The Chamber invites all to set up a booth representing their organization by providing an activity, game or treats. If you have a storefront downtown, we are encouraging you to decorate your windows/store-fronts with either a lighted Harvest or Halloween theme by October 19th. We want the evening to be safe, simple, economical, and fun for everyone! A list of game ideas is available at your request.

Businesses located downtown will use their own sidewalk space. We're hoping to fill all sidewalk areas with activities, so please notify Gina if you are unavailable that evening. If your organization is not located downtown, you are welcome to set-up a booth on an assigned site. Call Gina ASAP with your activity description and receive your booth location!

Denny's Hardware is making scarecrow frames for $5 for those who need help with their scarecrow entry or display.

Please join the Chamber in giving the children and adults of our community an unforgettable evening of family-friendly fun and community fellowship.

We're also encouraging all organizations and homeowners to decorate a scarecrow for the festival. If you're a Chef at heart, enter the Chili Cook-off! Please dress in Harvest of Halloween Attire to "Keep the Theme"!

RECYCLING STORYTIME

Nine children were present at the Van Buren Public Library after school story time on Friday September 28th.

The children signed in and received a picture of a Recycle Truck, which showed recycle bins to color and take home.

Karen introduced our special guest Susan Eichorn from the East Central Indiana Solid Waste District.

Susan read the book "The Wartville Wizard" by Don Madden. This book was about people who littered and didn't recycle. How all there litter came back to them and stuck to their bodies.

Susan shared with the children about the different ways they can recycle items. Susan brought some items to be recycled by the children. The children were able to take these items and make cute pumpkins to take home and hang in their windows.

We had freezer pops for refreshments.

The library staff wants thank Susan for sharing with the children. We all had a GREAT time.

CAMPING WEEKEND

Upper Wabash Interpretive Services hosts the family-style Autumn Camping Weekend II at Mississinewa Reservoir, Oct. 5-7.

Themed "The Fun Continues," this event provides a chance to get together with friends, enjoy a movie on the big screen, test your skills at pumpkin decorating, trick-or-treat on Saturday (Oct. 6) from 5 to 6 p.m. in the campground, and enjoy karaoke music later that same night.

ACW I, Sept. 28-30, is fully booked. For ACW II, 300 sites have already been reserved. Those interested in ACW II should make reservations soon.

Upper Wabash Interpretive Services director Marvin McNew said, "We've created a sequel to the first Autumn Camping Weekend because many of our visitors are ready to have a relaxed-style event to enjoy with their grandchildren, children and friends, rather than the fast-paced schedule offered at Autumn Camping Weekend I (ACW I)."

Participants will meet in the Miami State Recreation Area at Mississinewa Reservoir at the modern campground interpretive shelter. There is a $1 program fee per person for this event. Usual weekend gate entry fees of $5 per Indiana resident vehicle and $7 per out-of-state vehicle also apply.

Participants should bring camping equipment and make their own camping reservations.

Call (260) 468-2127 to register and receive more information. Advance registration is necessary so all families interested in pumpkin decorating will have a pumpkin. Registration forms for Autumn Camping Weekend II are also available at www.dnr.IN.gov/uwis. Campsite reservations can be made by calling 1-866-6campIN.

Ask SHIP

by Mary Phillips

Q: I am very ill, and the doctor has mentioned the possibility of hospice care in the future. What is hospice care, and is it covered by Medicare?

A: Hospice is a special way of caring for people who are terminally ill. The goal of hospice is to care for the terminally ill, to manage their pain and other symptoms – not to cure their illness. Hospice services can be provided by either a public agency or a private company.

Hospice care is a covered Medicare service. It is part of your Part A benefits. In order for Medicare to cover hospice care you must meet the following criteria:

- You are eligible for Medicare Part A; and
- Your doctor and hospice director certify that you are terminally ill, and have 6 months or less to live if your illness runs its normal course; and
- You sign a statement choosing to receive hospice care; and

· You receive care from a Medicare-approved hospice program.

You can receive hospice care as long as your doctor and the hospice director certify that you are terminally ill. Hospice care is given in "periods of care". You will have two 90 periods of care, followed by an unlimited number of 60 day periods of care. At the start of each period of care your doctor and hospice director must recertify that you are terminally ill, in order to continue your hospice care.

Medicare will pay the hospice provider for your hospice care. You will only pay a small co-pay for each prescription drug and other similar products used for pain relief and symptom control, and 5% of the Medicare payment amount for inpatient respite care. Drugs that are not related to pain relief and symptom control would be covered under your Part D or other drug plan.

Under the hospice benefit, Medicare will not pay for treatment to cure your illness, prescription drugs to treat or cure your illness, care from a provider that was not set up by the hospice medical team, and room and board.

NONE OF US LIKE CHANGE

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley

What is it about change that terrifies us? Part of the problem with change is being pulled out of our comfort zone. We become complacent with the way things are because we don't like to rethink or even learn something different.

Learning and trying new things keeps the spark alive in us. Think of it as a campfire that is burning. It gives you warmth only if you keep the fire stoked with good fuel. We all need fuel to keep us stoked with our enthusiasm. As I have always said if something is fun it will get done.

I have a personal mission statement; To find joy in everything I do and to be a loving devoted wife to my Sweet Darling. A few years ago I dropped the last part of this mission statement. I realized that if I was finding joy in everything that I do, then the second part happened automatically. That joy and excitement is contagious to all parts of my life and to those around me. I believe that this is the best way to live each day.

Leanne Ely and I have been doing a radio show for several years. At first we were guests on The Mom Show. When the Moms decided to stop doing their show, we began our own with the help of our producer Jeff. We called our show the FLY Show. This stood for FlyLady, Leanne and You. This was an internet call in show and anyone who had a computer could listen live or download it to hear us at their convenience on their iPod, MP3 player or computer. We loved doing our show because YOU the listener became the program director. We never know what is going to happen on the show. We FLY by the seat of our pants most of the time, but it is fun.

Or it was till early summer; at that time the internet radio company was purchased by another company and all of a sudden their website made it so hard on our members that it broke my heart. Even I had trouble finding our show and downloading it. Now if I can't do it then it is too difficult for my FlyBabies. We don't want to have think too hard to make something happen; websites need to be intuitive to help those of us who are only good at turning them on.

Every Thursday when my Sweet Darling would come home from work, he would ask, "how was the show today?" He could see by the frown on my face that there had been problems. Our callers were the highlight of the day but the problem was with everything from servers to other equipment. Robert would say how much longer are you going to continue with this frown on your face. Then he reminded me of my motto to find joy in everything I do.

Last Thursday the straw broke the camel's back and we did not have a live feed. All I could think about were our FlyBabies who looked forward to our show each week and how much we needed them to make the show special. Immediately we began to receive emails wanting to know where the show was. I picked up the phone and contacted a new friend at BlogTalkRadio.com. I asked Nikki if there was anyway we could get a show on the air in 15 minutes. She said let me check and before we knew it we were live doing our show on www.BlogTalkRadio.com.

Let me say that sometimes change is good. The less we have to think about it the better it is on us. When I found out about this great new tool a week ago I could not believe that anyone who wanted to could broadcast for FREE. Yes you heard me right. You too can be a talk show host with just a telephone and a computer. I think this would be a great tool for grandparents to read to their grand children. The possibilities are endless. I even told my veterinarian Clyde Brooks he should do a show. He has lots of fans from his new book Tending Critters in the Ridges. Go listen to our show <http://blogtalkradio.com/flylady>

When we eliminate the clutter in our lives, we are free to make changes that make us smile and enjoy the process! Are you ready to FLY by following the simple motto of finding joy in everything you do?
