and it's one of the chores that should be included in a daily routine. Laundry really is so simple, today even a nine-year-old can do it. Teach your kids how to do each of the steps, so that when they grow up and leave home someday, they'll be equipped to wash, dry, fold and put away.

For more from Pam Young go to www.cluborganized.com. You'll find many musings, videos of Pam in the kitchen preparing delicious meals, videos on how to get organized, ways to lose weight and get your finances in order, all from a reformed SLOB's point of view.

SOMETIMES THE KIDS NEED TO KNOW

from the American Counseling Association

As parents we want to protect our children not only from physical danger but also from the emotional pain that life can bring. While we accept that small hurts will happen -- a disagreement with a sibling or friend, the loss of a toy -- we usually believe we're helping our children by sheltering them from the bigger problems.

Unfortunately, being overly protective can do harm. Kids are usually more aware of bad news than we suspect but often get the details wrong and may even feel responsible for the problem.

Most children know when a family is having problems, even if nothing is said directly to them. But kids frequently get the news in bits and pieces that add up to an incomplete, confusing and even frightening picture.

The solution is to share information with your children. No child needs all the gory details of a job loss or a troubled marriage, but he or she should have enough age-appropriate information to feel included and part of something important to the family.

Start by reassuring your children that what is happening is not their fault. Kids are used to being blamed for messing up and often assume that when trouble happens, whether it's work woes or marital strife, it's usually because of something they did.

Reassure your children that you, their parents, are on top of things and are working to fix the problem. Let the kids know it's okay to ask about what's going on, especially if they see you upset, worried, angry or crying. Children feel reassured when they know they can ask questions, get information and feel included.

Of course, how much information you share depends on your children's ages. A young child doesn't understand economic issues associated with a job loss, but will know that you're upset, worried, and acting differently. Older children may need more details, both to keep them from blaming themselves for the problem and to help them prepare for changes that may be coming.

Communicating with your children about family problems or possible changes should always be one of your first priorities. A child left in the dark is a frightened child.

If you need help, look for books at your library or bookstore on family communications. Your school counselor can also offer advice on possible approaches to difficult issues. Or seek out a professional counselor in your area specializing in family issues.

different and a fun project but the last few seemed more of a challenge.

I have been enjoying the beautiful fall weather as I hope all of you have also. Started cleaning out flower beds and also doing a lot of sitting out on patio and thinking about next year on how to improve what I already have growing. The green beans I had planted among the flowers are long gone but certainly enjoyed every morsel of them and my one and only tomato plant gave me a few, now my good neighbor has supplied me with a few and enjoying my special favorite lunch of a hamburger with a big juicy slice of tomato.

This time of year my dad would start cleaning off our gardens and we could be well assured of a cook out supper using falling limbs, branches of trees which we had plenty and waste from the garden for a good fire.

I remember one time we had few old banty chickens. One had been hit on the road and dad threw it in the pile to be burnt it was nice and charcoal burnt and my sister and I decided while mom was taking the food back to the house we would make a quick centerpiece out of him and place him on the table, well that did not go over well with mom and we had KP duty the rest of the evening and missed out on the marshmallow roasting which was the most fun part of the evening. Even though the punishment, we still thought it was pretty funny. The best part, mom paid a visit to the outhouse and while she was in there dad snuck in the house with two nice toasted marshmallows. We could always count on dad as our very best friend and he was till he passed at the age of 92.

Fall is the good time when all the fruits, veggies, nuts from the trees all start building up our stash for the winter. I have this recipe for apple cake that I always made, it is very moist and freezes well.

Takes 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 cup oil, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups peeled and diced apples, 1 cup nuts. Mix oil, sugar and egg add dry ingredients that had been sifted together, last add apples and nuts stirring only till blended. Pour into lightly oiled 8 inch pan bake at 350 45 minutes.

Happy Autumn.
