CYNTHIA IS PIONEER

Once again, this year's Samuel Jones Pioneer Award winner represents what makes this community strong - a reverence for the past with a keen appreciation of today and the future. Although the 2006 Award winner is not a native to Warren by birth, she certainly grew up with definite connection to the Town though she did not become a permanent resident until 1972. Shortly after that move, the Warren Area Community would begin to feel the impact of Cynthia Smyth-Wartzok.

The daughter of Bob and Nancy Smyth and the granddaughter of Elijah and Ruth Gebhart, Cynthia was born in Cincinnati but graduated from Warsaw High School, later graduating from IUPUI-Fort Wayne with a Degree in Theatre and then from IU Bloomington with a Masters in Theatre.

Cynthia's theater history in Warren started with the ever famous Stage I which featured plays written locally and performed along the Salamonie River as part of the Salamonie Summer Festival. Then came Stage II, melodramas by the Salamonie Summer Players which Cynthia directed. And then, there were the Tri Kappa Pink Slipper shows which Cynthia organized and directed. To this day, the Pink Slipper, in effect a local talent show which resulted in packed houses, is remembered as a part of the early Festivals. However, for Cynthia, those activities were just a prelim for what was to come.

Cynthia's Master's Thesis was based on the history of the Pulse Opera from 1884 through the 1920's and starts with the phrase, "Before there was electricity, running water, or even sidewalks in Warren, Indiana, there was Theatre". Part of the study of the Pulse would also include a study of the history of the Town. During that time a feature of the Warren Tribune were articles of "Historic Warren" which sometimes carried Cynthia's byline. But, it wouldn't be long until Cynthia would be making her own mark on Warren and Pulse Opera History.

In 1986, Cynthia, with the aid of her parents, founded the Warren Theatre Guild and began a restoration project of the original playhouse which would involve community volunteers and hours of work. Now, after 65 plus productions and with restoration efforts continuing, the Pulse Opera House, with direction from Cynthia, has garnered state wide attention by twice representing the Indiana Community Theatre League at the International Theatre Festival in Germany. As a sign of Cynthia's dedication and as a confirmation of her talent, she also serves on several area and state Theatre and Arts

ACTION NEEDED

A few days ago, our Knight Bergman Center was broken into and vandalized. There was major spray paint damage to the walls inside and outside the building. It is unfortunate that we have people in our society who hold no regard for public property.

Within the confines of the building, our community is honored by having two fine museums, the Salamonie Valley Museum and the U.S.S. Salamonie Museum. We are most fortunate that there was no damage to those priceless collections. The next time, we might not be so lucky. The survivors of the U.S.S. Salamonie have entrusted their memorabilia including the recent acquisition of the Ship's Bell to the Warren Community. This museum honoring the service of those who fought for our country in World War II and Korea on the U.S.S. Salamonie also serves as an unofficial "home" once a year for those surviving veterans.

Our community has an obligation to protect those collections by installing a security system that will help prevent theft, fire and vandalism. We simply cannot wait for a tragedy to occur. The many artifacts cannot be replaced once they are damaged.

It's easy to talk about solutions and say that someone needs to take care of the problem, but our concern is so great that we have decided to take immediate action.

Please donate $500, $100, $50 or whatever you can. Make checks payable to KBC Security Fund and mail to P.O. Box 306, Warren, IN 46792. Contributions may be dropped off at either museum or at the Warren Town Clerk's Office. Your donations are tax deductible. We appreciate your joining us in support of this very worthwhile project.

WILD OATS

Feel like sowing your "Wild Oats?" The Pulse Opera House has the show for you! "Wild Oats" by James McLure is a rip-roarin' foot-stompin' old fashioned melodrama. There are bad guys to "boo," love stories to "ahhh" and saloon girls to "who-wee!" "Wild Oats" has a little something for everyone.

The story is based on an 18th-century restoration comedy. Set in the Old West, the plot has mistaken identities, long-lost sons returning, an evil landlord foreclosing and plot twists galore. According to Drama-Logue - "You won't find more fun this side of Disneyland."

The cast includes volunteers from Huntington, Allen, Grant and Wells Counties. Players are Zack Allen, Janna Brothers,

THE UPTOWN GARDNER

The uptown garden has been producing well, even though it is a small garden it has provided us well thru the summer and winter. The lettuce is about done and may plant more for the fall. Kohlrabi is doing well and was a good seller at the market this past week. Bob Smyth asked me how to spell the name for the sign at the market and my reply was just make it look good which he did. I found some tiny acorn squash setting on. I froze the first of the green beans and the cabbage is looking great even though the pecan tree fell on it and the pickles. Maybe it was a wakeup call for it to start growing. Soon I will dig the first of the potatoes, they will sure taste good.
 Many have ask me where the garden is. I started out behind the garage a very small area and now extended it to side of the property where we tore out an old building. Soon found out it will be to

Since 1987 the Pulse Opera House has produced melodramas, comedies, and musicals in a restored 19th century opera house. ### NATIONAL HONOR ROLL

Five students from the Warren Weekly area qualified for induction into the 2005/2006 National Honor Roll.

Southern Wells students Stephanie Elwood of Liberty Center and Jarred Sisler of Montpelier, Eastbrook student Erik Fox of Van Buren, and Huntington North students, Lena Miller and Trisha Smith, both of Huntington.

The National Honor Roll recognizes high-achieving high school and middle school students. "Young people like our inductees, who work hard to attain academic success, deserve to be congratulated," says Lynn Romeo, Publisher of the National Honor Roll. "Honoring their achievements provides motivation and encourages them to continue striving. We're proud to include them in the National Honor Roll."

The National Honor Roll offers several benefits which can contribute to the success of its student members. For students in the 2005/2006 school year, National Honor Roll set aside $25,000 to be shared among 25 of its qualifying inductees. All members were entitled to compete for one of these National Honor Roll Awards for Academic Achievement, which will be awarded in December. National Honor Roll's College Admissions Notification Service notifies the admissions offices of as many schools as the inductees designate that they have been accepted into the National Honor Roll and that they are interested in obtaining information about those colleges. (A copy of the student's biography is sent to the colleges along with the notification.) Each United States Senator and state governor receives a complimentary copy of the National Honor Roll Commemorative Edition, along with a list of the students from their state who have been inducted into the National Honor Roll. Additional complimentary copies of the book are sent to selected school libraries across the country.

The National Honor Roll contacts potentially qualifying students after reviewing information about their academic performance. Each student is asked to submit information about his/her GPA, interests, activities, and future goals. Only students with a B or better average are eligible to be listed in National Honor Roll. 67% of the inductees in the 2005/2006 National Honor Roll averaged an A- or better; 33% averaged B through B+. 31% were Seniors (Class of 2006); 29% Juniors (Class of 2007);

21% Sophomores (Class of 2008); 15% Freshmen (Class of 2009); and 4% were from the Class of 2010.

This list includes students selected for membership in National Honor Roll's Fine Arts and Humanities, a unit of National Honor Roll which recognizes students with an interest in fine arts and humanities.

CONTROLLED AND SPECIAL HUNTS

Beginning today, Hoosiers who want to participate in deer reductions and special hunts at state properties this fall will have a one-stop online method for applying.

The change centralizes the application process for such programs. Previously, each category of state property required a separate application. The online service also provides the user with automatic notification of errors. The site on which the applications are posted is www.indianaoutdoor.IN.gov.

This year's hunt application deadlines, with the first date listed the mail-in date and the second listed the online date, are: DNR property dove hunts (July 28; Aug. 4); military/refuge deer hunt (Aug. 18; Aug. 25), state park deer reduction hunt (Aug. 18; Aug. 25), Goose Pond Upland game hunt (Sept. 15; Sept. 30), pheasant hunt (Sept. 22; Oct. 6).

The application process for the wild turkey hunt starts Jan. 1, 2007. The mail-in deadline is March 2, 2007. The online deadline is March 16, 2007.

"The advantage of the online system is that it will tell you when you've made a mistake," said Kyle Hupfer, DNR director. "In the past, a great many applications were disqualified, either because of errors or because the typist couldn't read the applicant's writing."

Other options are available for those who cannot use the online method. Individuals with access to the DNR Web site on a computer can print an application to complete by hand, then mail it. Preprinted paper applications are available at state parks, reservoirs, and fish and wildlife areas for applicants to complete and mail in; however, the properties will not enter applicants' information online for them.

With the online process in place, the application cards have been eliminated from the hunting guide.

If none of these options is convenient, individuals can call a toll-free number (877) 463-6367 to request that a form be mailed to them.

PRESENT 'MUSIC MAN'

Huntington University's Summer Theatre Youth Camp participants will present a junior version of "The Music Man" at 2 and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 22, in Zurcher Auditorium in the Merrillat Centre for the Arts.

General admission is $5 at the door. There is no reserved seating.

"Meredith Willson's 'The Music Man' is an American musical classic, following fast-talking traveling salesman Harold Hill and his visit to River City, Iowa, where he convinces the town to adopt his revolutionary music program, 'The Think System,' or face the moral decline of the youngsters of River City," according to the Broadway Junior Web site.

This production is the capstone of Huntington University's first Summer Theatre Youth Camp. Through the four-week camp, children ages 6 to 15 learn basic theatrical training from theatre professionals and perform a fully produced musical theatre production. For youth ages 16-18, an apprentice program is offered at the same time. Apprentices are students with theatre interests that assist with facilitating the camp. They work more closely with the camp directors and serve as assistant directors, assistant choreographers, stage managers and assistant designers.

For more information about "The Music Man" or the Summer Theatre Youth Camp, call the Huntington University Department of Theatre Arts at (260) 359-4279.

MY TOWN AND YOURS

by Denny Stroud

They called her "the lady puller". No, this is not about a lady tractor puller. This is about a teacher who changed her profession to become what she had dreamed of doing. Her name was Lucinia B. McCollum and she was determined to become a dentist. Lucinia was a school teacher in the southwest part of Minnesota where she read a newspaper about a woman dentist in Philadelphia in 1885. She decided at once she would make dentistry her life.

All her friends told her that it would be impossible for a woman to become a successful dentist. She was determined, however, and resigning as a teacher she took a position in the office of a dentist in Red Wing, Minn., desiring to have some practical experience before going to college. After spending a year in the dental office she sought admission to a dental school in Chicago only to be turned away. No woman had ever become a student at this school and they did not want to start. Not giving up, she applied for admission to the Indiana Dental College at Indianapolis, and was accepted as the school's first woman student. Two other women, however, soon enrolled at the school.

Having only a small amount of money, it was necessary for her to use strict economy. At the end of her first term Miss McCollum found that her means were almost exhausted. She came to Warren to spend summer vacation with an aunt. In Warren she found a dentist anxious to dispose of his office for a small sum.

TRACTOR SHOW A SUCCESS

The Warren Area Antique Tractor show was a great show again this year. Thanks to everyone who helped put this show together. A special thanks to Daugherty's and their crew for helping to make it this way.

This year's show featured IH tractors. We had 91 IH and 170 total tractors plus several pieces of antique farm equipment. We had demonstrations on wheat threshing, corn shelling and baling. There was music available on Saturday plus the Indiana State IH Chapter # 7 had their quarterly meeting there.

Thanks to the Warren Police Department for help with the tractor drive on Monday.

Boards and, along with husband Ron, continues her work of casting, directing, lighting, costume design and anything else that comes along as well as taking time to develop new programs for writers and children to name a few. Most of these accomplishments garner media attention which results in recognition of the Pulse Opera House as well as the Warren area community. Another accomplishment to be noted is that the Pulse is celebrating its twentieth anniversary.

Starting with the Pulse's first production on July 4th 1987, Cynthia has seen her hard work come to fruition. From that first show, at which it was necessary to use a live "trained pig" and a horse which were easily led up the stairs but then refused, after performing, to go down the same stairs, to the presentation of a classic such as "Dames at Sea" to a visit by then Senator Dan Quayle to a visit by the "Keystone Kops" to the production of "Wild Oats" which begins the weekend of July 14th as part of the Twentieth Anniversary celebration, Cynthia has dedicated her life to fulfill her vision of restoring part of history while improving the quality of life in Warren. Just walk down Wayne Street during Christmas season and hear the Christmas Carols being piped throughout the Town, or pass by during the weekend of a production and see lights blinking on the marquee along with theatrical music playing, or see costumed cast members on the sidewalk meeting and greeting the audience after a production, or visit the newly restored lobby to visit and have a cookie at intermission - well, the list could go on and on. But through it all, most likely behind the scenes, Cynthia is there. She had a dream, she is fulfilling that dream, and the Warren area is all the better for it.

Cynthia was honored at the 18th annual Samuel Jones Pioneer Award breakfast held on Friday, June 30th and opened the Festival festivities with "Let the Games Begin."

She saw an opportunity to earn some money and bought his office. She had no difficulty taking care of patients who came in and made enough money to go back to school. She graduated in February, 1891 and returned to Warren and continued to practice dentistry until she sold her office in 1904. Miss Lucinia McCollum, elected in 1894, was the first woman to serve as Indiana Dental Association President.

I would like to thank Dr. Jim Mott for supplying the research for this article. Don't forget the Museum is open every Sunday 1:00-4:00. We hope to have the museum air conditioned soon.

expensive to use fill dirt so we started using free wood chips. Thru the years it has decayed and turned to rich black soil. Sorry for the front part does not look so good but hope to landscape it soon as it quits settling.

This time of summer the zucchini is a very plentiful crop in many gardens I usually do not plant it as someone is giving it away. This year thanks to Treva. It can be fixed many ways, I even like it raw. One of the ways to put it away for later is in the breads. Here is my favorite. It freezes well.

Zucchini Bread

3 eggs, 1 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup oil, 2 cups peeled and grated zucchini, 3 cups flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp salt, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp cinnamon, 1 cup well drained pineapple, 1 cup nuts.

Beat eggs till fluffy add sugar, oil, vanilla then zucchini. Mix well add dry ingredients then pineapple and nuts. Bake in 2 greased loaf pans 325 for 1 hour.

Yes Wayne I have tried this recipe, (He thinks I don't let him sample the recipes I put in.)

Have a great summer and see you at the market.
