SCARE THE CROWS AWAY

From October 30 to November 2, local residents, businesses, schools, and not-for-profit groups will compete for cash prizes and the chance to boast about creating the town's best scarecrow.

Sponsored by the Warren Chamber of Commerce, the Scarecrow Festival will provide an opportunity for area residents to show off their creative talents by creating a scarecrow that fits into one of three categories: Most Creative, Most Athletic, Most Realistic.

The top three winners in each category will receive an award certificate, and the top three winners overall will be awarded cash prizes.

Each participant in the scarecrow contest will turn in a registration form by October 21, 2003.

For entries within the town limits, scarecrows will be on display in front of the participant's home or business. Participants are encouraged to incorporate a variety of other "prop" (pumpkins, hay bales, other decorations) with their scarecrow to help support the category selected. Entries within the town limits must be on display by 9 am on Thursday, Oct. 30, when the panel of judges will begin selecting winners.

For participants outside the town limits, scarecrow entries will be displayed along Wayne Street in downtown Warren. Entries form outside the town limits will need to be brought to the Town Hall Annex between 3-6 p.m. on Wednesday, October 29. Accompanying these entries should be some sort of chair or post to be used to tie-up the scarecrow.

After all the registrations have been received, the Chamber will publicize a map that will point out all the locations within the town which have a scarecrow on display. Visitors will then be encouraged to use the map as a driving or walking tour around Warren.

Overall winner prizes will be $100, $75 and $50.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

INDIANAPOLIS—Organizations and individuals across the country are donning pink ribbons as they prepare to observe National Breast Cancer Awareness Month during October.

Although breast cancer issues are being tackled year-round, special emphasis is given to educating women and their families about this disease every October. Health officials say that a great deal of progress has been made in detecting and treating breast cancer, but there is still much work to be done in order to eradicate this disease.

This year in Indiana, it is estimated that 4,600 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer, and 900 Hoosier women will die from this disease.

To kick off Breast Cancer Awareness month, staff from the Indiana State Department of Health's Breast and Cervical Cancer Program (BCCP) will be participating in a special event on Wednesday evening, October 1 at the Indianapolis Arts Garden, during which this glass structure will be illuminated in pink lights. The BCCP will also take part in the American Cancer Society's Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk on Saturday, October 11, in downtown Indianapolis.

According to Sue Percifield, R.N., director of the Breast and Cervical Cancer Program, all women over age 40 should get a screening mammogram and a clinical breast exam each year. Percifield says that practicing monthly breast self-exams is also a healthy habit for women of all ages.

"Unfortunately, there are many women who do not take advantage of these early detection methods," said Percifield.

State health officials report that women of racial and ethnic minorities as well as women with low incomes and women living in rural areas are just a few of the groups that are under-screened for breast cancer.

"One reason that women may not access annual cancer screenings is that they do not have medical insurance or their insurance will not cover mammograms, and they simply cannot afford to pay for these important tests," said Percifield.

The Indiana State Department of Health's Breast and Cervical Cancer Program (BCCP) is partnering with medical providers around the state to help Indiana women who meet certain age and income requirements get access to free clinical breast exams, mammograms, and some breast diagnostic tests. The BCCP focuses primarily on women aged 50-64 for breast screenings.

For a complete listing of covered services, eligibility requirements, participating providers, or the calendar of upcoming events, contact the Indiana Family Helpline at 1-800-433-0746 (V/TDD) or access the BCCP Web site, at <http://www.statehealth.gov> (click on Public Health Programs and then on Breast and Cervical Cancer Program).

DEAR EDITOR:

third place will receive $15 from the Huntington Rotary Club. The first place winner will also advance to district and regional competitions. Winners from those contests will compete in an international competition for prizes of $500 to $1,000. Local entries will be displayed at the Huntington City-Township Library and the Huntington County Visitors Center.

Children are asked to design posters that express the concept of providing service to others in the community and the world. "Posters should answer the question, what does community service mean to me?" explained Kerri Beaver, chair of the Rotary Centennial Special Events Committee.

The contest deadline is November 19, 2003. Complete rules are available at the Huntington City-Township Public Library or through middle school art teachers.

Rotary is an organization of business and professional leaders united worldwide who provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards, and help to build goodwill and peace in the world.

Paul P. Harris formed the world's first service club, the Rotary Club of Chicago, on Feb. 23, 1905. Huntington Rotary was the 300th club chartered, in June 1917.

The name Rotary is derived from the early practice of rotating meetings among members' offices. Today there are approximately 1.2 million Rotary Club members in 164 countries.

2 TO LOS ANGELES

Stephanie Wayman and Megan Wehr, both of Huntington, were accepted as contestants in "The Best New Talent Show" in Los Angeles, California. The girls, along with their mothers, will be flying out on Oct 29th, and will return on November 4th. They were chosen as one of the top 100 contestants in their category (singing, modeling, acting, etc) in the US. Both of the students are juniors at Huntington North High School. Stephanie was 18 in September and Megan was 17 in August.

Stephanie will be singing a Christian Contemporary R&B piece entitled, "Blessed", and a Broadway piece. Stephanie sings at her church in Huntington, Abundant Grace Family Worship Center. The church is sponsoring Stephanie with a fund raiser. She also sings at the church her father attends, Calvary Worship Center, in Marion performing specials. Stephanie is very serious about her music and looks forward to attending the competition.

Megan will be modeling and acting. Her skills include runway, commercials, and sight-reading. She recently was chosen for another competition that will be taking her to Chicago in December. Megan has had a lifelong dream of becoming a model and actress. She is funny and warm, and loves to have fun. She is very excited about this opportunity.

Stephanie's fee to attend the competition was $600, and Megan paid $750. There is also the expense of flying to and from Los Angeles and the hotel, taxis and food for 5 days. Their mothers will be chaperoning them and there is the expense for them to attend the show.

The girls are very excited about the contest and are looking for ways to raise the money for this great event. They have sold candy bars and this Saturday, October 11th, the girls will be having a Bake Sale at Wal-Mart all day or until supplies run out.

Talent scouts from across the country will be at the Best New Talent Awards. College scholarships are given to the top three finalists and the opportunity to be chosen for a modeling, acting, or a music contract is about 40%, even if the girls don't place in the top three. Those odds make the competition very appealing.

PASSED LICENSING

very real. One pint of blood can save several lives. Thousands of people rely on the generosity of blood donors. To them, you are a hero.

Bob Evans of Huntington is sponsoring a "Battle for Blood" blood drive at Central Christian Church, 500 McGahn, Huntington, on Saturday October 18, 2003. This blood drive is open to the public. We strongly encourage first time donors to Give the Gift of Life and come out for this drive. All it takes is about 1 1/4 hours of your time. Donors must be at least 17 and weigh 110 pounds.

Bob Evans is donating desserts for all prospective donors, hoping to exceed the drive goal of 50, for donated units of blood. By doing so they will earn the "Battle for Blood" trophy that was recently captured by Warren Subway, for sponsoring the last blood drive at the United Methodist Memorial Home, which exceeded its drive goal.

Please call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE to schedule an appointment to donate blood. Scheduling an appointment shortens your wait time, but walk-ins are always welcome. Be a hero. Be a blood donor.

HOLIDAY HAPPENINGS

The Extension Homemakers are planning a Holiday Happenings program on October 16, 2003 at the Wells County Community Center at the 4-H Park. Registration will begin at 6 PM.

The presenter for the evening is Master Gardener Helen Bunnell. This excellent program is entitled "Christmas Potpourri".

The craft "Tussie Mussie" will be made by each participant. The Victorian craft will be a treasure to decorate a spot in your home for the holiday season.

Four food demonstrations and samples will be a special treat to those in attendance.

The cost for the evening is $5 for Extension Homemakers and the general public - everyone is invited.

Send your reservations by October 15th to Janice Walker, 2672 W. 900 S. Poneto, IN 46781-9512.

LILLY SCHOLARSHIPS

The Huntington County Community Foundation is offering free college educations to THREE Huntington County residents.

The four-year, full-tuition scholarships will be awarded through a program. Sponsored by Lilly Endowment Inc. The Huntington County recipients will be three of more than 360 Indiana students who will be selected as Lilly Endowment Community Scholars.

Each scholarship will fund tuition and required fees, and will also include a $800.00 per year allotment for books and equipment.

The program is open to all students who will have graduated from an accredited Indiana high school by the end of June 2004 and who have been accepted to a full-time baccalaureate course of study beginning in the fall of 2004 at an accredited Indiana public university or private college.

The program is also open to non-traditional applicants - those who have graduated from high school prior to June 2004, are not currently enrolled in a post-secondary education institution and who have not earned more than 30 credit hours toward a four-year degree.

Scholarship applications are available at Huntington North High School Guidance office and at surrounding area high schools which may have Huntington County students enrolled.

The application deadline is February 9, 2004. For additional information, write to the Huntington County Community Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 5037, Huntington, IN 46750, or call executive director Marcia McClelland at (260) 356-8878.

Huntington County Community Foundation accepts contributions on an ongoing basis. Contributions may be made to any or the 69 existing funds, or donors may establish a new fund in the Huntington County Community Foundation.

GRANT APPLICATIONS

The Huntington County Community Foundation, Inc. is accepting applications for its 2003 Cycle II unrestricted fund Community Grants. The grants are available to not-for-profit organizations based in Huntington County. The organizations must qualify for 501(c)3 status under the tax code.

Grant applications must be received at the Community Foundation office by November 6, 2003 and the grant awards will be announced later in the month. Grants are awarded for charitable purposes that improve the quality of life in Huntington County, including education, social services, arts and culture.

Funding for the semi-annual Community Grants comes from income generated by the Huntington County Community Foundation's Community Grants Unrestricted Fund. Grants have been awarded twice a year beginning in 1997. Since its inception, the Community Foundation has awarded $216,745 in semi-annual Community Grants.

Huntington County Community

Foundation also awards grants to designated recipients from Restricted Endowment Funds.

For Huntington County Community Foundation 2003 Cycle II grant application forms, contact Marcia McClelland, Executive Director, at Community Foundation office, P.O. Box 5037, Huntington, IN 46750 or call (260)356-8878.

VBPL STORYTIME

Eighteen children had attended Backward Day at the Van Buren Public Library on Friday October 3rd, 2003.

Shirts, hats and jackets were all on backwards. There were some of us that really looked funnier than others, but we were all out for a

Alisha Schuiteman read the book "The Pumpkin Patch Parable" by

Liz Curtis Higgs. Alisha started from the back of the book and read forward. We all found out you seem to lose something when you read a book starting in the back, so we asked Alisha to read it the correct way and found out it is a very nice

Many people don't realize that when the local fire department responds to a home fire, the Red Cross also answers the call. Our unsung heroes are on call 24-hours a day, seven days a week, often leaving behind friends, loved ones and warm beds in the middle of the night to meet with those affected by disaster. When we arrive, we work to immediately meet the emergency needs of those affected – providing shelter at a hotel if needed and vouchers they can use to replace clothing, food, personal items and medications.

Last year, the Huntington County Chapter assisted 15 families who were personally affected by a disaster. This response would not have been possible without the compassion and dedication of our volunteers.

Sincerely,
Diane Farkas
Volunteer of the Red Cross

story. The children then tried writing their name with their left hand. Maryrose Burns is left handed so she had to use her right hand. The children really enjoyed playing with yoyos. They had to unroll the yoyo completely then roll it on the floor to wind it up. What a challenge it was doing things backwards. We did have a good time though. Refreshments were chips and cookies.

Those attending were Wesley Schuiteman, Lindsay Schuiteman, Cameron Riddle, Laquita White, Hanna Boucher, Korisa Kitts, Kaley Kitts, Icily Baker, Olyvia Wetherington, Blake Bollhoefer, Brook Bollhoefer, Delta Oswalt, Mathew Peiffer, Lanessa Peiffer, Emily Peiffer, Carson Lee-Suddarth, Wesley White and Adam King.

This week we are going to meet twice at the library, Wednesday Oct. 8th noon until 2PM will be Craft Time at the library. Friday Oct. 10th after school 2:30-3:30 we will celebrate Columbus Day.
