Thought for the Week: Reality is the leading cause of stress amongst those in touch with it. Jane Wagner

EDITOR'S NOTE

One of the drawbacks of being a one man show is that sometimes things don't go quite as planned.

Last week was one of those week's. Due to that fact the September 22 issue didn't get out in a timely manner so this week you are getting two papers in one along with the brand new East of Chicago coupons. Thankfully I'm over being a little green around the gills!

Those who follow the Warren Weekly Facebook page were instructed on how to get to the website to find the current issue.

For future reference if I'm unable to get the paper out please check the website at www.warrenweeklyindiana.com for the current year's archives.

The Warren Weekly is also available as a digital subscription for $24.00 per year in anyone is interested.

SEND YOUR FAVORITE OUT-OF-TOWNER,
COLLEGE STUDENT OR RELATIVE A SUBSCRIPTION TO THE WARREN WEEKLY. IT MAKES A TREASURED GIFT EVERY YEAR. (SEE

TRAGIC EVENTS CAN AFFECT US ALL

from the American Counseling Association
 Were you aware that when you read about or hear about news reports of major tragedies, they may be impacting your own life beyond what you may realize?

The recent devastating hurricanes... reports of terrible earthquake damage... the threatening military actions in the far east... the too-numerous terror attacks occurring in Europe -- any and all of these, no matter how far removed from where you live, are events that can affect each of us in negative ways.

We all want to feel safe in our daily lives, but when we see and hear exhaustive news reports of tragic events on a regular basis, it can bring on very real physical and emotional reactions. It's called vicarious trauma. Such reactions are common and normal in the face of events too large and horrific for normal comprehension. They can make you wonder just how safe you are as you realize that whatever just happened, or something similar, could just as easily happen to you.

Real physical reactions can include chills, nausea, dizziness and headaches. You may find yourself more irritable, prone to anger or having sudden emotional outbursts. Some people experience confusion or nightmares, or may simply find it difficult to relax.

The problems that can arise are not in the emotions we feel, but in how we respond to them. When you deny such feelings, or try to hide from them by working longer hours, or by turning to alcohol or drugs, you aren't validating and accepting your very real, very normal feelings.

A good way to respond to such feelings is to go back to basics. Stick to a schedule. Be well rested. Eat healthy meals. Alternate exercise and relaxation.

If feeling overly anxious, try pampering yourself a little. Take a hot bath, listen to your favorite music, read a good novel, maybe even allow yourself to cry. It's also important to spend time with others and to talk about what you're feeling. In times of tragedy, you'll find others are experiencing similar feelings and reactions and are often eager to discuss them.

It's also a good time to start, or increase, volunteer work. Helping others also helps you as your work makes the world a little bit better.

Being affected by tragedies is a very normal human reaction. When it happens, acknowledge what you're feeling and take steps to help you feel better.

FREE DNR ENTRY

Admission to Indiana's state park properties and state forest recreation areas where entrance fees are charged will be free on Sept. 30 in recognition of National Public Lands Day.

National Public Lands Day is the nation's largest single-day volunteer effort for public lands.

Volunteer opportunities at Indiana State Park properties on Sept. 30 include trail work at Raccoon State Recreation Area, Turkey Run State Park and Brookville Lake, invasive plant removals at Brown County, Spring Mill and Ouabache state parks, and river cleanups at O'Bannon Woods and Tippecanoe River state parks. Summit Lake will host a shoreline cleanup on Sept. 29 and a trails cleanup on Sept. 30.

Many other properties will offer similar volunteer opportunities.

But National Public Lands Day isn't all work and no play.

The day is a reminder that public lands are places for outdoor recreation, conservation and making memories with families and friends. Properties will offer hikes, pioneer activities, crafts and live bird shows, too.

HEALTH FAIR

Parkview Huntington Hospital will once again host its semi-annual health fair, Healthy Steps, on October 7. Visitors can take advantage of free health screenings and services, reduced-cost lab tests, information on medical conditions, healthy lifestyle tips, and imaging services. New for October is the opportunity to meet two clinicians who are new to Huntington County – a primary care physician and a certified nurse midwife.

Healthy Steps health and wellness fair

Parkview Huntington Hospital, 2001 Stults Road, Huntington

Saturday, Oct. 7, 7–11 a.m.

Free health screenings are available for hearing, vision, bone density, balance, dental health, and skin cancer. Body-fat analysis, grip strength testing, and breathing assessment are also free.

“Healthy Steps offers a convenient way for people to get important tests and screenings so they can be proactive about their well-being,” says Juli Johnson, president, Parkview Huntington Hospital. “Plus they can get to know the hospital team members who can be resources for them on their personal health journey.”

Guests can talk one-on-one with healthcare professionals on many topics, such as prenatal classes and becoming a Parkview Mom, diabetes management, orthopedic concerns/surgery, stroke, lung cancer screening, asthma management, hand-washing and infection prevention, healthy eating, exercise and stretching, and safety.

Meet new providers

Ryan Allen, DO, Parkview Physicians Group – Family Medicine, and Shelly Boone, NP, CNM (certified nurse midwife), Parkview Physicians Group – OB/GYN, will be on hand to talk with guests. Both are new to the Huntington area, and as women’s health providers, will deliver babies at the hospital.

Diagnostic imaging

HeartSmart CT Scans and digital mammograms will be performed in the hospital’s Diagnostic Imaging department. Scheduled appointments are required; call (260) 355-3400. Gift certificates for the $50 HeartSmart CT Scan – a painless 15-minute, non-invasive test that can detect early heart disease – can be purchased anytime at the hospital.

Reduced-cost lab tests

Lab test packages that bundle several individual tests are once again available. Wellness Package A, $35, is a Comprehensive Metabolic Profile (CMP, formerly known as Chem 17) plus a Lipid test. Wellness Package B, $45, is the CMP plus Lipid and Hemogram (formerly known as Chem 30). Wellness Package C, $80, is the CMP plus Lipid, Hemogram, TSH, and Glyco A1C. Wellness Package D, $105, provides the CMP plus Lipid, Hemogram, TSH, Glyco A1C, and PSA test (for men 50-plus).

Single lab tests are also available:

Hemogram (anemia screen, $10); TSH test (thyroid screen, $25); Hemoglobin A1C (Glyco A1C, diabetes screen, $20); PSA test (prostate cancer screen, $30); Ultrasensitive (CRP, heart disease screen, $20); and Vitamin D 25 Hydroxy (bone health screen, $45).

Anyone choosing a wellness package should fast for at least 10 hours before arriving. During fasting, no food may be eaten, and only water is allowed. No gum or mints. Diabetics should take their prescribed medication as usual.

Cash, check or credit card payment for testing is accepted at the time of service. Results will be mailed directly to each person two to three weeks following the event. Bring a pre-addressed mailing label for use on the envelope containing your results. For Parkview MyChart users, results will be available via electronic health record. A specialist will be at the event to help visitors create MyChart accounts. MyChart lets users schedule appointments, view test results, refill prescriptions, and send questions to their Parkview Physicians Group doctors, all at their own convenience.

Other highlights

Flu shots will be available for $20 each; supply is limited. Members of the Rehab and Wellness team will be giving free chair massages, and paramedics will provide hands-only CPR instruction and information about the hospital’s Community Paramedicine program. Guests who bring along a paper bag containing their prescriptions, vitamins and supplements may ask questions of the pharmacist.

Free valet parking will be available, the gift shop will be open, and breakfast will be served in the HOSPITALity Café.

CLEAN UP TRAILS

Celebrate National Public Lands Day by helping Ouabache State Park work on the trails. Volunteers are to meet in the Lodge parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and can bring rakes and trimmers. The park will provide trash bags and a limited amount of tools.

National Public Lands Day is the nation’s largest single-day volunteer effort for public lands. Give back to your local state park! For more information on National Public Lands Day, visit PublicLandsDay.org.

Admission to Indiana’s state park properties will be free on Sept. 30 in recognition of National Public Lands Day.
