Adam Douglas, a ten-year employee has been appointed Vice-president of Manufacturing. Adam will oversee all production operations including the manufacture of wiring harness for agricultural equipment and other small electronic devices used in farm equipment. A growing part

Douglas began working for Daugherty while a student at Huntington North. He is a graduate of Ivy Tech having studied Electronic Engineering. Adam and his wife Jenna live in Warren.

Shane Maller has been named Vice-president of Operations for Daugherty's. Maller joined the company in 2007 and has recently served as Manager of Customer Service. He was previously employed as Service Manager at Tri-County New Holland in Bluffton. Shane will be responsible for day-to-day operations of the company including the Daugherty Sales, Elite Ag Solutions and Ag Serv Divisions of the company. He is a graduate of the University of Northwestern Ohio and lives with his wife, Katie and son Trace in rural Adams County.

Daugherty indicated in the announcement that he is pleased to have both Douglas and Maller in leadership roles where they can be an active part of future growth and expansion of the company. The Daugherty Company specializes in "Ag-Electronics" and is involved in the manufacturing, distribution and retail sale of technology products for agricultural producers and has been serving farmers for nearly 70 years. They recently opened Elite Ag Solutions at 535 S. Grover St. in Warren; a retailer of GPS related products including guidance, steering and application control systems. ## HOOSIER HOMESTEAD AWARDS

Lt. Governor Becky Skillman and Acting Indiana Agriculture Director Ken Klemme recently presented two local family farms with a Hoosier Homestead Award in recognition of their more than 150 year commitment to Indiana agriculture.

In 1851 the farm of Jack and Martha Buzzard was established in Warren in Huntington County. Jack and Martha and one of their sons are pictured above receiving their award.

In 1902 the farm of Guy and Carlene Jackson was established in Warren in Huntington County. Accompanying Guy and Carlene to accept their award was daughter, Karen Johnson and grandchildren, Jackson and Jada Johnson (pictured below).

"Hoosier farmers are part of the fabric of our great state," said Lt. Governor Skillman. "As we focus on leading and expanding agriculture's future, it is only appropriate that we pause to recognize these families who have continued our rich agricultural heritage."

The Buzzard and Jackson family farms join nearly 4,500 Hoosier Homestead farms. To be named a Hoosier Homestead, farms must be owned by the same family for more than 100 consecutive years and consist of more than 20 acres or produce more than $1,000 of agricultural products per year.

CAREER WORKSHOP

Windows of Opportunity for Women (WOW), a program of the Wabash Friends Counseling Center, will again provide a variety of workshops geared to help women re-enter the workplace or prepare for a job change. WOW coordinator Linda Guthrie will begin the fourth series on September 17th at 7:00 p.m. in the conference room of the Wabash Friends Counseling Center. This first meeting will be an introduction to all the services that WOW provides. In addition, you will receive a packet of information that has area employer listings; career and leadership websites; specific employer application procedures; leadership development luncheon series information and many other resources to help you begin your journey.

After a wonderful response to the first three series, Guthrie is looking forward to providing tools and resources to aid additional women in finding the jobs they desire. Some of the participants have commented: "The workshops are balanced, informal, and packed full of a wide range of information. I've learned so much the past few months, I can't believe how everything has fallen into place." "This is a wonderful service you are providing." "... a jumpstart in the right direction." There is a $6 registration fee per workshop or $30 for the complete series listed below.

Many women today are re-entering the workplace after staying home to raise a family, retiring from a successful career, changing life and/or career goals, or just want a new challenge. WOW provides women with a place to start making informed decisions toward this next phase in their lives. "The educational choices and employment tools for re-entering the workplace are vast. They can be overwhelming. Many times it is difficult to know where to start. Windows of Opportunity for Women can be that first step in pursuing your future career," said Guthrie.

The series continues with three career workshops led by Martha J. Smith, Associate Dean of Students and Director of Career Development & Counseling at Huntington University. She will present: Resume Writing, October 1, 2008, 6:00 p.m., Job Search Strategies, October 15, 2008, 6:00 p.m., and Interviewing Skills, October 29, 2008, 6:00 p.m. On November 5, 2007, 6:00 p.m., Ivy Tech Community College, Indiana Wesleyan University and Huntington College will be available to talk about their different adult degree programs. Lori Eltzroth, Vice President, Human Resources, Beacon Credit Union will present the final workshop, Interviewing: A View from the Other Side: Tips and Traps to Avoid, on November 19, 2008, 6:00 p.m.

Other resources available to WOW women include: Leadership Assessments, Career Testing, Higher Education Degree Information, Career Counseling with one of the Counseling Center's professional counselors (sliding scale fee) and Individual Career Coaching. A grant from the Community Foundation of Wabash County was received to help support this program.

AREA NEWS

MARKET REPORT

Saturday was another good day at the market. There is still corn coming in, plenty of nice tomatoes, peppers, onions, zucchini, jalapeno peppers, potatoes, and home grown apples. The fall squash is coming in and looking good. You might want to try the white acorn squash it is rather tasty. Also the peaches from the Pumpkin farm are very nice along with the other fruits he has. Rabbs will be back this week with the angus beef and the egg man was back after his accident with the horses, we were glad to have him return although he said many weeks he is sold out before market time. Remember to check the bakery and bring your coffee to join us all with a nice fresh baked roll from the bakery. The Van Buren Loins Club was back with the freshly made breaded tenderloins.

Please join us and check out the vendors with their quality food products.

The jams and jellies will not be there and the furniture as we are taking the day off for a short day trip vacation.

The vendors again thank you for shopping the market. We plan to be there for a few more weeks depending upon the availability of produce.

The market is open from 8a.m. till sold out or about 11:30.

GED on TV

As the Indiana economy slows, it is more important than ever to have the skills (and the diploma) to keep up with what employers need. The GED Diploma will open the door to IVY Tech or a university.

Beginning August 25, 2008, adults can enroll in GED on TV. They will watch public television from home as they brush up on their skills and earn an Indiana GED High School Diploma. To enroll in the autumn GED on TV semester call toll-free 1.877.433.6688.

The GED Connection multimedia television series is designed for adults who want or need to study from home. The current price of gasoline can keep students from driving to a classroom to study for the GED test. The GED Connection television programs will be broadcast throughout Indiana on PBS stations and many cable stations. The 39 half-hour television programs cover the reading, writing, social studies, science and math that are on the GED test.

Learners who have access to the Internet can get extra practice at www.pbs.org/literacy. If the student is planning to go on to Ivy Tech or a university they will want to earn the highest GED score possible.

A $45 enrollment fee pays for a pretest, three workbooks, the official GED calculator to practice with at home, a post-test, access to the toll-free GED on TV Helpline and a voucher to pay for the student's GED test at any official GED testing site in Indiana. Testing sites may charge up to $60 for the test.

Adults who couldn't complete high school should call toll-free, 1.877.433.6688 to enroll soon so that they will have time to complete the pretest and receive their workbooks before the lessons begin on TV. Prove how smart you really are!

GED on TV is a service of Muncie Community Schools, the Indiana Department of Education and Indiana Public Television stations.

ARCHAEOLOGY MONTH

Hoosier history buffs can learn about archaeological sites and artifacts, make stone tools and talk with archaeologists during Indiana's 13th annual Archaeology Month, starting Sept. 1.

This year's slogan, "Travels in Time," conveys early Hoosier transportation and archaeology related to these types of sites. Sites and features related to canals, roads, railroads and waterways provide fascinating archaeological information about the past.

Gov. Mitch Daniels Jr. issued the official proclamation citing September to recognize the contributions of archaeology to the state and the clues it can offer about Hoosier history. Years of archaeological investigations have helped state residents understand the complexity of the prehistoric and historic people who also called this land home.

"Archaeology tells us not only about the past but sheds light about ourselves today and our future," said Robert E. Carter Jr., DNR director. "Archaeology Month provides a perfect way for Hoosiers to find out how with programs that are not only educational and informative but also fun."

In honor of this celebration, the DNR invites Hoosiers to discover the stories behind the facts of the state's archaeological tale. For instance, the state archaeologist works for the DNR. Also, archaeologists have done investigations in Indiana since the early 1800s, finding and recording more than 56,000 archaeological sites.

Recent changes made by House Enrolled Act 1129 to Indiana Code (IC) 14-21-1 expanded the definition of "artifact" to protect artifacts and features formed before Dec. 31, 1870, rather the old date of Dec. 11, 1816, thus increasing the number and types of archaeological resources protected in the state.

Indiana Archaeology Month features events for all ages. For a schedule and more information, please visit dnr.IN.gov/historic or contact Amy Johnson of the DNR Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology, at ajohnson@dnr.IN.gov or (317) 232-1646.

OSTEOPOROSIS SEMINAR

For more than 44 million Americans over the age of 50, osteoporosis is a major public health threat, according to the National Osteoporosis Foundation. By the year 2010, it is estimated that more than 52 million women and men in this same age category will be affected and, if current trends continue, the figure will climb to more than 61 million by 2020.

Parkview Huntington Hospital recently introduced a new, minimally invasive treatment for compression fractures associated with osteoporosis, called balloon kyphoplasty, and will offer a free educational program on the new treatment at an Osteoporosis Seminar. The seminar is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 16, at Parkview Huntington Hospital in its lower-level classrooms 1-3, beginning at noon. A free boxed lunch and beverage will be provided during the seminar.

The seminar will be presented by Steven G. Wynder, MD, of Orthopaedics Northeast, who has an office at Huntington Health Park in the John B. Kay Medical Office Building.

Traditional treatment for vertebral compression fractures (VCFs) is limited to bed-rest, bracing and management of pain, often with narcotics. Although appropriate in some cases, this type of treatment does not address the deformity that can occur with multiple fractures. A balloon kyphoplasty treatment stabilizes the fracture, reduces back pain and restores height and spinal alignment.

Seating for the seminar is limited and registration for the program is required, with Sept. 11 the deadline for registrations. In the event that registrations exceed the number of seats available, an additional program will be scheduled.

To register, call Rick Beemer, community/media relations specialist, at (260) 355-3311, or at 1-800-533-2252, ext. 3311.

Ask SHIP

Q: I have a Medicare drug plan, but now it won't pay for my prescriptions because I've reached the "donut hole". Is there any help to pay for my prescriptions?

The coverage gap in Medicare

Part D is sometimes referred to as the "donut hole." This gap in coverage leaves many without coverage after they incur $2,510 in total drug coverage. Part D enrollees must then pay 100% of drug costs until they reach catastrophic coverage at $5726.25.

The most you will have to pay out-of-pocket is $4,050. Once you have reached this limit, you will only pay a coinsurance amount of 5% of the drug cost or co-payment ($2.25 generic, $5.60 brand name) for the rest of the calendar year.

Many beneficiaries must find ways to lower their prescription drug costs during the gap. There are several ways to do this.

Compare drug prices at more than one pharmacy. Many pharmacies will meet their competitors' prices.

Consider generics for your prescriptions or consider less expensive brand name drugs. This will lower your overall drug expenses while still counting toward the coverage gap. Talk to your doctor about your options.

Many public and private charitable programs exist to help pay for drug costs. These include the National Patient Advocacy Foundation and the National Organization for Rare Disorders. More information can be found at www.benefitscheckup.org.

If you are an honorably discharged veteran, you could use the VA drug benefit for $8 per month per prescription. Call 1-877-222-8387 to apply. You must see a doctor at a VA medical facility before a prescription will be filled; a prescription from a non-VA doctor will not be accepted.

Many major drug manufacturers offer assistance programs for people enrolled in Medicare Part D during the gap in coverage. You can look to see if there are special programs available for each drug you are taking at www.medicare.gov/pap/.

Some beneficiaries may qualify for what is called Extra Help.

Beneficiaries are eligible for the extra help if they have limited income and resources. There is no gap in coverage if you qualify for Extra Help. The extra help can increase your cost savings by paying for part of the monthly premiums, annual deductibles and prescription co-payments for Part D plans. The extra help could be worth up to $3,600 per year.

You may automatically qualify for Extra Help if you meet any of the following categories.

You have Medicare, full Medicaid coverage and live in a nursing home.

You have Medicare and full Medicaid.

You get help paying your Medicare premiums from the Medicare Savings Program (QMB, SLMB, QI).

You have Medicare and receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) but not Medicaid.

If you do not meet any of these categories, you may still qualify for Extra Help. If your annual income is $15,315 or less ($20,535 if married and living with your spouse), and your resources are $11,710 or less ($23,410 if married and living with your spouse), you may still qualify. You will need to apply. You can do this by calling the Social Security Administration (1-800-772-1213), visit www.ssa.gov, or apply at your local Medicaid office.

SHIP is a free, unbiased counseling program provided by the Indiana State Department of Insurance. For assistance, call your local SHIP site to make an appointment or call the state office at 1-800-452-4800 to obtain a list of local SHIP sites.

LET GO OF THE LABELS AND FLY!

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley
FLYing is all about Finally Loving Yourself. When we can see past our blemishes and love the heart and soul of us, we will be FLYing!

Our whole lives we have been labeled by our family. We grew up hearing that we were lazy and stupid. We were also accused of never being able to finish anything. Now we hear it from ourselves. As a result of hearing these negative words, we have been brainwashed to actually believe them.

Pam and Peggy coined the label SHE Sidetracked Home Executive. It was a cute label; it helped us to identify with each other. I guess some labels have a good purpose. But keep in mind, labels can become crutches too. We use our labels as excuses to whine. Whining is not allowed, not even with the preface that this is not a whine, it is just a fact. To me it is still a whine. I get the same reaction when someone says trust me! My first thought is to watch my back.

Now listen very closely. We are not our diseases! I have said this before and I will continue to hammer this home. We may have problems that have names, but they do not take over our soul. We have to learn to live with them, but we do not become the poster child for it. Having the knowledge can help us adapt our lives to deal with problems, but you can't give in to it by taking it on as part of you.

You are you, when you accept yourselves and love the inside and not look at yourself with disdain then you are beginning to open up your wings to FLY!

This past week a dear friend's feelings were hurt by her mother. I have known those hurt feelings. For years I suffered with an ex-husband that never let a moment go by that he didn't let me know that I was fat! I was a size 10! All he ever saw was fat. Now let me tell you something. It has taken a lot of years to get over his low opinion of my worth. No longer do I see fat or other imperfections in my body. I know that they are not me. Yes I have more Body Clutter to remove. I didn't gain that Body Clutter in a month and I am not going to lose it in a month. I love me and as a result I carry myself with pride. Last night Robert and I talked about labels as we snuggled into bed. Another aspect of this is we are not our jobs either, but that is another essay.

It is all about attitude. When you love yourself, you don't need or want the strokes you get from your family for anything. They may be nice, but your whole being is not based on whether your husband complimented you on your appearance or on the house. This is why I reinforce taking care of yourself and your home for you.

I want for you what I have; Peace. This peace came in baby steps. You can do this. I know the pain that you have suffered from the mouths of people who love you. I have heard those condescending words, but you have such a pretty face. We did a survey of our membership; eighty percent had weight issues. I want you all to quit letting the world shape the way you think about yourself. You may have to turn off the TV to stop the brainwashing. This is why Leanne and I wrote our book, Body Clutter; Love your Body, Love yourself.
