Kudos, Kicks & Karats

THANK YOU WARREN!!

This is long overdue but better late than never. June the 4th the Salamonie Summer Festival held a rock-a-thon to help support the festival. Again, I am truly beyond words over the outpouring of donations received. Thank you to all who contributed, all of our rockers, businesses that allowed us to rock at their establishments and those that brought us goodies while we were trying to keep those rocking chairs going. Once again Ronnie and Bonnie Boxell pulled through being our pledge leaders with the biggest amount donated to the SSF. Mother Nature tried to dampen our spirits but we still rocked the whole 12 hours. Again, Thank you. It's people like you that keep this festival going.

I would also like to thank all of my sponsors for the events I headed up this year. The Art Show, Childrens Art Show and the Flower Show were all a success. Thanks to Campbell Dye Insurance, Pulse Opera House, 3 Amigas Childcare, and the Flower Pot of Warren. Home Child Daycare for sponsoring the sidewalk chalk with prizes donated by Food Xpress and Dollar General.

Our Truck Club had a "Fill the Truck" campaign for the Bread of Life Food Pantry and for the first year, it was a good turnout. All proceeds went to the Food Pantry along with several boxes of food and personal hygiene products. Thanks to all who contributed. Our winners for coolers were Stephen Hawkins and Joe & Kim Brubaker.

And who could forget the first running of the Porcelain Chariot Races. It was so good to see the street lined up with people. Thank you all for coming out and watching our competitors race for the honors. Thanks to most of the winners donating their winnings back to the Festival or the Fireworks Fund. You guys are awesome. Special thanks to Bolingers/Warren Service & Supply and Papaws Firearms for sponsoring this event. We were fortunate to make the 11 o'clock news for having such an odd event.

The Festival committee and all the people that helped me get these events up and going - You Guys Are Awesome! This year was the best I have seen in years and so glad to be a part of it. Thanks for putting up with our wild ideas. Can't wait to get next year started celebrating 50 years of Salamonie Summer Festival.

STATE FFA CONVENTION

Southern Wells FFA Mechanics teams took 1st and 4th place in the state contest held during the Indiana FFA Convention June 13-16. The Junior Division Welding team took 1st place and Southern Wells was awarded Top Chapter Welding Team honors.

Other Career Development Event (CDE) achievements were the Ag Communication, Mechanics Demonstration, Ag Management Demonstration and Senior Welding Division teams each taking 4th place awards. Ben Shaffer concluded his year as District 6 Treasurer and Sarah Jones was elected District 6 Reporter for the coming year. The Southern Wells Chapter was rated as a Superior Chapter in Indiana based on activities conducted throughout the entire year.

Four members received their State Degree during the Wednesday evening Hoosier Degree award session. Jada Johnson, Breanna Penrod, Sarah Jones and Wyatt Korporal applied for the award last spring and all met requirements for the highest degree to be presented by state FFA associations. The state degree is based on Supervised Agriculture Experience (SAE) work records, leadership development, academic achievement, FFA, school and community participation. Each was recognized and presented a certificate and pin significant of the Hoosier Degree.

Ag Mechanics teams competed Monday in the seven hour contest. The top team members were Wyatt Korporal, Ben Shaffer, Vince Drennen and David Schriver.

Placing 4th were Damion Watters, Ace Addington, Abe Herr and Sam Jones. Skills and test topics were agriculture power, welding, plumbing, concrete, electricity, small engines, energy systems and construction.

Each member of each four person team took 5 written tests and demonstrated 5 required skills. As a team they were required to construct a mineral feeder. Contestants had to design a plan, develop a list and bill for materials and construct their feeder in the 55 minute time period. All eight members received scholarships from Ohio Technical College, $10,000 for first and $1000 for fourth place.

Taking top honors in the Junior Division (9th and 10th graders) Welding event were Kevin Colon and Jimmy McQueary who placed 1st and 2nd individually. As high individual, Colon was awarded a new welder from Lincoln Electric. Vince Drennen and David Schriver took 4th place in the Senior Division (11th and 12th graders). First place members received $10,000 and fourth place members a $1000 scholarship to Ohio Technical College.

Alisha Watters, Danielle Krazter and McKenna Eltzroth Ag Communication 4th place award was based on their written proposal prepared prior to the convention and an oral presentation to a panel of judges how they would educate the public about GMO's. During the contest they took a test on journalism and developed a newspaper article, posters and movie clip on a topic disclosed to them at the contest.

Samantha Williams and Jamie Howell demonstrated the Decision Making Framework to judges in the Ag Management Demonstration. Abe Herr and Sam Jones demonstrated how to wire an electrical panel in their CDE contest. Both teams placed in the top four and were recognized on stage during the award session.

Competing but not placing in the top four were Alisha Watters and Sarah Kline in the Plant & Soil Demonstration; Malinah Dixon and McKenna Eltzroth with a Natural Resources Demonstration and Ace

MONITOR WILD TURKEYS

The DNR is asking for help from the public to monitor summer production of wild turkeys.

Volunteers will use a web-based survey to record wild turkey sightings during July and August to help provide information about annual turkey reproduction. This online system allows for broader coverage across the state and greater participation from the public.

The surveys provide useful estimates about annual production by hens and the survival of poults through the summer brood-rearing period. Summer brood survival is generally the primary factor influencing wild turkey population trends. Information on summer brood survival is essential for sound turkey management.

Information gathered through the brood survey includes:

- Average brood sizes (total number of hens and total number of poults)
- Percentage of adult hens with poults
- Overall numbers of turkeys seen.
- Participants will be asked to report:
 - Number of turkeys seen and the county the observation was made
 - Sex and relative age (adult or poult) of the birds

· A brood sighting is one in which is one or more hens with poults

· Adult hens without young

· Sightings of gobblers or gobbler groups.

The survey, and additional information, is at wildlife.IN.gov/8641.htm.
