Thought for the Week: Wells County 4-H Fair is this Saturday thru Thursday - Come on out and see us!

COLLAPSE BRINGS IMMEDIATE REACTION

Shortly after the last parade entry passed the former Gene's Market the upper story gave way and collapsed into the street. Festival attendees sitting below, all escaped with no major injuries. Bumps, bruises and scrapes were the extent of the damages to frightened onlookers. There was a report that someone had a deep gash on their arm, but that has been verified as being false information.

Firemen, town employees, local volunteers, Town officials and others diligently worked through the night to finish taking that building and the one next to it, the former Racketty Packetty, down. Saturday morning dawned with a new landscape and a lot of tired workers.

A video of the destruction went viral on Facebook, and area TV stations. Reported was that Warren Indiana even made National news later that evening. Luckily we didn't have any fatalities to report.

A statement from Town Hall reads as follows:

"Warren Town Officials wish to take this opportunity to express appreciation for the response to what could have been a real tragedy during the Salamonie Summer Festival. We are thankful that injuries were at a minimum. To those emergency personnel including Indiana State Police, area Police Units, Paramedic Units, EMA, Fire Departments, DCD and other units from Huntington and from surrounding counties and communities, your immediate assistance to local departments was paramount in managing, assessing, and taking action. To local volunteers who provided assistance, to food vendors who provided water and food, to local businesses who also provided food, again, in speaking with local personnel, your support was so appreciated by those on the ground. To the Mayor of Huntington for his response and support during the evening and into the next day, we so appreciate your being available. To the volunteers who stepped forward from the crowd to use their technical experience in handling such situations and who stayed on scene for many hours, we cannot say enough. We know in talking

FORD IS PIONEER

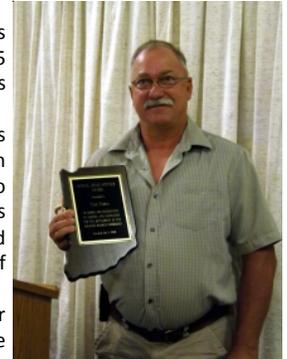

At the Annual Samuel Jones Pioneer Award Breakfast on July 5 Tim Ford was honored as this year's recipient.

The Breakfast event was organized in 1989 by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce to honor a Warren resident who has served with dedication and commitment to the betterment of the Warren Community.

This year's Samuel Jones Pioneer award winner has served the community in many ways. As an enthusiastic and energetic individual, also a caring and humble person, he has shared his ideas, skills and talents as well as much time and work to help others, not forcing his way but just quietly contributing to the cause. These areas include the Light House Youth Council, Warren Area Jaycees, Salamonie Active Men, Sportsman's Club, Salamonie Summer Festival, Warren Volunteer Fire Department and Knight Bergman Center.

Tim Ford was born on October 4, 1954. He graduated in May 1973 from Huntington North High School. He started volunteering for the Light House Youth Council around this time. This is where he met his wife of some 40 years and they married in October of that year. They have three children (Neil Ford, Chrissie Linker and Angel Barr), five grandchildren (with another on the way), Marcus, James, Aubria, Kedrick and Kendra.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Also honored at the SJP Breakfast were the owners and employees of Citizens Telephone Corporation for their dedication to the Town of Warren. Pictured above are (l-r) Phyllis Potter, Kory Pfister, Lee Holloway, George Kreigbaum, Andy Michaud, Joanie Paxson, Gary Yount, Kraig Salomon, Cammy Ackley, Tim Ford and Neil Laymon.

"Today, for the fifth year, we continue our custom of presenting the Community Service Award to a group or organization that deserves recognition for service to the Warren community. This year's winner is a group of people who give of themselves in many varied ways to make Warren a better place to live. We are proud to present this year's award to the Citizens Telephone Corporation and their employees.

The work put forth by these people covers many facets of life in and around Warren. An example is the Knight Bergman Center where they provide Internet service for the Food Pantry, contribute to

KUDOS, KICKS & KARATS

DEAR EDITOR:

I don't think that I have ever written a Letter to the Editor to a newspaper although there have been many, many times that I thought it was a necessary thing to do. However, with the unexpected and unprecedented events of this past weekend behind us, I must say that the Warren Weekly, with its on-line Facebook reporting, provided the most accurate and timely coverage of the roof and façade collapse of any local or area news media outlets. Even though I was present for many of the activities of the Festival weekend and witnessed some of the events firsthand, the photos and accompanying comments on Facebook by the Warren Weekly gave those of us not living in the immediate Warren area, very complete and up-to-date information of what was happening with the Warren building landmarks and structures.

Thank you Nicki for a job well done!

Joe Wiley

COMMITTEE THANKS

Words can not express how myself and other members of the SSF committee feel about the outstanding response from so many departments on Friday with the building collapse soon after the festival parade. We as members of the community want to say a BIG thank you to each and everyone of the departments and off duty people. It was all handled with skills and knowledge by all involved. Thank you again and God Bless each and everyone of you. We are so thankful with only a few minor injuries. Thanks with helping our festival be a success.

Signed Salamonie Summer Festival.

THE UPTOWN GARDENER

by Ruth Herring

Our festivities are over for another year. I want to thank all who were a part of the organizing this years home town gathering. And most importantly for those who seen danger coming and got them safely from harms way.

With all the rain we have had my flower beds are looking great and my 6 foot row of green bean are really producing. I am sure a few bags of them in the freezer will taste mighty good this winter. As for the tomato plant that is another story, it is a disgrace to my ego. Hopefully if the weather stays warm and frost free I might have one or two before Christmas. I keep thinking I should take it out and put it out of its misery and bury it but so far I just want the challenge of it survival. On the brighter note I have certainly been enjoying what few flowers I have planted , they are out doing themselves. My Mom's flower garden was one single row of zinnias planted along the edge of the garden and was usually a row about 50 feet long and how pretty it was when in bloom. She would send me out to gather a bouquet to take to a neighbor or someone in town who might need cheering up. Many times I would trod off to town with a bouquet wrapped in wet newspapers and then placed in a bread with local emergency people, your advice and your technical assistance was invaluable in the situation. While we know there are probably other groups or people whom we may have failed to mention, we apologize. Lastly, but certainly not least, to the Warren Volunteer Fire Department, Warren Police Department, and Town Employees, your professionalism and hard work during this time was phenomenal. Even though we as citizens and officials of the Town and citizens of the local area sometime take your work for granted, we rely on all of you. Whether a volunteer or an employee, each of you accepted your responsibilities and your role and many have continued to do so for the three days since. This community and local areas fortunate to have your services." Warren Town Officials

FORM 11'S SENT

The Huntington County Assessor's Office sent out Form 11's on Monday, July 1, 2013. The Form 11, notice of assessment of land and structures, is the taxpayer's formal notice of their assessment for 2013 pay 2014. The assessments for 2013 pay 2014 have increased for one of the following reasons:

1. Ag Land Base Rate. The base rate for 2012 was $1630/acre and increased to $1760 for 2013.
2. New Construction or completion since March 2, 2013.

3. Annual Adjustment (Trending).

4. New Cost Tables

We encourage all taxpayers to inquire about their assessments at this time regardless of receipt of a Form 11. You may access the current property record cards at gis.huntington.in.us. Please feel free to contact the County Assessor's Office Monday thru Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for any questions or concerns. The deadline to protest the 2013 pay 2014 is August 16, 2013. Protesting may be done by a Form 130 or a written letter indicating the taxpayer's name, address, parcel, contact phone number, and reasons for protesting. The Form 130 is available online at <http://www.in.gov/dlgr/8516.htm> or in the Assessor's Office. We appreciate the taxpayers' interest and involvement in the assessment of their property.

ADD SUPPORT

Women and students diagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) or Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), now have a new resource available for help - Your ADD Answers.

The coach and owner of your ADD Answers, DeShawn VanDeWater-Wert, came up with the business idea after being diagnosed with adult onset ADD in 2008. "Suddenly my high anxiety, my inability to focus on daily tasks and feelings of being overwhelmed made perfect sense," said VanDeWater-Wert.

VanDeWater-Wert said those diagnosed with ADD likely struggle with their daily obligations; completing tasks, remembering details, becoming easily distracted and unable to focus. "Most of those diagnosed with ADD already have the tools they need to better manage and cope with their disability," VanDeWater-Wert said. "They just need to start identifying them."

A longtime educator, VanDeWater-Wert began researching the disorder and developed tools to help her better manage her own life. "I developed a process called the ADD Action Plan that helps those diagnosed with ADD build a custom plan around their unique processing strengths."

VanDeWater-Wert is becoming a certified ADD coach and offers private coaching, as well as local support groups for women and students facing the challenges of ADD. Those interested in more information, and to access her free ADD Action Plan process, sign up for a monthly newsletter, or who have questions should visit <http://www.yourADDanswers.com>, or contact her directly at info@youraddanswers.com.

ELASTIC IS NOT OUR FRIEND

by The FlyLady, Marla Cilley Clutter has a way of slipping into our world without us even noticing. It piles up on our hotspots, in our dresser drawers and on our backsides. Yes you know that very personal clutter that we collect because we over indulge. All clutter is a result of over indulging; too many clothes, too many shoes, too much stuff! What do we do with our clutter? We try to disguise it; by putting it in pretty little boxes, baskets and plastic tubs. Just because we have contained it does not make it any less clutter. In fact if you need to find something those clutter containers throw up all over your home. In our haste to camouflage our clutter we don't get rid of it we just cover it up.

We do this with our bodies too! Think of it this way! Let's say our favorite jeans get a little too tight! Instead of eliminating those sodas and sweet treats for a week; we reach for our fat clothes. You know the ones that are hiding in your drawer for those bloated "that time of the month" days. The ones with drawstrings and elastic; has wearing these clothes become part of your daily routine.

Elastic is not our friend! It doesn't bring our Body Clutter to our attention! That little uncomfortable feeling in our jeans should be just the call to

MORE FORD

Tim's volunteering has never stopped. Since the Light House, he has been part of the Warren Area Jaycees, and one of the founding members of the Salamonie Active Men's club. He has been a member of the Sportsman's Club for many years. You can also find Tim volunteering every year during the Salamonie Summer Festival. One of the biggest acts of kindness is with the Warren Volunteer Fire Department, which he has been a member of for 28 1/2 years. Just this act alone accounts for hundreds of hours of his time each year. One of his most recent acts of kindness includes the ball diamond at the Knight Bergman Center, below the hill. He played a huge role in getting supplies, donations and muscle power together to get the job done at no cost to anyone. Tim is now, and always has been, there for those that are in need. This community is truly blessed to have someone like him.

MORE COMMUNITY SERVICE

The annual pantry food drive at Christmas by offering subscribers $1.00 from their bill in exchange for a food donation. They have helped with gym repairs and refurbishing, as well as other projects throughout the building. Beyond the Knight Bergman Center, they have frequently provided temporary phone or internet hookups for special events. They provide a helping hand with equipment they own when a community need arises.

The Pulse Opera House has enjoyed the generosity of Citizens Telephone from the early days of restoration. They have provided picnic tables, moved the Community Garden trailer and installed a sign for public information.

Channel 8 on the Cable keeps the community informed about events for Churches, Schools and Community organizations.

When a weather event or other disaster occurs, these people are often among the first to arrive and work on the clean-up and repairs.

I'm sure that each of you could contribute another story about the things Citizens and their people have done for Warren.

We are fortunate to have Citizens Telephone in our community for many reasons and Neil Laymon now represents another generation of a family dedicated to Warren. Their commitment to our community and the pride that they show for this great little town through their service sets them apart and speaks highly of their character. To put it in simple terms, what great people!"

Congratulations to all current and former members of the Citizens Telephone team!

wrapper. It was a mile to town but I always made it before they wilted. If I timed it right I could ride home with my dad after he had gotten off work or sometimes I could spend the afternoon with my best friend which was a treat.

As this summer progresses soon the fresh peaches will be arriving (that is the only thing will miss because of moving). We had a great peach tree in the back yard and we all enjoyed it.

I found a different recipe for a peach cake dessert that might be nice for the summer gatherings. The recipe calls for store bought canned peaches but fresh ones would be twice as nice.

Take one large can of drained peaches or about a pound of fresh peeled mash, or finely dice them add 2 cups flour, 1 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoon soda sift the dry ingredients together and add to peaches mixing well pour into a sprayed 9x13 pan bake at 350 for about 35 minutes.

For topping take 3/4 can of evaporated milk, 3/4 cup sugar 1 stick butter bring to boil and lower heat and continue till it is thickened. Add 1 cup nuts and 1 cup coconut.

You might take the easy way and just serve without icing adding ice cream.

Have a great summer.

action we need to take the baby steps to declutter. I am not talking about crash dieting either. Those don't work any better than crisis cleaning. Oh yeah they will help you lose the weight to get into that wedding dress or bathing suit but after you accomplish your unrealistic goal; the weight will come back and more too boot! We don't need any more weight in our boots.

Here is what we can do to address our Body Clutter.

1. Don't wear clothes with elastic or drawstrings.
2. Weigh every day! This tells you how your body reacted to what you did yesterday!
3. Never crash diet!
4. Eat 3 meals a day and 3 snacks. Eat something good for you every two hours.
5. Babystep your way out of drinking sugar or diet sodas. Replace with water.
6. Do 15 minutes of loving movement each day!
7. Drink 8 glasses of water. This is so simple and it is the best beauty treatment you can do!
8. GET RID OF YOUR FAT CLOTHES!

Body Clutter is not just the cellulite on our thighs, it is the negative thinking we have between our ears. When we look at our relationship with food, we will begin to eat and move to bless our bodies. We have been indulging our little princess for a long time! You would not allow your children to eat like you do or be sedentary! It is time to go out and play!

For more help getting rid of your clutter and CHAOS, check out her website and join her free mentoring group at www.FlyLady.net or read her book, Sink Reflections published by Random House. Help me build a Habitat Home this year.

WILD ANIMALS: IF YOU CARE, LEAVE IT THERE

People who encounter young wildlife such as a fawn or rabbit should leave the animal alone and avoid attempting to "rescue" it, according to the DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife.

April to July is the peak season for people to see baby animals in Indiana.

Often animals leave their young during the day to look for food or to deter predators. People often mistake the animal as abandoned when, in fact, it is being properly cared for by its mother.

Even if you think the animal is injured, you still should leave it be. It's best to let nature take its course. If you feel compelled to intervene, you should call a licensed wildlife rehabilitator. It's illegal to keep a wild animal without the proper permits and training. Most people are not trained in animal nutrition, nor do most people know how to raise a wild animal without it developing a dependence on humans.

A list of licensed wildlife rehabilitators and their phone numbers is at dnr.IN.gov/fishwild/5492.htm.

White-tailed deer have babies through mid-June. If you find a fawn, give the animal distance and do not disturb it. The mother will not return if you are present, which may delay nursing for a hungry fawn.

Remember, if you care, leave it there. In almost all cases that is the best thing for the animal. Wild animals are not pets. These animals may carry diseases and are not suited for captivity.
