All proceeds will be donated to the music festival for the Liberty Center Park for improvements.

Please bring lawn chairs. No alcohol permitted.

CEMETERY MEETING

The Board of Directors of the Asbury Cemetery will meet on Monday, October 1, 2018 at Asbury Chapel Church at 7 pm. All interested people are encouraged to attend.

SSF MINUTES FOR

SEPTEMBER MEETING

The SSF planning committee held our monthly meeting on September 11th at KBC at 6:30pm. The meeting started with a vote on this year's theme. The winning theme was "Sweet Home Salamonie" and we will once again have t-shirts for sale. Start thinking about your parade floats!

Our first fundraiser will be on October 23rd at East of Chicago. Come out and enjoy the pizza buffet and support your local festival. We will be having more fundraisers throughout the spring – a putt putt golf tournament was proposed and will be looked into for May.

Some of the returning events discussed were Movie on the Hill, Truck Jam, Family Feud, 3 on 3 tournament, Hungry Hippos, and the Toilet races. Several new ideas were presented including a wiffle ball tournament, rubber duck regatta, and a fire hydrant decorating contest. We discussed how to use the new park stage and the different types of entertainment that we would like to have during the festival.

Our next meeting will be on Tuesday, October 9th at 6:30pm at KBC. If you are interested in any of the events listed or have any other ideas for events, please let an officer know or

from the American Counseling Association

Today's headlines often carry an overwhelming amount of bad news. Whether your information is coming from TV news, your local paper, the Internet or conversations with friends, odds are good that most isn't good news.

All that bad news can bring stress that can certainly affect your waistline and other factors in your life. Simply hearing about bad things can raise the levels of anxiety and stress you're experiencing.

When our stress levels increase, it's a natural reaction that we look to things that will comfort us, even if we don't consciously realize we're doing that. And one of the easiest and most common ways to find a little comfort is to reach for some food.

It's called "stress eating" because it feeds an emotional rather than a physical hunger. Food, especially sweet things, triggers emotional and chemical reactions in our bodies that make us feel better. Another negative story out of Washington? I think I need maybe just one more donut.

Stress eating is one of the most common sources of excessive weight gain. And while it may offer a temporary "good" feeling, it also directly affects our health and self-image.

The key to fighting stress eating is to recognize that it's happening to you. Try to analyze why you're eating the next time you reach for a snack. Are you physically hungry, or simply stressed, bored, worried or unhappy?

When it's emotional eating that is adding those extra pounds, try to find other activities to help calm you down without adding calories. Exercise, for example, is one of the best. It not only burns calories and improves muscle tone but also boosts the action of feel-good neurotransmitters in your body. Something as quick and simple as a walk around the block will do the job.

Other substitutes for that unneeded snack can include reading a book, listening to music or talking to a friend. Any activity that helps calm you down without reaching for food is a step in the right direction.

And if you find you really must have a snack, make it a healthy one such as a piece of fruit.

Eating in response to stress is a common but very fixable problem. Often simply becoming aware of stress eating can help in minimizing the problem. If you need help in overcoming stress eating, consider seeking the help of a professional counselor.

TOWNSHIP SCHOOL

The township school operated until 1966 when the county consolidated into one school. From 1967 to 1981, the school held the township elementary in the building. In 1981, the school board decided to close the Warren school building. This prompted a group, from the area, to call a meeting Jan. 6, 1982 to discuss the possibility of saving the school house building. Several meetings were held to decide what it can be used for and how to finance it.

In March of that year, the school board gave the group until Sept. to come up with a plan or the building will be torn in. In April, the group organized and formed a committee called W.A.R.R.E.N., which stands for Warren Area Residents for Recreational and Educational Need. A contest was held to see if somebody, in the community had any good ideas to use the building as a community center. With the utilities, heat, water and sewage, totaling $15,000 to $20,000 a year and the roof needing repaired the next agenda was the finances. A fund drive was planned. It was decided to ask for pledges to be paid over a three-year period. The money raised would be put in a trust fund and the interest would be used to operate the building. The fund drive was started on July 1, 1982 and the goal was $275,000.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET AT THE FORKS

The Huntington county Retired Teachers Association met September 5th, 2018 at the Historic forks of the Wabash for their quarterly noon luncheon. President Mark Vickrey welcomed members and guests. He gave a special welcome to first-time attendees, Carolyn Smith and Jan Tharp. Mark Keiffer offered the invocation, and President Mark Vickrey led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. A delicious lunch was served by Nadean's Cakes/Cookies/Catering of Markle. There were 86 in attendance.

Nadean Piedmont, Program chairman, introduced Huntington County Community School Corporation Superintendent, Randy Harris. Mr. Harris gave an update on what has been happening this fall in our schools. He addressed repairs and improvements that need to be made to our buildings. He also answered questions from the members.

President Vickrey conducted a short business meeting. Mary Lou Snyder and Joyle Allen led the group in closing music. The next meeting will be December 5th at Huntington University at noon.

PAIN ALTERNATIVES

The Indiana State Chiropractic Association is joining the American Chiropractic Association during October Chiropractic Health Month to help raise awareness of nondrug approaches to pain management in the face of the U.S. opioid epidemic.

Eric J. Holcomb, Governor of the State of Indiana proclaimed October 1-7, 2018 Chiropractic Health Week. This campaign coincides with the nationwide observance of National Chiropractic Health Month held each October and sponsored by the American Chiropractic Association (ACA). The campaign encourages the public to move more, to #Move4Life, to improve overall health as well as maintain strength and mobility as they age.

In addition to its benefits to our cardiovascular system, physical activity is vitally important to the health of bones, muscles and joints -- known as the musculoskeletal system. Movement helps the body to nourish this system, giving it strength and stability, which in turn reduces the risk of back pain and helps prevent falls and other injuries that can cause disability. Statistics show that more than half of all U.S. adults do not get the recommended level of physical activity.

Back pain is the single leading cause of disability worldwide. It is also one of the most common conditions for which opioid pain medications are prescribed. With concerns today about the overuse of opioids, it's essential for health care consumers to understand that spinal manipulation and other non-drug treatments that chiropractors provide can get them moving again by alleviating painful and disabling conditions such as low back pain.

"If you move more, you're more likely to experience better health and mobility as you age," says Dr. Vuotto, ISCA President. "However, pain is an obstacle for many people. Chiropractic care can help alleviate painful musculoskeletal conditions such as low back pain safely and effectively -- and without the use of drugs -- and get people moving again."

The ISCA is the largest statewide organization representing Indiana's chiropractic physicians.

The ISCA provides programs and assistance to advance the educational, ethical, licensing, legislative, and social interests of its members.

The ISCA disseminates the specialized knowledge and contributions of chiropractic treatment to the public and other health care providers.

For more information about Chiropractic Health Week or how you can benefit from chiropractic, go to www.indianastatechiro.org or contact the Indiana State Chiropractic Association (ISCA) at info@indianastatechiro.org or 317-673-4245.

OWLS

Preschool-age children and their adults are invited to Salamonie Preschool's "Owls," on Oct. 17.

Come meet a live owl and make a craft.

The class will be offered from 10-11:30 a.m and again from 12:30-2 p.m. at Salamonie Interpretive Center in Lost Bridge West State Recreation Area, Andrews.

Each program is designed to enhance the preschooler's basic education, including learning letters, crafts, social interaction and time outdoors, always with a nature-related theme.

The program fee is $2 per child. Advance registration is appreciated. Register by calling Upper Wabash Interpretive Services at (260)468.2127.

For more information on other UWIS programs, see dnr.IN.gov/uwis or facebook.com/upperwabash or call 260.468.2127.

Upper Wabash Interpretive Services (dnr.IN.gov/uwis) is at 3691 S New Holland Rd, Andrews, 46702.

UNDERAGE DRINKING

Tragically, an average of six people die each day from alcohol poisoning in the United States. Alcohol poisoning is caused by drinking large quantities of alcohol in a short period of time. Very high levels of alcohol in the body can shut down critical areas of the brain that control breathing, heart rate, and body temperature, resulting in death. Most times, this is due to binge drinking.

Binge drinking is the most common, costly, and deadly pattern of excessive alcohol use

(<https://www.cdc.gov/alcohol/faqs.htm#excessivealcohol>) in the United States. Binge drinking is defined as men consuming 5 or more drinks, or women consume 4 or more drinks in about 2 hours, and brings a person's blood alcohol concentration (BAC) to 0.08 grams percent or above. Most people who binge drink, however, are not alcohol dependent(). Nationwide, 15.9 percent of youth aged 12 to 20 were binge drinkers in the 30 days prior to being surveyed.

WHAT IS THE SOCIAL HOST LAW AND THE PENALTY FOR VIOLATING IT?

Most minors get alcohol from an adult, which is a large part of the problem. Adults who knowingly provide alcohol to a minor, or provide a place such as their home or a hotel room for underage kids to drink, are breaking the law. Each is a Class B misdemeanor in Indiana, punishable by up to 180 days in jail and fines up to $1,000. For persons with a prior conviction, the penalties increase up to a $5,000 fine and a year in jail. If serious bodily injury or death results, the penalty could increase to 6 months to 40 years in prison, and up to a $10,000 fine. Civil liabilities can be in the tens of thousands of dollars.

WHAT'S THE BIG DEAL?

Underage drinking is a big deal because:

- The brain isn't fully developed until around age 25; alcohol consumed before then can permanently damage the brain.

- Since young people frequently combine high-risk activities with binge drinking, their potential for death or serious injury is high.

- "Teaching kids to drink responsibly" is illegal and counterproductive. Research shows that minors who are allowed to drink at home are more likely to engage in other high-risk drinking behaviors.

We can take steps to reduce alcohol-poisoning deaths by preventing binge drinking. Remember, parents have the greatest influence on whether or not their child consumes alcohol. Even in middle school, and throughout high school, sending a clear message of your disapproval for underage drinking is critical.

Think that's too early? The average age of first use for alcohol in Indiana is 13. In fact, a study of more than 1,000 college students ages 17 to 19 by the Partnership for Drug Free Kids found that youth who didn't drink during high school drank an average of 1.8 drinks per occasion, compared with 5 drinks among those who did drink during high school.

Keep your kids safe by doing all you can to prevent underage drinking.

LEARN TO TRAP

Study animal sign and learn the art of trapping at Salamonie Lake, Oct. 13-14.

Indiana Conservation Officers will host a Trapper's Education Course at the Salamonie Interpretive Center. The program will focus on trappers of all ages, though youth trappers are encouraged to attend.

At 9 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 13, participants will learn about conservation, trapping issues, ethics, and regulations. Trappers will get to set traps for furbearers under the instructors' supervision. Traps will be left overnight and checked the next day.

At 9 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 14, trappers will accompany instructors to check traps. Furbearers caught will be used in skinning and fleshing demonstrations. The program will end by

BEING PROACTIVE CAN HELP YOUR PET LIVE LONGER

(BPT) - Your pets are an integral part of the family, so it's important to practice preventative care to support their well-being and help them live long, healthy lives. But just like people, pets can be affected by chronic conditions such as diabetes, heart disease and allergies. That's why, as a pet parent, staying informed and being proactive can help to avoid or at least prolong the onset of chronic conditions.

Pet health trends change over time. Cats and dogs are more prone to certain conditions now than they have been in the past. For example, over the past 10 years there's been a 30 percent increase in environmental allergy cases in dogs and an 11 percent increase in cats, according to the Banfield 2018 State of Pet Health Report. Allergens can vary by region and climate, but many common triggers can be found in the home, notes the study.

Additionally, pets today are also more prone to being overweight, and obesity cases are rising. One in three pets are overweight, according to Banfield, and the numbers are growing. While you can be proactive in helping pets exercise and eat a nutritionally-balanced diet, there are many other health conditions you have no control over. Pets can suffer from chronic diseases such as arthritis, heart disease, kidney disease, diabetes and thyroid disease.

The first step to keep pets healthy is to invest in preventative care. One of the most important things you can do to ensure the ongoing health of any animal is to bring them in for annual checkups whether they are experiencing health issues or not. This allows veterinarians to screen for a variety of health issues and provide insight on any concerns. This is also an opportunity for you to ask important questions and get expert insight.

If you discover that your pet has a chronic condition that needs to be treated, don't panic. Modern medicine and treatment plans help pets live a long, high-quality life even with conditions like allergies or diabetes. You may have to make lifestyle adjustments such as changing food or activity routines, but it's usually manageable and you'll likely notice an improvement to your pet's health and demeanor quickly.

As is the case with humans, chronic conditions are often treated with preventative medications. In fact, many of the same prescriptions that people use are also used on pets, just at a different dosage. That means you can buy your pet's medication at your local pharmacy instead of the vet's office. By doing this you can access deep discounts offered with the Inside Rx Pets card, in more than 40,000 participating pharmacies nationwide.

The program offers savings on commonly prescribed medications such as insulin and antibiotics, as well as glaucoma and anti-inflammatory drugs. A list of the medications with which you can use the Inside Rx Pets card, as well as information to compare the pricing in pharmacies in your area and other use terms, can be found at InsideRx.com/pets.

Just like people, taking preventative measures for your pets' health will help save costs in the long run. What's more, it will help ensure that your favorite furry family members are by your side for many years to come.

Become a part of Parkview Huntington Hospital.

As construction on Parkview Huntington Hospital's new Rehab and Wellness/Wound Care addition continues, we need help adding some personal touches to our expanded facility: YOUR photos!

We know Huntington County is a special place, and we chose to reflect that with local photography in our recent renovations. Now, we want to showcase even more local scenes and perspectives in our new addition and other areas of the facility.

Amateur and professional photographers are invited to submit photos that represent the rich heritage, beauty and diversity of our community. Photos of landscapes, architecture, industry, people, places, sporting events or school and community activities will be considered — any appropriate subject reflecting the culture of Huntington County, past and present. Chosen submissions will be matted, framed and displayed with pride within the hospital complex.
