TREES OFFERED

Once again, the Warren Town Council has entered a program to provide trees to Warren citizens at a reasonable cost through Steve's Landscaping of Bluffton.

The six to seven foot Maple or Summit Ash trees may be ordered through Town Hall and will cost $25 each. To be available in mid March, the trees will be dry root and will need to be planted soon after delivery and will require some care in growth. Those purchasing trees will be notified by phone as soon as delivery time is known to give time to prepare for planting. Once again, Town employees will deliver the trees to the homeowner. It is requested that in planting trees, consideration be given to location so that in reaching maturity, interference with known overhead or underground utilities and street and alley access will be lessened. Payment for the trees must accompany the order or be made prior to the February 14th deadline.

IT'S GIRL SCOUT COOKIE TIME!

Girl Scouts and cookies share a rich history. While recipes have changed, and so have the boxes, selling cookies remains an important part of today's Girl Scout program.

Many successful business women today say they got their start selling Girl Scout cookies®. Girls practice useful life skills like planning, decision-making, and customer service. During cookie activities, girls are members of a team working towards a common goal, with each girl striving to do her best.

Every Girl Scout troop/group is encouraged to set realistic goals, such as planning field trips and community service projects, to accomplish during the year. The money earned from cookie activities helps the troop/group achieve its goals.

So when your local Girl Scouts come calling with this year's best-selling cookies, remember you're saying hello to tomorrow's business leaders.

Watch for cookie shops around town and your nearest Girl Scout troops. If you need help locating your neighborhood Girl Scout to buy cookies, call the local Girl Scout Organizer, Dawn Frecker, at 375-4400.

ADULT DAY CARE TOUR

A local group of employers and some service agencies known as the Family and Work Life Task Force have been meeting to discuss the issue of adult day care in Huntington County. The task force recognizes the need for an adult day care facility in our community as does a survey done by the Senior Community Task Force. Much like a child care program, an adult day care provides families a place to take adults who may need supervision during the day. Utilization may be temporary, when someone is recovering from an injury and cannot care for themselves, or more permanent for people with disabilities or older adults who family members don't want to leave alone. The facilities themselves may accept different levels of clients from those just needing supervision and activities to those needing therapy and/or administration of medications.

To help bring this idea to reality in Huntington County the task force is planning a tour of an adult day care facility in Decatur, on Tuesday, February 25, 2003. We hope that an individual or church will want to pursue opening an adult day care program locally. Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend. The group will be carpooling from the Marsh parking lot at 1:00 pm that day. If you would like participate on the tour or want some additional information you can contact Wendy Mink at 260-468-9027 or by email at wmink@fwi.com.

JOYS OF JOURNALING

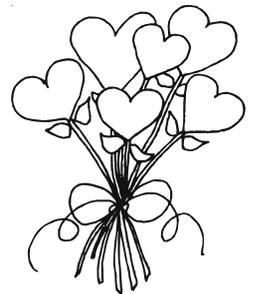

On Saturday, February 22, the Huntington Women's Empowerment Committee will offer the fourth in a series of Women's Enrichment programs at the Victory Noll Ministry Center. This special program is entitled "The Joys of Journaling" and will be presented by Toni Mayo, a journalist, teacher, and author.

From the beginning of time, people have kept various forms of journals - from writing on cave walls to scratching ink on bark scrolls. This workshop will provide insightful reason for keeping a journal and will provide participants the tools to initiate this practice in their own lives. The women of Huntington County are invited to come and join in this new adventure.

The program will be held from 1:00 pm to 4:30 pm at the Victory Noll Ministry Center, 1900 West Park Drive in Huntington. There is no cost for the workshop, but a freewill offering is welcomed. The program will be limited to the first twenty women who register.

Pre-registrations are required and must be returned by February 18th. Registration forms may be obtained at the Huntington County Visitor & Convention Bureau, 407 N. Jefferson Street, the AmeriHost Inn, 2820 Hotel Avenue, the Huntington City-Township Public Library, 200 W. Market Street, or the Victory Noll Ministry Center.

VALENTINE'S DAY:

WHY CHOCOLATE IS A WAY TO SAY 'I LOVE YOU'

Noone has determined whether men or women are more likely to be chocoholics, but that's probably because the affliction is gender neutral.

Now comes Valentine's Day, a time when you can justly treat your taste buds to lots of chocolate. It's a gift.

Forget the guilt of overindulging, because chocolate has a new reputation. Health scientists say it contains the same chemicals our brains release when we fall in love. The serotonin and endorphins promote a sense of well-being, calm, and even euphoria. Chocolate acts as a mild antidepressant.

All chocolate, but especially dark chocolate, contains flavonoids that reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease. In small, regular doses, chocolate increases "good" cholesterol, and reduces the kind that clogs up arteries.

So follow the doctors' advice. Treat your heart, your mood, and your palate to a couple of pieces every day!

Buying chocolate

Elaine Gonzalez, author of The Art of Chocolate (Chronicle, 1998) says choosing fine chocolate to eat by the piece is worth the price. A good chocolate with extra cocoa content is right for chocolate dipping sauces and candies. But common chocolate is just as good and less expensive for baking.

LESSON

The most important thing that parents can teach their children is how to get along without them.

Frank A. Clark

WHO SENT THE FIRST VALENTINE?

The first Valentine card that was decorated and poetic is attributed to the imprisoned Charles, Duke of Orleans, in 1415. He eased the pain of imprisonment by writing love verses to his wife.

By the 1700s, manufactured cards became the most popular way to declare love. The cards were elaborately hand-painted and decorated with gold leaf, satins, silks, and exotic feathers.

Retailers now say that chocolates and roses are the best symbols of love. Candy or not, the 14th of February remains the one day of the year given over to romance.

ON YOUR 'DON'T DO' LIST: BAD IDEAS FOR VALENTINE'S DAY

- Don't give the same valentine you gave last year.
- Don't buy a size too big. When in doubt, buy smaller.
- Don't forget your wallet for that romantic Valentine's dinner.
- Don't leave your date alone with your parents, siblings, or pet. Too much reality, too soon.
- Don't give household appliances for Valentine's Day.
- Don't give your partner a ring that was meant for someone else. At least get the inscription removed.

THE HISTORY OF VALENTINE'S DAY

Valentine's Day dates back almost two thousand years. The day celebrates the death of Valentine, a priest who defied an order by Roman Emperor Claudius II which outlawed marriage. Valentine continued to join couples in matrimony, against the order. According to legend, Valentine was beheaded on February 14, 269 A.D. for commitment to love. People have been celebrating his memory ever since.

ton, Noble, or Whitley counties. Approximately 50 - 75 scholarships ($300 - $500) will be awarded.

The scholarship fund was created by Bert Marquardt, a farmer in Allen County who donated his 210 acre farm in 1974 to Purdue University so that 50% of the yearly profit could go to School of Agriculture scholarships.

Through the years, several hundred students have benefited from the scholarship fund thanks to the vision and foresight of Bert A. Marquardt.

For an application, contact a high school guidance counselor or the Wells County Office of the Purdue Cooperative Extension Service, 824-6412. Application forms are due April 1. Details on this scholarship and others can be found at www.agriculture.purdue.edu/oap.

One activity includes practice tips and a casting record utilizing a target at different distances.

Another activity includes identification of the various types of fish mouths. Some of these include: elongated lower jaw. Duckbill jaw, and sucker shaped jaw.

Everybody who likes to fish needs a tackle box. The manual helps youth begin to assemble the main items that are needed to start your tackle box.

Youth will be able to exhibit a 22" x 28" poster about one of the fishing topics or activities explained in the manuals.

The Sportfishing project will be available to youth in grades 3 - 12.

HEART MONTH CELEBRATION

February is a month known for roses, chocolate and cards. But what about CPR? This February remember your loved ones and give the gift that could save a life. In celebration of American Heart Association (AHA) heart month, Bluffton Regional Medical Center in partnership with the AHA is offering a FREE Family & Friends CPR class. This class will be Saturday, February 22 from 8:30a.m. -12:30 p.m. at Bluffton Regional South, 1100 S. Main Street.

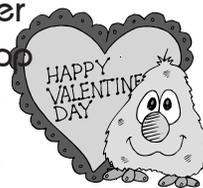

According to the American Heart Association, a common misconception is that potential rescuers witness sudden cardiac arrest in public and the victim is a stranger. In truth, about 80% of sudden cardiac arrests happen at home, so if you administer CPR, it will likely be for a loved one.

"In most cases, if CPR has not been initiated by the time EMS arrives, the chances of resuscitation are greatly reduced," states Michelle Gentis, Director of Education at Bluffton Regional. "We are very excited to offer this class and teach participants the skills that could one day save the life of a family member or neighbor."

For additional information or to register, please call Bluffton Regional's education department at (260) 919-3806.

DNR SEEKS INPUT

We cannot promise Hoosier hikers the trees in our state forests will talk to them like the talking trees in Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers. But now is a chance for the next, best thing - talking state foresters. And it is a great time for Hoosier hikers to become a part of the planning for the future of hiking in those forests.

The Department of Natural Resources, Division of Forestry will be holding a forum on Saturday, February 22, 2003 to hear what users consider the "desired future condition" of hiking opportunities on Indiana's state forests. The forum will be held from 1:00 to 3:00 PM, at the Eagle's Hideaway facility that is located in Eagle Creek Park on the west side of Indianapolis.

"Hiking has always been one of the important activities provided by our state forests," said state forester, Burney Fischer. "In these meetings we are looking for people to tell us what they would like to see in hiking opportunities in our state forests in the future. People may be interested in the length of the trails, how rugged the trails are, accessibility for hikers with special needs, and multiple-use trails. Are there too few trails or too many? Any and all of these issues plus many others could be considered at the forum."

Indiana's 16 state forests and state forest recreation areas provide hiking trails that range from long distance overnight hiking like the Adventure Hiking Trail and portions of the Knobstone Trail to shorter interpretive and nature trails. Everyone who has an interest in various pedestrian activities on state forests is urged to attend this forum and share your opinions. No reservations or pre-registration are required.

For further information about this forum or about hiking in our state forests, contact: Ben Hubbard, program director or Tom Lyons, assistant state forester at 317-232-4105, or by mail at Indiana Division of Forestry, 402 W. Washington St. Rm. W296, Indianapolis, IN 46204, or by email at bhubbard@dnr.state.in.us

What do the 1883 Vurpillat's Opera House in Winamac, the 1837 Helton-Mayo farm near Bedford and the 1875 Pleasant Hill Church near Logansport all have in common? They all are recognized historic places in Indiana and are listed on the National Register of Historic Places and the Indiana Register of Historic Sites and Structures.

Every county has one. Most have several. And they are all once again gathered in the 8th edition of Historic Indiana; Indiana Properties Listed in the National Register of Historic Places, 2003-2004. The free, 76-page magazine lists the historic places in a county by county format. Funds for the publication of the magazine come from the U.S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service.

"Cultural tourism is becoming a key force in preservation," said DNR Director John Goss, "and Historic Indiana offers the public easy access to enjoying our heritage."

"Between the front and back covers, which depict the beautiful murals in the Allen County Courthouse, this magazine is the perfect guide for Hoosiers to enjoy their favorite historic places and visit new historic sites in their own community or on the other side of the state," Goss said.

To make visiting and enjoying Hoosier historic sites easier and more enjoyable, Historic Indiana includes an explanation and guide to Indiana architectural styles, a glossary of architectural terms, with diagrams, and a bibliography for learning more about Hoosier architecture.

To get your copy, contact the division of historic preservation and archeology by telephone at 317-232-1646 or by email at pdiebold@dnr.state.in.us for the nearest free distribution location. To order a copy by mail, send a check or money order for $2.00 (shipping/handling) payable to DNR, to: DNR, Division of Historic Preservation and Archeology, 402 W. TRI KAPPA WEEK

In recognition of the many contributions that Tri Kappa has made throughout the state of Indiana, "Tri Kappa Week" will be February 16-22, 2003. The Warren Gamma Upsilon Chapter of Tri Kappa will be joining the 280 chapters in the 148 towns across the state of Indiana in a celebration of over 100 years of service to the citizens of the Hoosier State.

Tri Kappa is a unique philanthropic organization because it exists only within the boundaries of Indiana. All of its contributions benefit the residents of Indiana. The organization was founded in 1901 in Indianapolis by a group of seven young ladies at the Classical Girls' School owned by May Wright Sewall. Each was to begin a chapter in her hometown. From these humble beginnings, Tri Kappa has thrived to 148 active chapters and 132 associate chapters with almost 11,000 members. Warren Tri Kappa chapter was organized in August, 1927 and will start the beginning of their 75th anniversary this year.

In recognition of Tri Kappa week, the chapter plans to have upcoming service projects for the community to be announced at a later date.

In supporting charity, culture and education on which Tri Kappa is founded, the chapter donates service and Moines to: small World Nursery, Thanksgiving Cheer and Care baskets, Hoosier Art Salon, Girl Scouts, Knight Civic Center basket ball program, refurbishing needs for Center, Mental Health, Red Cross, Love, Inc., Washington D. C. Trip, Eight Grade Art awards, Baseball program, Handicap Camp, Scholarships, Fireworks, Salamonie Summer Festival, Summer Reading Program, Victims Assistance, Riley Hospital and Ronald McDonald House. Tri Kappa returns to the State and local communities more that $1.3 million every year to charitable, cultural and educational projects throughout the State of Indiana. Fund raising projects to help support these programs by the Warren Chapter are: Fireworks Balloon Launch, Nuts, Easter Eggs and United Methodist Home Bake sale.

High contrast color schemes can make the screen easier to view for some users by heightening screen contrast with alternative color combinations. Some of the schemes also change font sizes for easier reading. To turn on High Contrast:

1. Click Start, click Control Panel, and then click Accessibility Options.
2. On the Display tab, under High Contrast, select the Use High Contrast check box.

To turn off High Contrast, clear the Use High Contrast check box.

If the Use shortcut check box in the Settings for High Contrast dialog box is selected, you can turn High Contrast on or off by pressing the left ALT+left SHIFT+PRINT SCREEN keys (depending on the other settings you have selected in the Accessibility Options dialog box). To open the Settings for High Contrast dialog box, open Accessibility Options, click the Display tab, and then, under High Contrast, click Settings.

If you try to change the visual style for windows and buttons by using the performance options in the System tool, Windows XP may not apply the change.

If you have a question you need answered, email me at jami@citznet.com. I will try.

AFTER SCHOOL STORY TIME

Four children attended the After School Story Time at the Van Buren Public Library on Friday February 7th 2003 to celebrate National Cherry Month.

The children entered the children's department of the library and received a cherry challenge word scramble and a cherry search a word to do. Karen shared some important facts about cherries.

Cherries weren't grown here in the United States until 1852 when a man named Peter Dougherty planted a cherry tree on a farm in Northern Michigan. We also talked about the different kinds of cherries. How sweet cherries are best eaten fresh and not cooked as the sour ones are. We found out some of the health benefits of eating cherries.

Karen read the book "Under The Cherry Blossom Tree" Retold and illustrated by Allen Say. It was an old Japanese tale and the story was very different. The children enjoyed doing some cherry challenged math problems. We worked on them as a group and they were fun to do.

The refreshments were homemade cherry pie and ice cream.

We couldn't stop with just one serving some of us had to have two.

Some of us enjoyed some Maraschino cherries for a sweet treat.

Children who attended were Laquita White, Wesley White, Adam King and Maryrose Burns.

Next Friday February 14th we will have a Valentine's Day Party. I hope you can come.

OPEN HOUSE TO BE HELD

Thelma Miller, 801 Huntington Ave., Warren, celebrated her 90th birthday on Feb. 5th, 2003.

Friends and relatives were invited to an open house held in Mrs. Miller's honor from 1:30 - 3 p.m., on Sunday, Feb. 16, at the United Methodist Memorial Home. It is requested that gifts be omitted, however cards would be appreciated.

The celebration will be hosted by her son and daughter-in-law, Rex and Susan Miller of Huntington, and her daughters and sons-in-law, Lois and Don Deemer of Van Buren and Deloris and Larry Gilmer of Elmhurst, IL.

FAMILIAR STORIES

Jane Ruble used some familiar, but well-loved stories for story time at the Warren Library Friday, February 7. She read the Three Billy Goats, The Three Bears, The Three Little Pigs and The Gingerbread Man to Mary Surfus, Emma and Katie Melcher, Uriah DeWeese and Jake Strait. The girls were the 3 little pigs and the boys wolves as they acted out the fairy tale. Mrs. Ruble made sock puppets of the characters they had heard about and each child was allowed to take one home.
